PRESIDENT MAY URGE SALES TAX BUT NOT BEER

Senate Opens Fight for Economy.

9 Billion Tax Bill

Figures issued yesterday by a congressional committee show that in 1931 the burden of direct taxation on U. S. citizens was nine and a half billion dollars. This came out of a national income of 60 billion 500 million dollars. In addition to the direct taxes there were customs duties and other indirect assessments.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—With President Hoover promising a net reduction of 550 millions of dollars in the 1934 fiscal year appropriations compared with those for the present fiscal year, the senate economy committee will begin deliberations tomorrow on the feasibility of an even greater cut in the cost of the federal government.

To what extent the President will redeem his election campaign promises of far reaching economy will be disclosed by the 1934 budget he will submit to congress next week.

"If we are supported by the American people and if the Democratic house will cooperate," said Mr. Hoover at Detroit, "I will make for the next fiscal year a reduction from the totals of 1932 not of a billion dollars, but of $1,500,000,000."

The budget message of the President is awaited with great interest. It would occasion no surprise were Mr. Hoover to recommend a sales tax as a means of producing the additional revenue required to balance the budget.

It is certain that Mr. Hoover will not recommend legalization of beer as a source of new revenue.

1932 Total 5½ Billions.

The expenditures for the fiscal year 1932 totaled $5,618,700,409, including $592,500,000 of postal service expenditures reimbursed from postal revenues. Mr. Hoover's promise, therefore, meant a reduction of the 1934 budget to about $4,100,000,000 inclusive of reimbursable postal expenditures which are expected to be less than 600 millions.

The President recently threw further light on his budget plans when he said the 1934 budget would be a net 550 millions under the appropriations for the 1933 fiscal year, which aggregate 4 billions 800 millions. That would indicate that he had failed to get the total below 4 billions 250 millions, which would be 150 millions wide of the mark he promised at Detroit.

It was learned today that the budget Mr. Hoover has sent to the printer for presentation to congress next week totals about 3 billions 700 millions, exclusive of reimbursable postal expenditures which are estimated at less than 600 millions. It, therefore, looks as if the budget, including the reimbursable postal expenditures, will touch 4 billions 300 millions and will fail by 200 millions to effect the economies the President promised. Instead of saving 550 millions over 1933, he is saving 350 millions.

No Great Operating Economies.

For the most part the showing of economy made by the President is the result of the nonrecurrence in the 1934 budget of extraordinary items of expenditure in 1932 and 1933 to carry out various depression relief measures.

Under the law the President will be required to propose measures for balancing the budget which the 1932 revenue measure has failed to balance. There already is a deficit exceeding 700 millions which may be not far from 2 billions by the end of this fiscal year unless steps are taken to increase the government income and decrease expenditures much more radically than so far proposed.

Much interest will attach to the recommendations the President will make in his message to congress of radical economies that can be accomplished only by legislation reorganizing the executive branch of the government and curtailing federal activities.

Plans Public Hearings.

Senator Hiram Bingham, chairman of the economy subcommittee of the senate appropriations committee, said he will endeavor to have the hearings beginning tomorrow thrown open to the public. The first witness to be heard will be J. Clawson Roop, director of the budget, who will be asked to suggest economies and will be questioned regarding the reorganization of bureaus which congress directed the President to initiate, but

The Chicago Cubs last night obtained Babe Herman, slugging outfielder, from the Cincinnati Reds in a trade which sent Bob Smith, pitcher; Rollie Hemsley, catcher, and Lance Richbourg and Johnny Moore, outfielders, to Cincinnati. In addition the Cubs paid the Reds an unannounced amount of cash.

PRODUCERS AND DEALERS AGREE ON PRICE SLASH

Effective this morning, Chicago's retail milk price is 9 cents a quart. This is a cut of 2 cents from the price previously prevailing. Other comparative reductions are also effective, making a total saving to city consumers of slightly more than $31,000 a day.

The decrease applies likewise to the suburbs and to points as far distant as Waukegan on the north, Aurora on the west, Joliet on the southwest, and Gary and Hammond on the south.

The general reduction was agreed upon shortly before 1 o'clock this morning at a meeting in the Hotel La Salle of spokesmen for the Milk Council, Inc., which represents the larger dairies, the Chicago Milk Dealers' association, which represents the smaller concerns, and the Pure Milk association, which represents 19,000 farmers.

Here Are New Prices.

The new retail prices as announced follow:

Quarts of milk, 9 cents instead of 11, a return to the 1917 level; pints of milk, 6 cents instead of 7; half pints of cream, 15 cents instead of 16, the first drop, incidentally, in this commodity in ten years; quarts of cultured buttermilk, 9 cents instead of 10, and quarts of churned buttermilk, 10 cents instead of 11.

These reductions are shared three ways, by the farmers, the wagon drivers, and the dairies. The drivers last week accepted a $5 wage cut to $40 a week, and the farmers this morning agreed to a 40 cent per hundred pounds reduction. Thus, it is figured, the farmers will assume a reduction of about 1 cent per quart, the drivers about five-eighths of 1 cent, and the dealers the balance.

Farmers Hold It Temporary.

The farmers made it plain that the 9 cent price must be temporary, claiming that many of them now face bankruptcy by the low prices. At the same time it was announced that Dr. Clyde L. King of Philadelphia, noted milk arbitrator, would be summoned to Chicago by the farm group to study anew the situation.

"Members of the Pure Milk association have accepted a cut in their milk price which, in our opinion, is all out of proportion to our direct responsibility to the consumers of milk in Chicago," declared W. C. McQueen, president, and Don N. Geyer, manager, of the association, at the conclusion of the parley. "This reduction of 40 cents per hundredweight, added to the reductions already accepted by the association, equals 50 per cent of the 1929 price as against 20 per cent reduction for labor and a total reduction of approximately 35 per cent in the price charged the consumer.

Accept Cut Under Protest.

"Dairy farmers are accepting this reduction only under extreme protest and because of unusual competitive conditions. At the new price farmers will receive about 3 cents per quart of the 9 cents paid by the consumer. They have a right to expect a more equitable distribution."

Speaking for the large dairies, F. H. Kullman, vice president of the Bowman Dairy company, and F. A. Webb, vice president of the Borden Farm Products company, in a statement said:

"These prices can be made only by the wonderful cooperation of both labor and the Pure Milk association. All three sides have been faced with taking a voluntary reduction in their earnings to preserve the milk industry, but all of them have done so. We hope the reduced price will prove beneficial to not only the public but to the industry as a whole in the increased consumption of milk."

Hope for Larger Consumption.

Several factors influenced the price slash. One was the hope of increased consumption of milk because of lower prices. Another, and probably the major one, was the keen competition offered by independent dairies which have been selling 9 cent milk in Chicago for months. To the drivers and to the farmers it was pointed out that the organized industry could not survive unless it could meet this independent competition, and to that end reductions along the line were necessary.

Thus far virtually all groups in the industry have accepted a decrease. The inside workers, whose basic scale of pay is $30 a week, have not yet reached accord. A meeting held yesterday ended inconclusively.

YEN DROPS; JAPAN ACTS TO CONTROL EXCHANGE RATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 1 [Thursday.]—The drop of the yen below 20 cents today forced the government to decide to buy up all foreign currency loans held within the country. They total one billion yen, mostly in American financed bonds of Japanese electric companies.

The finance ministry after a conference declared the step necessary for the control of price movements of exchange. The finance ministry also decided to center all exchange transactions at the Bank of Japan and to fix an official exchange rate.

Officials declare the yen's fall below 20 cents is not warranted by the actual financial status of the country. The government's action is regarded as a preliminary step to foreign trade control and as likely to affect American and other foreign imports.

FARMERS MAUL TOWN'S CHIEF TO BALK TAX SALES

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Municipal offices in the town of Arborg, Man., were stormed, clothes torn from the reeve (the town council's presiding officer), who was later forced to resign, and files of records, including assessment sheets, were scattered to the winds today by 500 farmers protesting against sale of farms for taxes.

Clothes were stripped from the reeve's back and his face was slapped. Irate demonstrators jumped on his toes. Then he was forced to sign a letter of resignation and call off a tax sale.

Arborg is a settlement about 60 miles north of Winnipeg, with the majority of the farmers of Ukrainian and Polish nationality. Many of them participated in the recent "hunger march" to Winnipeg.

BOY'S QUICK WIT SAVES HIM FROM AMMONIA FUMES

Maurice Herzberger's presence of mind saved his life last night. Maurice is 15 years old and lives at 1737 East 67th street. Alone at home while his mother, Mrs. Birdie Herzberger, was out visiting the boy went to the pantry for a snack before retiring. He accidentally dropped a jar on the coil of an electric refrigerator. Ammonia fumes immediately leaking, choking Maurice.

Gasping for breath, the boy telephoned the fire department and then ran toward a door. His call brought Lieut. Michael Prendergast and rescue squad 5 to his home. They found Maurice unconscious on the floor. By fast work, with the aid of rescue squad 1 under Lieut. James Fleming, they finally revived him.

Garner Again Plans Repeal Vote Monday

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Following yesterday's sudden relapse upon the part of Democratic leaders, the chance of a vote on a repeal resolution in the house of representatives next Monday again took a sudden upswing today.

Speaker John N. Garner, the Vice President elect, performed another somersault on the question of bringing about a repeal vote on the opening day of the congressional session.

Last Friday afternoon Mr. Garner said he was not interested in repeal at this session. That same evening he changed his mind and said he was. Yesterday he weakened and said he would not push the Monday vote if members objected.

Monday Vote On Again.

Today the speaker again announced firmly that the Monday vote was on; Democratic aids predicted with a show of confidence that they could line up 151 favorable votes on their side of the aisle; Republican wet leaders, headed by Representative Fred A. Britten of Illinois, were hopeful that 125 members of their party would be ready to vote "Aye."

"I don't see any reason why we should not bring the repeal resolution up Monday," was Mr. Garner's statement for today. "I am pretty certain we will.

"Members of congress have got to make up their minds whether they will carry out the pledge contained in the party platform, the promises of the candidates, and what seems to be the overwhelming desire of the American people, or whether they will represent what they believe to be the sentiment in their districts."

Congressmen "Milling Around."

The speaker described various members as talking with one another and trying to make up their minds how to vote. He said they were "milling around" and the phrase was accepted as descriptive of the state of the house at this writing.

Republican drys, with Bertrand H. Snell of New York, a very worried Republican leader, in the van, attempted to sell to Mr. Garner and to the Republican wets the idea that the resolution, now drafted to call for outright repeal, might be brought into the house under a special rule permitting one amendment to it to be offered.

That amendment would embody the features of the Republican repeal plank—federal protection for dry states and outlawry of the saloon. The drys feel that if given a chance to cast a vote for such an amendment they could, in case of its defeat, go on and vote for outright repeal and still have the excuse to relate back home that they had done their best.

Garner Opposes Plan.

Mr. Garner, however, refused to be allured by such a proposal. He pointed out that to adopt such an amendment would require only a majority vote. Instead of two-thirds. And, knowing quite well that some of his own Democratic drys from the south would prefer the Republican plan of repeal to their own party version, he feared that the amendment would be adopted and the resolution be made to express Republican instead of Democratic sentiment.

On the part of the wet Republicans Representative Britten was equally unimpressed with the idea. The wet Republicans would rather stand on the Democratic outright repeal plank than on their own."

Among the southern Democrats who today announced willingness to support a repeal vote was Senator E. D. Smith of South Carolina, long known as an advocate of prohibition. He also is for the modification of the Volstead act.

[illegible] HUGE FLYING BOATS; SHIPS TO CARRY FIFTY PASSENGERS

New York, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Contracts for the engineering work on two huge flying boats, designed for trans-Atlantic transport service, have been let by the Pan-American Airways system, which already operates 25,000 miles of international air routes in Central and South America and in Alaska.

This was announced today at a conference at which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, head of the line's technical committee, and J. T. Trippe, president of the system, were present.

Many of the technical details of the flying boats were withheld.

The new ships will be monoplanes and the largest aircraft in commercial use in the world. One will be a Sikorsky and the other a Markin. They will each be powered by four American engines of a new type and will be of metal construction throughout.

Officials of the line said they would be considered 50 passenger ships on existing routes.

The ships will have a cruising range of 2,500 miles and will be capable of a speed of 150 miles an hour.

Decision Near in Kuhn Suit; Girl Testifies

Miss Marion Wright, 20 year old society girl, took the stand yesterday in the court of Judge Peter H. Schwaba as the last defense witness in the $100,000 damage suit brought by William Kuhn Jr. Kuhn is demanding damages from the father of the girl, William Van Doren Wright, steel company official, and several others, alleging that he was falsely arrested after Miss Wright received several extortion notes two years ago.

The charges against Kuhn were nolprossed when further investigation failed to connect him with the blackmail letters.

Final arguments in the litigation will be heard today, unless Judge Schwaba accedes to the request of the defense attorneys for a directed verdict of not guilty. A motion to that effect was made in the afternoon and taken under advisement by the judge.

Miss Wright Tells Story.

Miss Wright, clad in black, in a soft voice told the jury that she had not instigated the arrest of Kuhn and was unaware of the contents of the complaint against him, which she signed and on which he was arraigned as an extortioner in the Felony court.

She added that she was an unsophisticated debutante when she knew Kuhn and had never been in a speakeasy until he took her to one on the north side.

In general, her testimony followed closely that of her father, with whom she returned from Paris to fight the suit. It has been consistently maintained by the Wrights and their counsel that there was no malice in the arrest of Kuhn and that they simply followed the advice of constituted authority in having his arrest brought about.

Besides the father and daughter the other defendants are Alexander Jamie, chief investigator of the Secret Six; Edgar Dudley, formerly one of Jamie's investigators, and Dr. Ferdinand Watzek, described as a crime detection expert, now a resident of Vienna.

Girl Given a Bodyguard.

The extortion notes were received just before Miss Wright's formal debut. Alarmed by their tenor, Mr. Wright furnished the girl with a bodyguard and called on the Secret Six for aid. Young Kuhn was taken into custody as a result of deductions by Dudley. The latter admitted in his testimony at the present trial that he considered it suspicious that Kuhn was regarded as eccentric by speakeasy proprietors.

Other circumstances which inclined him to a belief in Kuhn's guilt, he testified, were: Kuhn, a broker's clerk, worked late in his office at about the time the letters were written and, when questioned, mentioned the Wicker Park postoffice, where all the blackmail letters were mailed.

Asks a Directed Verdict.

In arguing for a directed verdict of acquittal, Attorney Edward Everett asserted that the Wrights had nothing to do with the arrest, which was made by Lieut. Leo Carr of the detective bureau on his own volition. He added that the complaints were signed on the advice of the state's attorney.

"If this case goes to the jury," the attorney said, "there will be a feeling that every man arrested has a right to damages and people will be afraid to sign complaints."

Kuhn's counsel declared that "reasonable diligence" in obtaining the real facts had not been exercised by the

FRANCE BALKS AT DEBT; INSISTS ON A NEW DEAL

Says U.S. Must Agree to Pass Payment.

The Debt Situation

PARIS.—French cabinet drafts note insisting that the United States must postpone Dec. 15 war debt installment. Premier Herriot wins delay in chamber of deputies debate on issue.

LONDON.—New British plea for extension of moratorium is dispatched to Washington. Note says payment on Dec. 15 would prove disastrous to world.

ATHENS.—Greek government demands United States class 1929 refugee loan of $12,000,000 as "war debt" and include it in any moratorium or scaling down of war obligations.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—France will insist in a new war debt memorandum to the United States that the $19,261,432 payment due Dec. 15 must be postponed. This was learned today on high authority.

The note, which will present France's reasons for this contention, was definitely outlined today at a meeting of the cabinet presided over by Premier Herriot. The text still must be approved by the cabinet council, with President Albert Lebrun in the chair, which probably will be called into session tomorrow. The note is expected to be sent to Washington, D. C., before the end of the week.

One of the points in the memorandum, an authoritative source asserted, is that France has served as the monetary and financial supporter of many European countries and that in consequence payment of the December installment would provoke general difficulties.

The government also will outline to Washington the French conception of the consequences of the Hoover moratorium on the payment of reparations by Germany, and will describe the state of the French budget and treasury. Members of the chamber of deputies opposed to making the December payment have taken the position that France should remit to the United States no more than she receives from Germany.

FRENCH DELAY FIGHT

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 30.—Premier Herriot today won a second victory against the diehards in the chamber of deputies who oppose making any further payment on the American war debt. The premier persuaded both the foreign affairs and finance committees to report against a public debate until Dec. 9 on the question of meeting the $19,261,432 installment due on Dec. 15.

Louis Marin, the Nationalist leader, whose resolution calling for immediate debate was thus pigeonholed by the committees, can still, under French parliamentary procedure, force a discussion of his motion tomorrow if he gains the support of fifty adherents.

Fifty signatures for Marin are a foregone conclusion, but when Herriot makes postponement of debate a question of confidence, which he has sworn to do, a majority of the chamber will either have to support him or else disavow its own finance and foreign affairs committees.

May Be Upset Today.

Barring an upset in the chamber tomorrow on the question of excessive commissions paid banks for the recent loan conversion, which admittedly is a dangerous debate for the government, Herriot will have a week's breathing spell in which to attend the Geneva disarmament conversations and to prepare his ultimate policy on the debt problem.

Much hinges on the talk scheduled for tonight between Herriot and Lord Tyrrell, British ambassador, who returned from London today. A cabinet meeting was held today to wind up the drafting of the French note to Washington.

This, however, is believed to be of secondary interest, as it is intended mainly as propaganda to gain sympathy for France and to serve as justification for any representation in France's behalf that the Hoover administration may make to congress. Tomorrow a full dress council of ministers will be held at the Elysee palace to put official approval on the note.

Considerable significance is attached to the arrival here tomorrow of Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, and Prime Minister MacDonald, on their way to Geneva, especially since Norman H. Davis, American disarmament delegate, stayed over in Paris to see them. It is possible that these three may take the same train to Geneva, where an attempt will be made to get Germany back in the disaramament conference.

While all this is strictly disarmament business, it is hard to imagine MacDonald, Davis, and Herriot getting together without some debts being talked.

Socialists Make Threat.

Herriot keeps talking about being in "negotiations" with Washington, but he is maintaining great secrecy about how these negotiations can get around the American congress.

A final parliamentary word was spoken by the Socialist leader, Leon Blum, at the committee meeting this afternoon. Blum said he would give Herriot a week to work up some compromise and then, if he didn't have one, the Socialists would vote to a man against paying the United States.

This takes all the guesswork out of the prognostications, for a Socialist veto means the overthrow of the government. Blum's remarks evidently leave the door open to almost any course except paying the full debt on the scheduled date and without strings.

BRITISH NOTE ON WAY

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Great Britain's note replying to President Hoover's request for more concrete reasons why the moratorium on war debts should be extended was completed by the cabinet today and tonight was on its way to Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador at Washington.

Sir Ronald will present the document to the President tomorrow or Friday. The terms of the note will be kept secret until it has been read by the President. It will then be published simultaneously in London and Washington.

Says Payment Would Hurt World.

Despite the secrecy, THE TRIBUNE is able to say that it is a long document and sets forth in great detail why, in Britain's opinion, it would hurt Britain and the rest of the world, including the United States, if the $95,550,000 installment due on Dec. 15 is paid.

Nothing is said in the note about Britain's intention to pay if the United States refuses to extend the moratorium, but it is now definite that the faction which is in favor of paying has triumphed in the cabinet.

The argument of the treasury that the transfer of so much money would hurt the whole world, and particularly Britain's credit, was overcome by the contention that British credit would be hurt far more in the long run by defaulting the war debt payment, which would be the equivalent of international bankruptcy.

Expect Payment in Gold.

Discussions are still proceeding about the method of payment, but it now seems most likely that the transfer will be made in gold from the stocks of the Bank of England.

The reason for the long delay in the final framing of the note was the extraordinary difficulty in deciding what to put in it and what to leave out, and also the international European implications. One party wished to set forth frankly all of Britain's difficulties, while others held that to do so would play into the hands of international speculators now engaged in bear operations against the pound. The result was a compromise, in which some of the difficulties are told, but not all.

On the political side, the cabinet had to consider whether, if British payments continued, she would be compelled to exact payment from her own continental creditors. Should she decide to exact payment, then France undoubtely would refuse to ratify the Lausanne reparations agreement and demand that Germany resume payments.

That no further move is expected for some days is indicated by the fact that Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council and lord privy seal, left London this morning for Glasgow, where he mad a speech tonight. Prime Minister MacDonald is planning to accompany Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon to Paris en route to Geneva tomorrow.

The British press is now completely reconciled to paying and several leading papers, such as the Times and Manchester Guardian, today urged their readers to try to understand the American point of view and pay the debt without grumbling at the creditor, who came to their aid in a time of stress and danger.

The pound sterling made a sharp advance today after setting an all-time low mark of $3.14½ yesterday. It rose 6½ points to $3.21 at the close.

BALDWIN ASKS BRITAIN TO CURB ITS CRITICISM OF THE UNITED STATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GLASGOW, Scotland, Nov. 30.—Stressing the difficulties of the American government in connection with the war debt discussions, Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council and lord privy seal, in a speech here tonight, appealed for a sympathetic and patient British attitude.

"America is in a difficult position as far as her action is concerned," he said. "I have every reason to believe that the American attitude is one of the most friendly nature toward ourselves, but it is difficult at the moment, politically and constitutionally, for her to act."

Then he expressed the hope that British criticism of the United States be restrained, pointing out that any unwise word might do a great deal of harm to the relations between both countries.

"Whatever was accomplished at Lausanne must bear great weight at the world economic conference and at whatever discussions might take place next year regarding European debts to America," Baldwin said, adding that the whole of Europe felt it could enter those discussions with the full sympathy of America."

ITALIAN FASCISTI EXPEL FORMER PARTY LEADER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 30.—A virtual expulsion from the Fascist party was imposed today on the organization's former secretary, Augusto Turati, by Achille Starace, his successor.

The text of the decision affecting the man who for five years was one of the supreme regulators of the Fascisti in Italy states that Turati is suspended for an indefinite period because "in some private letters, which became publicly known, he used inadmissable expressions which were especially deplorable coming from a person vested with authority in the régime."

At the time of Turati's resignation from the secretaryship of the Fascist party two years ago it was rumored he had fallen into disgrace in the eyes of Premier Mussolini, but the rumor was discounted when shortly after his resignation he became editor of the Turin Fascist newspaper, La Stampa.

The rumors were renewed when he suddenly resigned his direction of the Turin paper, but an official statement assigned the cause to a nervous derangement which obliged Turati to undergo treatment in a special clinic.

GREECE DEMANDS U. S. SCALE DOWN REFUGEE LOAN

Classes 12 Million Debt as "War Obligation."

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 30.—Washington's prospects of collecting on the $12,000,000 refugee loan extended to Greece in 1929, on which $446,000 interest was due Nov. 10, were blown skyward today.

The Greek government instructed its minister at Washington, Charalambos Simopoulos, to insist to the state department that this loan, which the United States regards as purely commercial and which was granted 11 years after the war, must be regarded as a war loan and come under any further moratorium or scaling down of war debts. The Greeks advance the wily contention that the loan helped to heal the scars of the war in financing homeless refugees, even if it was contracted 11 years after the war.

A Good European Example.

The history of the loan affords an interesting chapter in what might be called euphemistically from this side the skillful negotiations now progressing in Europe to avoid paying debts.

The history begins with the American subscription in 1918 of a 40 million dollar credit, as a part of the interallied credit, to Greece for the purpose of prosecuting the war. Fifteen million dollars of this credit was taken up in 1919, a year after the war.

In 1924 London bankers floated a $30,000,000 loan to help Greece take care of Asia Minor refugees from the Turkish war. Part of this loan was absorbed by New York bankers. Four years later Greece wanted $15,000,000 more.

Market conditions were not such that a loan could be floated in the same way as the previous one the British bankers floated; that is, commercially and through bankers, so the United States government agreed to advance Greece as a refugee loan the difference between the British $30,000,000 refugee loan and the $15,000,000 war credit of 1919 which Greece had taken up. Greece wanted to get from the United States the entire balance of $25,000,000 which she had not taken up, but was refused.

Grant Compromise Loan.

In 1929 a compromise loan of $12,000,000 was granted at 4 per cent for 20 years, the understanding being that the United States could, if it saw fit, ask Greece at any time to issue bonds in this amount to be floated. Americans regarded the loan as purely commercial and being equivalent to the previous $30,000,000 refugee loan floated in London.

But since the Hoover moratorium divergencies arose over the loan, the Greeks contending that it should be included among intergovernmental war debts and subject, therefore, to delay or scaling down, and the interest was defaulted on Nov. 10.

At the same time Greece agreed to pay 30 per cent of the coupons due in London on the $30,000,000 refugee loan, which Americans regard as being of similar nature. An international finance commission of British, French, and Italians, set up to govern the $30,000,000 loan, is now negotiating this partial payment of coupons on the British loan. But Greece is balking at the American payments. The upshot is that private bondholders will get a partial payment, but the American government will get nothing.

DEFAULTS WAR DEBT.

On Nov. 10 Greece defaulted a $444,920 interest payment on its funded debt to the United States. This debt, the $15,000,000 credit granted in 1919, was fixed by a Greco-American funding commission in 1927 at $19,659,836, consisting of principal and interest. The debt was funded for 62 years at 3 per cent, beginning Jan. 1, 1928. This, with the $12,000,000 refugee loan of 1929, makes the total Greek debt to the United States government about $32,000,000. This is exclusive of private loans, many of which are in default. On July 1 of this year Greece took advantage of the two and one-half year postponement option on the principal of the funded debt.

Over 39 Million Votes in Presidential Election

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Nearly complete returns from the Nov. 8 elections show the American electorate toppled three records in casting a total vote of at least 39,000,000 and giving Gov. Roosevelt 22,814,058 and President Hoover 15,575,474.

This huge total, with more than 30 states complete to date, is an increase of more than 2,000,000 over the previous high of 36,783,669 polled in the 1928 Hoover-Smith election; Roosevelt's vote is the most ever given a winning candidate, and Hoover's is a new top figure for a losing nominee.

Seven minor party candidates received 1,008,164 on the basis of returns from all but about one-twelfth of the nation's 119,643 voting precincts or districts—tripling the minor party balloting of four years ago.

Thomas Gets Over 800,000.

Norman Thomas, the Socialist presidential candidate, kept pace with the total gain, his 805,813 being more than thrice the 267,835 he got in 1928.

William Z. Foster, communist candidate, received 69,104 votes, compared with his 48,228 four years ago when he ran as the Workers' Party candidate, while William D. Upshaw, Prohibition party nominee, polled 59,656 on the basis of 104,000 precincts to nearly double that party's vote of four years ago. His total is the largest given the Prohibition ticket since the first election after constitutional prohibition was adopted in 1920.

Other minor party candidates received the following:

William H. [Coin] Harvey, Liberty....15,045
Verne L. Reynolds, Socialist-Labor....31,858
Jacob S. Coxey, Farmer-Labor..... 6,465
James R. Cox, Jobless-Liberal..... 219

The "Populist" ticket polled 4 votes in South Carolina to bring the total minor party vote to 1,008,164.

Roosevelt's plurality of 6,738,584 over Hoover compares with a plurality of 6,423,612 given Hoover over Smith in 1928 and the 7,338,513 Coolidge plurality over Davis in 1924 when a third party ticket was in the field.

Six states gave Roosevelt more than a million votes: California, 1,378,433; Illinois, 1,882,304; Missouri, 1,006,613; New York, 2,524,616; Ohio, 1,301,695; Pennsylvania, 1,278,425.

Hoover polled more than a million in four states: Illinois, 1,432,756; New York, 1,930,678; Ohio, 1,227,679; Pennsylvania, 1,442,393.

The figures to date indicate there will be no change in the electoral vote in the final returns from the totals recently compiled, which showed Hoover won only six states—Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, New Hampshire, Pensylvania, and Vermont—with a total electorate vote of 59 as against the other 48 states for Roosevelt with an electoral vote of 472.

UNION FUNERAL DRIVERS BARRED BY EMPLOYERS

Hearse and funeral car chauffeurs of the Livery Car Chauffeurs' union will not be employed by the Funeral Services Associated of the Chicago Metropolitan Area in the immediate future. That is the reply the organization of livery owners gave yesterday to a walkout order of the union on two liveries in an attempt to maintain the present wage scale.

Thomas Crane, president of the association, declared funerals will proceed today as scheduled, as the organization has sufficient equipment to conduct all funerals. Undertaker members may drive their hearses despite the order of their association, because they may do so if a general strike were called, he said. Mourners may attend services in private cars.

Hope was expressed that an agreement between the union and the association might be reached before long. Edward Reilly, president of the union, stated that any union driver might go to work as long as he received payment under the present scale. As far as the union is concerned, he said, there is no strike except on two liveries.

KEY TO PUZZLES OF U. S. HUNTED BY DEMOCRATS

Party Chiefs Visit Roosevelt Cottage.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—This quiet haven was alive today with United States senators and congressmen coming and going, and with the future destinies of the nation being wrought in a cozy cottage on a mountain top where sat the President elect, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The vital business of relieving the farmer; a reported agreement on the Roosevelt secretariat in the White House; discussions on whether the short session of congress can or will pass a beer bill, and the possibility of getting a repealer of the eighteenth amendment through at the same time —all these problems came to the fore today in the "little White House" on Pine mountain.

At luncheon time the dining room of the Meriweather inn, which customarily finds only the patients and their relatives in attendance, with a quiet peace over it all, was fairly thronged with important folk and their voices—especially that of Senator Huey P. (Call Me Kingfish) Long of Louisiana—carried in a steady hum over the large room.

Steagall Tells of Interview.

Representative H. B. Steagall of Alabama, chairman of the powerful banking committee of the house, announced the results of his interview with President-Elect Roosevelt as follows:

"I discussed at some length with Mr. Roosevelt the problem of refinancing farm mortgage. This, as you know, is one of the matters of deepest interest to him and it is one to which he is giving a great deal of time.

"It came up because it is a matter to be handled by my committee. I cannot say we reached any concrete conclusion beyond agreeing that something needs to be done to relieve those people now burdened by farm mortgages, many of them by excess rates of interest.

"Gov. Roosevelt asked me to meet with him in New York a little later and we will go over the ground again."

900 Million in Mortgages.

The President elect in his campaign speeches stressed the importance of federal relief in the farm mortgage situation. There are an estimated 900 million dollars in farm mortgages outstanding, and many farmers have lost their lands and homes or are delinquent with interest total skyrocketing.

It was reported that Mr. Roosevelt told Representative Steagall that he would favor the submission of a bill in the short session of congress making federal funds available for the refinancing of farm loans at a low rate of interest. The refinancing would not be done directly with the local banks holding farm paper, but through a federal agency, probably the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Thinks Repeal May Pass.

Senator Tom Connelly of Texas, dry colleague of the ultra dry Senator Morris S. Shepherd, was another visitor at the "little White House." He was asked his views on whether a beer bill might pass the congress at the short session.

"I think a resolution for repeal of the 18th amendment, putting it up to the states, might be adopted," he replied, "but I doubt that a beer resolution can be passed. The people who want intoxicating liquor will be dissatisfied with anything else. To give it to them while the 18th amendment is on the books would be nullification of the constitution."

The secretariat which Mr. Roosevelt will have serving him in the White House, it was learned today, will include his closest friend and adviser, Louis McHenry Howe, and two others, Marvin Hubert McIntyre and Stephen T. Early.

All three are former newspaper men. Mr. Howe has been associated with Mr. Roosevelt in a most intimate fashion for twenty years, and is regarded as his "no" man. He is expected to live in the White House and dwell in a more or less undercover or mysterious atmosphere, as he has done in his handling of the Roosevelt political campaigns.

Kingfish Talks a Bit.

Senator Long, the Kingfish, was spotted walking along the road from the governor's cottage with James A. Farley, national Democratic chairman. He repeated his doctrine of "soaking the rich," and said he would press his bills seeking heavier taxes on all incomes above $1,000,000 a year and all inheritances above $5,000,000 in the short session of congress, and, failing to have them passed then, in later sessions under the Roosevelt régime.

He spent considerable time in conference with Gov. Roosevelt, part of it in badinage, and afterward, in an interview, the Kingfish said:

"Revenue for the government and for farm relief can only come from decentralization of wealth, for which both Roosevelt and Hoover came out toward the end of the campaign. Some legislation may be necessary to give people more money to spend. It could be done by bimetallism inflation of the currency, or even by passage of the soldiers' bonus.

"This country cannot exist as it is going now with two-thirds of the wealth in a few hands."

REPORT ROOSEVELT MAY OFFER CABINET PLACE TO JOHNSON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Talk was current today that President Elect Roosevelt might offer a cabinet post to Senator Hiram Johnson in recognition of the support the California Republican gave him in the campaign. The report was discussed among Democratic senators after some of their colleagues had returned from conferring with Gov. Roosevelt at Warm Springs. The office of attorney general would be the one offered, it was said.

In asking Senator Johnson to accept a place in the cabinet Mr. Roosevelt would be following a precedent established by Grover Cleveland, who, in his second term, appointed Walter Q. Gresham of Illinois, a former Republican, as secretary of state. Mr. Gresham had deserted his party to support Cleveland.

Senator Johnson declined to comment on the rumor, but some of his associates say that he would decline the honor if offered.

100,000 PERILED AS MONTREAL GAS MAINS BLOW UP

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 30.—(AP)—About twenty persons were injured, including ten who were trapped in ruins of a three story building, which collapsed tonight, when a series of explosions in sewer and gas mains plunged a northern area of Montreal in darkness. Scores of homes were menaced by fire. The three story building burst into flames when it collapsed.

More than 100,000 persons huddled terror-stricken in their homes for three hours as the explosions roared out one after another. Heat in the district was terrific as flames shot twenty to thirty feet high from manholes. Nearly all window panes were broken in twelve city blocks. A two story filling station was shattered by an explosion and the lone attendant was injured.

Many families rushed from their homes with belongings under their arms as fire raged along the center of the streets. A 10 year old girl, Eugenie Laroix, was reported tossed high in the air and caught by three brothers of the Christian school who carried her unhurt to safety. The district affected is bounded by Defleurimont street, St. Lawrence boulevard, Jean Talon street and St. Hubert street.

BANDITS, FURIOUS AT DEFEAT, PERIL FOUR WITH SHOTS

Shoot Up Office; Devices Prevent Holdup.

Three gunmen, enraged when protective devices defeated their attempt at robbery yesterday, emptied their revolvers at windows, lights and furniture in the Beverly Currency exchange, 1717 West 95th street, endangering the lives of two employes and two women customers who huddled in a corner panic stricken.

The attempted robbery was the second visit of robbers to the exchange. Four bandits took $800 in a robbery there last August. After that the manager, Dewitt Lane, installed an electric lock on the front door, to be controlled from the teller's cage, and placed two automatic gas guns on the top of the cage.

Women Prevent Return Fire.

Lane, Joseph Ment, a guard; Mrs. Clara Bender, 9107 South Damen avenue, and Mrs. Harold Venable, 9701 South Seeley avenue, were in the exchange yesterday when the first of the bandits appeared. The man was wearing overalls and an engineer's cap. When Lane pushed the button to unlock the door the robber produced a revolver and held the door open for two companions.

Lane shouted to Ment to lie on the floor and locked the door of the teller's cage so that the bandits could not reach the money box. Ment could not fire at the bandits for fear of hitting the women customers. The gas guns were useless for the same reason.

Break Through Locked Door.

After a futile attempt to open the cage door the bandits emptied their revolvers at the windows, lights, and office furniture.

Starting to leave, the bandits found the front door locked and one of them smashed the glass with the butt of his revolver. In the street the gunmen halted long enough to fire five more shots through the exchange window and then drove east in 95th street in an automobile driven by a fourth companion.

Sheldon Gordan, 5913 Maryland avenue, who was passing in his automobile, gave chase. The bandits broke the back window of their car and fired at Gordan until their car outdistanced his automobile at 95d street and Loomis boulevard.

RUSSIANS MAY LEAVE COUNTRY NOW—IF THEY HAVE ENOUGH MONEY

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Russian citizens who heretofore have found it almost impossible to obtain permission to leave the country are now to be allowed this privilege if they can pay the stiff price in foreign currency.

The government tourist agency announced today that it will accept orders for exit visas from individuals who desire to leave Russia for permanent residence abroad. The cost, to be paid in foreign currency, is 500 rubles for workers and 1,000 rubles for those of all other classes. The ruble is nominally worth 50 cents.

The foreigner will get his outgoing visa for the same charge assessed by his country against a soviet passport, amounting in the case of Americans to 22 rubles. Since a comparatively small part of the population has gold resources or friends abroad to send them foreign currency, it is not expected that there will be any rush to place orders in the new service.

He also estimated that the city's debt service would be $428,000 less expensive than during the current year.

Dying "Yet" to Attend Reunion

THEATER CHAIN ORDERS CLOSING OF STATE-LAKE

The State-Lake theater, 190 North State street, will be closed after Dec. 9, the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation announced yesterday. Some of the corporation's theaters in other cities also are to be closed, it was said.

Officials said efforts would be made to keep open the Palace theater, 159 West Randolph street, the other Chicago house of the corporation. These officials indicated that the decision to close the State-Lake theater resulted partly from the refusal of the unions to follow the lead of other employés who had accepted reductions in pay.

Reports that the Publix Theaters corporation will close two of its theaters were denied yesterday at its offices.

STABBED TO DEATH AT DANCE.

Harrisburg, Ill., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—William Childs of near Harco died here today of knife wounds received last Wednesday at a dance at Galatia. Floyd Weatherly has been held in the Saline county jail since the scrape.

His Last Romp

Goldberg, an Irish terrier which fought through the war with Battery B of the 122d field artillery, will attend the reunion of veterans of the 33d division which opens Saturday at Joliet. It probably will be Goldberg's last romp with comrades of war days, because he is dying of old age.

Goldberg was adopted by the battery in 1917 when he was two weeks old.

Goldberg broke British regulations by being hidden in the overcoat sleeve of Bugler Maggs, thus getting into England on his way to war. He went A. W. O. L. during the fighting in the Argonne and was reclaimed from the crew of an ammunition truck. He was sound in bark and limb until he fell into an open hatchway on the trip home. He then injured a leg.

After the war he was taken by William McKieghan of 1615 Walnut street, Wilmette. At the reunion Goldberg will wear his uniform blanket with its wound stripe.

PROPOSE LIMIT FOR BUDGET OF EACH TAXING UNIT

Citizens' Group Would Cut City to 50 Million.

The limits which the citizens' committee on public expenditures believes that the individual taxing bodies of Cook county should place on their 1933 levies in order to keep the total levy in the county below 200 million dollars became known yesterday.

The levies allocated to the large taxing bodies in the citizens' committee's program, exclusive of their requirements for bonds and interest, follow:

City	$ 50,000,000
Schools	48,000,000
County	12,000,000
Parks	6,000,000
Sanitary district	4,000,000
Total	$120,000,000

The proposed city levy is to include taxes for the support of the public library, tuberculosis sanitarium and city pension funds.

Estimate Indicates Sharp Paring.

City Controller Szymczak's tentative corporate budget, which is to be submitted to the council today, indicates that the city's expenditures will have to be pared sharply to come anywhere near meeting the revenue alotted by the Sargent committee.

The Szymczak figure for corporate expenditures is $52,519,863. It does not include an estimate of the expenditures of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, the public library and the police, firemen's and municipal employes' pension funds. In 1932 the appropriations for these were $10,000,000. Some reduction was made in this last amount during the year, but even at the present rate of expenditure, when the expenses for these purposes are added to those covered by the controller's tentative budget, it appears that the council will have to slash from eight to ten millions somewhere to meet the Sargent allotment of revenue.

$6,000,000 for All Parks.

The county levy proposed by the citizens' committee also includes operation of the forest preserve district. The $6,000,000 allocated to parks is for the Lincoln, west and south park boards. No separation of this item has been made as yet for the individual requirements of these three taxing agencies.

The committee had previously allocated 60 millions in its proposed 200 million dollar levy for the bond and interest requirements of all taxing bodies. The remaining 20 millions, plus whatever salvage is made from the bond and interest levies because of the issue of refunding bonds, is expected to cover the tax requirements of the state and more than 400 small taxing bodies.

The citizens' committee's proposal was criticized yesterday from two different sources and for exactly opposite reasons. Public officials complained that the proposed levy doesn't give them enough to spend. On behalf of taxpayers it was contended that in spite of the economies envisioned by the proposal the 200 million dollar levy is still too great a burden to be met in these times.

Fear Loss of Essential Services.

Members of the council finance committee, informed that their share of the levy is expected to be 50 million dollars, complained that to meet that requirement they will have to curtail such essential services as fire and police protection, health inspection, street lighting, and waste disposal.

From the taxpayers' viewpoint it was pointed out that expected tax collections under the levy will be only $4,000,000 below the average collected on the last five levies placed in collection in Cook county. Those levies, for the years 1926 to 1930 inclusive, were made during the "whoopee era" of public expenditure in the county, and the average collected has been to date only $184,000,000 per levy. Making current accepted allowance of 10 per cent for loss and cost of collection, the collections under the proposed 1933 levy would be $180,000,000.

The most that the county treasurer has ever been able to collect upon any one year's tax levy was on the 1927 levy. Collections for that year have totaled to date about $199,180,000. The 1927 levy itself was not the highest in the history of the county. For three more years the tax spending bodies continued to pile up higher tax levies. But as the levies grew higher reaching a peak of $290,000,000 for 1930, the actual collections dropped lower.

Figures on Last Five Levies.

The tax collections on the last five levies placed in collection, with the percentage of the total levy which it has been possible to collect, follow:

	Collections.	Percent collected.
1926	$187,780,000*	91.6
1927	199,130,000*	88.7
1928	185,272,402	86.09
1929	166,979,585	79.75
1930	162,278,883	83.74

*1926 and 1927 collections are estimated; the exact total is not available on the county treasurer's books.

The 1929 and 1930 collections reflect the effect of both the depression and the tax strike upon tax payments.

The average collected on those five levies, two placed in collection at the peak of prosperity, one in what may now be regarded as normal times and two during the depression, has been to date a little more than $184,000,000 per levy.

Finance Committee Starts Work.

The discussion of the city's 1933 budget making was opened in the finance committee when Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman, informed the committee that to keep within the Sargent committee proposal the city must keep its 1933 levies for corporate, public library, tuberculosis, sanitarium, and pension funds—all city levies except those for bonds and interest—within $50,000,000. The 1932 levies for those purposes totaled about $58,800,000.

Ald. Clark added that the representatives of the city who conferred with the citizens committee on Monday had pledged their coöperation to Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the committee, contingent upon the purchase by Chicago and New York banks of tax warrants sufficient to meet the city and school board bond and interest maturities at the first of the year, about $24,000,000.

"If every department in the city hall were eliminated except the police, fire, and health departments and other absolutely essential expenditures," asserted Ald. Clark, "the saving wouldn't exceed $4,500,000. Every one knows the pension funds, sanitarium and library can't be cut, which means that the saving must all come out of the corporate and working cash funds, and I am unalterably opposed to the elimination of the latter."

HALT MARINE CORPS ENLISTMENTS; ORDER STIRS HEADQUARTERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The fighting marines were fighting made today, but said little about it.

News that the enlisted personnel of the marine corps was due to be reduced 1,700 in the interest of economy created a stir throughout marine headquarters as orders went out canceling any further enlistment at the various camps.

Parris Island, S. C., will be hardest hit by the cut. Many officers thought the bureau's recommendations to congress, designed to save the government about $1,500,000 so far as the marines were concerned, would mean the finish of the island station, which heretofore has been used chiefly as a recruiting depot and training post. The island's complement is 962.

The marine forces both at Quantico, Va., the Atlantic base, and at San Diego, Cal., the west coast base, will of necessity be reduced to meet the new requirements.

In view of the previous reductions and the present status of the marine corps of 15,293 enlisted men, the cut was considered in marine circles as rather drastic.

For the present at least reenlistments will be continued, but at headquarters it was said indications were that it would be a long time before the marines would be out again advertising and hustling for rookies.

$3 worth of protection for $1 when Pepsodent Antiseptic fights colds

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence it goes 3 times as far. And whether you buy the 25c, 50c, or $1 size, you still get 3 times as much for your money.

FEWER colds this year—quicker relief from those you catch—and money saved besides. That's the promise Pepsodent Antiseptic makes you. Millions by experience can tell you it's true. Pepsodent Antiseptic is different from other leading mouth antiseptics.

$1 does the work of $3

Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs—it goes 3 times as far—gives you 3 times as much for your money and gives you extra protection against sore throat colds. In fighting stubborn colds, remember there really are only two leading kinds of mouth antiseptics on the market. In one group is the mouth antiseptic that must be used full strength to be effective. In the other group is Pepsodent Antiseptic, utterly safe when used full strength, yet powerful enough to be diluted with two parts of water and still kill germs in less than 10 seconds!

Don't fool yourself

It is bad enough to pay the extra cost of using antiseptics that must be used full strength . . . it's worse to dilute them and fail to kill the germs . . . so choose the antiseptic that kills the germs even when it is diluted. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—and be safe.

IMPURE BREATH (Halitosis)
The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, even when diluted with water it still kills germs.

PUT SHARP TEETH INTO NEW BILL ON TAX FORFEITURE

Citizens' Committee to Be Sponsor of Measure.

A bill which would put sharp teeth into Illinois revenue laws, and allow the state quickly to take title to property on which taxes are not paid, now is being prepared by the Citizens' Committee on Public Expenditures, it was learned yesterday. The bill is designed to clear up the present situation, in which more than 190 million dollars in taxes from income bearing property are delinquent in Cook county.

Under present laws more than two years must elapse before the state can take charge of tax delinquent property through a regular foreclosure proceeding, or before a valid lien against property can be given to tax buyers. The proposed law, it is understood, will provide that title may be taken by county governments after a tax delinquent property has been offered for sale by the county treasurer and forfeited to the state.

Eases Terms for Tax Buyers.

The measure also will include provisions allowing tax buyers, who almost have been frozen out of business during the last three years, easier terms on which they can obtain legal claims against real estate. This provision is looked upon as a method of getting the money of tax buyers into county treasurer's sales once more. In Illinois tax buyers generally buy liens against property in order to force an advantageous settlement of their claims from the title holders.

A third clause of the proposed law will require that all taxpayers who protest their levies must post the full amount of their bills in escrow with the county treasurer. The measure would allow the treasurer to spread all that portion of the tax except the portion which definitely is protested. Advocates of the measure point out that this procedure is the present law on all cases appealed from the County court to the state Supreme court.

Discussion of the proposed law was begun at the Monday meeting of the Citizens' committee. Attention of the group was directed to the congested call of County Judge Jarecki, where $200,000,000 in taxes for the years 1923, 1929, and 1930 are tied up in objections. Of this total, the committee was told recently by County Attorney Hayden N. Bell, 190 millions is owed by income producing realty.

Objections Tie Up Collections.

The objections and a few Circuit or Superior court injunctions prevent the county treasurer from taking any action to force these taxes into collection. Even when no objection or injunction prevents such action, the necessity of awaiting formal action by the county judge, who issues a blanket order of sale when taxes are unpaid, slows the process.

After such an order is given, the sale is begun by the county clerk and the treasurer. In Cook county, with more than 500 volumes of country and city town real estate, the sale itself extends over more than six months.

If the real estate is forfeited it becomes necessary for the county to file a suit in debt against the property in either the Circuit or Superior court to collect any taxes.

One Year for Redemption.

The total indebtedness, including all charges, penalties, interest, against the property, is computed by the courts. Then the property is again put up for sale, usually by a master in chancery. If no buyers appear the county may bid in the property for the tax total. Still the county does not obtain possession of its purchase, possession being held in the courts pending one year, during which the owner may redeem his holdings, and an additional three months, during which any of his creditors may come into court and obtain complete title to the property by paying off the debt in full.

This procedure is paralleled in the provisions allowing an owner to redeem his property in the county clerk's office during any time within two years of its sale by the treasurer. He also can invalidate any lien purchased by a tax buyer by paying off the delinquent taxes during a two year period after its sale.

Girl Bares Romance with Horseman

Story in Court

New York, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—For four hours today Miss Charlotte Ariel Gibson, a Rockland county debutante, sat on the witness stand and told of her romance with Sidney Homewood, riding master. Homewood is on trial, charged with betraying the girl into motherhood through promise of marriage.

She told how Homewood broke his engagement with another girl, persuaded her to go on auto rides with him and made love to her. When she resisted his embraces, she said, he told her she was an "iceberg." She told how she finally yielded. "I was very happy then," she said.

Later, when she told him she expected to become a mother, he became angry and remarked, "Well, I'll have to take the first steamer back to England. I can't afford to get married."

Homewood sat in court and showed no emotion while the girl was revealing her tragedy. The girl will continue her testimony tomorrow.

DENIES FEDERAL WRIT TO FORBID TAX JUDGMENT

Wilkerson Tells Receivers Levies Come First.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday refused to enjoin County Judge Jarecki from entering judgment against the Chicago Beach hotel, which is in federal receivership, for unpaid 1928, 1929 and 1930 tax bills totaling $615,000. He added a general rule that federal receivers and bondholders must arrange to pay back taxes before any plans for reorganization of the properties involved are approved in his court.

The application for injunction was made on behalf of B. F. Lindheimer, Democratic politician and receiver of the hotel, which in addition to its building at 1660 Hyde Park boulevard, owns six adjacent vacant lots. On Tuesday Attorney George Lennon, representing Lindheimer, served upon county treasurer a copy of an order by Judge Wilkerson restraining the treasurer from proceeding upon any order for tax sale which Judge Jarecki might issue.

Routine Order to Guard Property.

Judge Wilkerson pointed out yesterday, in refusing the injunction, that the order was the routine one issued at the beginning of the federal receivership of the hotel. Such an order is issued in every federal receivership case to prevent a multiplicity of legal actions against the property involved, and restrains general creditors from seeking judgments in the state courts.

"I have no intention to prevent the payment of taxes," said Judge Wilkerson.

"I have told bondholders and their counsel to raise funds for the payment of taxes before considering reorganization of the properties. This court has no jurisdiction to interfere with tax collections unless the constitutional rights of the owners are violated.

"The question is whether the federal court will intrude and arrogate to itself such jurisdiction. There is certainly no reason for it merely because the property happens to be in federal custody. I would not allow the receiver to operate the hotel without first paying the taxes. If he cannot pay, he should let the county take over the property."

Lindheimer Charges Confiscation.

Receiver Lindheimer then informed Judge Wilkerson that he believes the taxes against the hotel are confiscatory.

"They are based on theoretic, inflated values that never existed," asserted Lindheimer. "The property is worth now only between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, while the taxes and penalties amount to nearly $900,000."

"As far as I know, Judge Jarecki has been more than fair and patient with taxpayers," replied Judge Wilkerson. "You must take your case before him."

However, in denying the injunction, Judge Wilkerson provided that the receiver may renew his claim that the taxes are confiscatory and unconstitutional at a later time, after he has exhausted his remedies in the state courts.

30 Day Delay Refused.

When Attorney Lennon returned to Judge Jarecki's court in the afternoon, he pleaded for 30 days in which to prepare evidence to sustain his objections to the hotel tax bills. The judge refused to grant such a long extension. The lawyer then stated that the hotel was without funds, that the receiver could not pay the taxes, and asserted that the judge would destroy the property.

"I'm not trying to destroy that property,' said Judge Jarecki. "What I'm actually doing is trying to protect the property of the 55 per cent of taxpayers who already have paid their 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes in full.

"What if we withdrew the police and fire protection from that hotel? You couldn't get insurance and your valuable property would quickly depreciate so much that it would be worthless. That is what would happen if I allowed every protest against these taxes."

Attorney Lennon then stated that his objections involved the shore line of the lake which had been changed by definition in 1928, although the land actually was not filled in until a year later. Attorney Bell said he would need several days to prepare his case and the judge cotinued the hearing of the evidence until Dec. 12.

Acts to Speed Escrow Cases.

Judge Jarecki telephoned to an official of the Thicago Title and Trust company yesterday and ordered that a list of all the cases in his court for which the company was acting as escrow receiver of taxes be placed on his call for immediate hearing. His action came after Mrs. D. L. Kaprall, 4823 North Ridgeway avenue, appeared in court and demanded that her objection to her 1928 taxes be heard.

She explained that she had paid her 1929 and 1930 taxes and had paid $112 on account against her 1928 assessment. The remainder of her 1928 tax bill, amounting to $105, she had placed in trust with the title and trust company more than two years ago. She said that her case had been continued from time to time and the money had not been turned into the county treasurer.

Cites Delay in Brother's Pay.

"Rightfully it belongs to the state," said Mrs. Kaprall. "I have a brother, Benjamin Lowry, in the city license bureau. He has gone unpaid for months. Perhaps if some other funds, held in trust like my own, were paid he would receive his full salary."

After assuring Mrs. Kaprall that he would remit her one-half the accrued penalty against her property the judge telephoned to the trust company.

An attorney for the receiver of the Medinah Athletic club appeared before Judge Jarecki yesterday and asked him to rule on an objection to 1930 taxes so that the tax bill might be paid today. The bill, amounting to more than $100,000, is contested on the ground that the assessor made an error of fact in the measurements of the club building. Assessor J. L. Jacobs was notified of the case and the attorney was sent to his office to obtain a writ of error. This will be presented in court today and the taxes paid immediately afterward.

PROPOSE J. L. KESNER, OWING $600,000 TAXES, LOSE CANOPY PERMIT

Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, was directed yesterday in an order recommended to the city council for passage by the committee on local industies, streets, and alleys to remove a canopy in front of the building at 220 South State street, which is owned by Jacob L. Kesner.

"Kesner is vice president of the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers that has been in the forefront in the fight against the payment of taxes," said Ald. John Toman [23d], chairman. "He owes more than $600,000 in taxes and shouldn't be granted any privileges by the city."

An ordinance authorizing the canopy was vetoed recently by Mayor Cermak.

The committee also directed the bureau of compensation to investigate all requests for permits to determine whether those making the requests have paid their taxes, indicating that it would refuse permits to those who haven't paid.

DIRECT TAXES CLIMB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—The burden of direct taxation upon the people of the United States in 1931 reached an aggregate of 9 billion 519 millions of dollars. That appears large in words. Perhaps larger in figures—$9,519,000,000.

This enormous total represents the direct taxation alone. It does not include customs duties, revenues from grants, from interests, from earnings of public service departments and other revenue.

The 1931 national income of the United States was recently estimated at 60 billion 500 million dollars by the international labor office. On the basis of this estimate the national and local tax bill in 1931 absorbed 15.7 per cent of the total national income.

The tax burden laid on the people by the government and other political divisions rose from $68.27 for every man, woman and child in the country in 1922 to $77.53 per capita in 1931.

Levies by Divisions.

The levies by political divisions in 1931 were divided as follows:

Nation	Two billions 428 millions
State	One billion 967 millions
County	938 millions
City	Two billions 978 millions
Other local taxes	One billion 188 millions

The figures were contained in the preliminary report issued today of the special subcommittee of the house ways and means committee selected to study the duplication of taxation imposed by the federal government and by states and their subdivisions.

"There was a decrease in the federal tax burden between 1928 and 1931," the committee reported, "but this has been more than offset by the increase in the case of local taxes."

It was found that the city per capita tax burden in 1931 was $24.26, as against $14.97 in 1922, an increase of more than 62 per cent.

By recording as a duplication each state tax falling on the same source as that touched by a federal tax, the committee discovered 326 instances of double taxation. The gasoline tax was cited as the most notable example. The federal government through the tax adopted at the last session of congress taxes gasoline sales; all 48 states, one territory, and the District of Columbia also tax gasoline sales. The gasoline tax, therefore, counts for 50 duplications.

The subcommittee recorded the income tax, the special sales taxes on various tangible and intangible objects, and the estate tax as the chief sources of federal revenue, and listed the general property tax as accounting for some 74 per cent of the combined tax revenues of the states and their subdivisions.

Public hearings on the problem of overlapping taxes, federal, state, and municipal, will be held by the committee starting in December, it was said. The report today recommended that witnesses at these hearings devote their testimony as far as possible to remedies for existing conditions, since, it was said, the preliminary report established the fact that tremendous duplication of taxation exists.

The committee is composed of Representatives Fred M. Vinson [Dem., Ky.], chairman; Thomas H. Cullen [Dem., N. Y.], Frank Crowther [Rep., N. Y.], Carl Chindblom [Rep., Ill.], and David J. Lewis [Dem., Md.].

PHILADELPHIA PLANS TO ABOLISH 2,500 JOBS IN ECONOMY MOVE

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—County leaders today finished purging the Philadelphia county job holder's list by adopting a program calling for the elimination of about 400 positions.

Starting on Monday, the city departments now employing about 19,000 men and women will be taken up by a council subcommittee and it is expected that about 2,500 more jobs will be dispensed with in order to prevent a tax rise next year.

Edwin R. Cox, president of the council, has announced that $17,000,000 standing in the way of retention of the present real estate tax rate will be found by appropriation cuts without depending on extra taxation.

ACTION DELAYED ON WARRANT PAY DAY FOR SCHOOLS

Teachers Oppose Plan at Board Meeting.

The school board yesterday postponed action on a proposal to pay overdue salaries to its employes in 1932 tax anticipation warrants in lieu of cash. Leaders of teachers' organizations protested against the plan on the grounds that it would block payment in cash. The board owes teachers and other school employes more than $19,000,000 for their services this year.

Trustee H. Wallace Caldwell introduced the plan and suggested that warrants also be offered to the school board's creditors. His resolution urged that the obligations incurred from May 1 to Oct. 1 be paid in warrants. The past due pay roll for the board over this period totals $12,249,000.

Teachers Oppose Plan.

"Teachers are opposed to pay in warrants," said Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, a school trustee, "and they should be given a chance to tell their side of the story." The rules of the board were suspended on Mrs. Hefferan's motion to allow the hearing.

Aaron Kline, president of the Principals' club, pointed out that the teachers might have to sell the warrants at a 40 per cent discount. "No one knows what the market value of 1932 warrants would drop to if they were offered in small denominations," he said, "and we don't want them while there is still some prospect of cash."

"As desperate as the teachers are," said Charles Stillman, president of the joint conference of 29 teachers' organizations, "I believe that even the most desperate will join against this payment in warrants. Chicago bankers are negotiating with New York bankers to form a pool to take up a considerable quantity of the warrants. Success means a cash pay day and this resolution might add another obstacle to relief."

Referred to Committee.

The resolution was referred to the board's next general committee meeting Dec. 14.

Similar action was taken on a resolution introduced by Trustee William D. McJunkin, which would have pledged the board's coöperation with the citizens' committee on public expenditures in its request that the various taxing bodies of Cook county not exceed $200,000,000 in their total 1933 budgets. The resolution also asked school department heads to reduce their budget estimates as much as possible.

"What figure will they give us?" asked Caldwell.

"Fred Sargent of the citizens' committee told me it would be about $48,000,000, exclusive of bond principal and interest payments," McJunkin replied.

"Why, teachers' salaries in 1931 amounted to $38,647,516 and salaries of other employes, $9,409,921," said Mr. Caldwell. "That makes $48,057,437. Will that mean a reduction in salaries?"

"It might mean just that," said McJunkin.

PROPERTY VALUE IN STATE SHOWS DECLINE OF 12%

960 Million Decrease in 1932 Assessments.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—A decrease of 12 per cent in the total valuation of all property is shown in the 1932 report of the state tax commission, made public here today.

The total assessment for 1932 is $7,043,754,262, a decrease of $960,628,722. The state decrease is due to reductions in valuations made in many of the counties.

The total valuation of lands, lots and personal property for 1932 was $2,767,162,564 in the downstate and $3,648,102,307 in Cook county, as compared with $3,021,227,228 in the downstate and $4,247,686,797 for Cook county in 1931. The total for this year for lands, lots and personal property was $6,415,264,871, as against $7,268,914,025 in 1931.

The report shows a total assessment of $555,102,321 on steam and electric roads of the entire state, as against $636,741,569 for the previous year. The total on capital stock in corporations for this year was $73,386,570.

The assessment for 1931 was $98,727,390. Of this year's total on capital stock $21,995,650 was extended in the downstate and $51,390,920 in Cook county.

OLD AGE PENSION PROS AND CONS TOLD AT HEARING

Commission Will Report to Legislature.

Old age pension laws were proposed by social, labor, and welfare leaders at a hearing before the Illinois commission for the study of poverty and dependency in old age, in the Palmer house yesterday. Representatives of civic and business organizations opposed such a program on the ground that it would place an additional $16,000,000 burden on taxpayers of the state.

State Senator Charles H. Thompson of Harrisburg presided at the hearing in the absence of W. L. McMenimen the chairman of the commission. The hearing was the second conducted by the commission, which was appointed by Gov. Emmerson in 1931 to report on the feasibility of enacting laws to care for the state's aged. The commission must present its report to the legislature by Feb. 1.

Proponents of Pensions.

Speakers in favor of old age pension laws included John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; Jane Addams, founder of Hull house and vice chairman of the American Association for Old Age Security; Dr. Mollie Ray Carroll of the League of Women Voters; Oscar Leonard, field director of the American Association for Old Age Security, and Samuel Levine, head of the Amalgamated Clothing workers.

Representatives of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency, spoke in opposition to the proposed laws.

"The American Federation of Labor indorsed old age pension laws as long ago as its convention in 1909 at Toronto," Mr. Fitzpatrick said. "The executive committee was instructed to work toward getting federal legislation and the state committees, to get state laws for the benefit of the aged. Many states have programs similar to the one proposed for Illinois and organized labor in Chicago will do all in its power to see that our program is made a law."

Tells of Tax Increases.

Louis A. Dumond of the Association of Commerce said his organization hesitates to support any move that will add to the burden carried by taxpayers. A survey of other states that have pension laws shows that the cost to the taxpayer has been greatly increased due to the failure to eliminate poor farms and old people's homes, as the laws were intended to do, he said.

"We are of the opinion that the present time would be inopportune to enact pension laws in Illinois because the general economic condition would place the maximum number of persons on the pension rolls," he said.

Graham Aldis, vice president of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency, told the commission that if the old age pension law is enacted the additional annual cost to Illinois taxpayers will be not less than $8,000,000 the first year and may range from $13,000,000 to as high as $25,000,000 for subsequent years.

Sees Boost of 19 to 37 Cents.

"An additional property tax of from 19 to 37 cents per $100 assessed value would be required to produce these sums," he said. "This tax would be in addition to the present rate [state tax only] of 39 cents per $100 assessed value."

Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, and Miss Addams asserted that a large percentage of the persons falling within the pension classification could be cared for in their homes.

The California pension law costs the taxpayers an additional 1.7 cents per $100 assessed value, Mr. Leonard said.

ELMER BLAMES HIS CONSCIENCE ON BOOTLEGGER

Policeman Joseph Connolly of the South Park force observed a forlorn looking individual at Roosevelt road and Michigan avenue last night. Walking over to him, Connolly inquired why he was sad.

"I've got something on my mind," replied the man. "My name is Elmer McDonald, and I'm from Des Moines. In 1929 I went haywire, got a gun and held up three places. I got $55 and run away. Please lock me up."

Policeman Connolly obliged, and then with Sergt. Joseph Haksa of the detective bureau, looked over the police records. They found that McDonald's story was correct. Puzzled over his confession, the policemen talked with McDonald again.

"Why did you admit this when you weren't suspected here?" they asked.

"It's the fault of my bootlegger," answered McDonald, looking around furtively. "I owe him $8. He told me that I'd have to pay by Saturday or else—"

McDonald didn't finish. He shuddered. He'll be taken back to Des Moines by Saturday.

DEATH OF HOTEL MANAGER'S SON HELD ACCIDENT

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at the inquest over the body of Robert William Larke Jr., 22 years old, who was found dead earlier in the day in the home of his mother at 1024 Fort Sheridan avenue, Highland Park. The body was found in a chair beside the kitchen gas stove, on which five burners were open. Larke was the son of the manager of the Moraine hotel in Highland Park.

Edward Hilliard, a cousin who found the body, testified that he had found young Larke unconscious in front of the stove last Saturday. At that time Hilliard said, Larke told him that he had turned on the stove to heat the kitchen and then had sat down to put on his shoes.

Both Larke's mother and father, who are separated, testified at the inquest. They said they knew of no reason for their son to commit suicide. Mrs. Larke was out of town when her son died.

Woman Swallows Poison; Jump in River Halted

A fairly well dressed woman stopped two men at the west end of the Madison street bridge this morning and cried out, "I've taken poison and I'm going to jump into the river." The men notified Policeman Richard O'Malley of the Des Plaines street station. He seized the woman. At the county hospital she said she was Mary Doyle and that she was 45 years old. She gave no address. In her purse was found a note leaving her clothing and jewelry to her mother—"Mrs. Ryan." She apparently had taken poison. Police believe she did not give her correct name.

RYERSON PLEADS FOR NEW LOCAL RELIEF REVENUE

Governor Signs 17 Million County Bond Bill.

Immediate production of new local revenue is imperative if Illinois is to continue the relief of the idle through the winter, Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission declared last night following his return from Washington.

Mr. Ryerson, together with other Illinois officials, obtained a loan of $4,935,078 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation Tuesday to finance relief activities in the state during December.

Gasoline Tax Inadequate.

Continuing his plea for the raising of new local revenues, Mr. Ryerson declared that "every other state that has a big unemployment problem similar to our own, such as New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, has adopted measures to produce new and additional revenue for relief."

"Additional funds for relief must be raised, either under the present legislation or under proposed legislation, such as the general state sales tax," Mr. Ryerson said. "The legislature has permitted Cook county to raise new funds by the sale of $17,000,000 of bonds. The county has to sell those bonds in order to establish our position in Washington.

"Depositing the bonds with the R. F. C. for another loan will not meet the requirement of that federal agency that we must raise new money locally. Since last Aug. 1 Illinois has done very little to care for its own relief needs until a diversion of the counties' shares of the state gasoline tax was made possible by a legislative act. And that measure does not provide for the raising of new funds. We cannot expect to pay for relief out of the gasoline tax. It will not carry the load."

Signs $17,000,000 Bill.

In the meantime, Gov. Emmerson at Springfield yesterday signed the fifth of six bills passed by the recent special session of the legislature to enable the raising of those funds. This is the Igoe bill, which authorizes the Cook county board of commissioners to issue $17,000,000 of bonds without referendum.

Only one bill of the legislative program to provide more relief funds remains unsigned. That is the Tice bill, which provides for an optional county sales tax of 1 per cent.

BAIN SENTENCE FOR CONTEMPT IS REVERSED

The Appellate court yesterday reversed the order of Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg sentencing Robert A. Bain, son of John Bain, convicted banker, to jail for ten days for contempt of court. The contempt citation grew out of a civil hearing a year ago before Judge Feinberg to discover assets of John Bain, Inc., one of the defunct Bain holding companies. Young Bain served four days of the sentence before he was released on bond pending an appeal.

Arrested as He Plans To Rob Gold Coast Homes.

Alex Alexander, 21 years old, of 2426 Clybourn avenue, was arrested last night near the apartment building at 2100 Lincoln Park West by Policemen George Murphy and Frederick Sack of the Hudson avenue station. They found in his possession a revolver, ten keys, including one to fit police patrol boxes, and a schoolboy safety patrol badge. Police said that Alexander admitted that he meant to hold up several gold coast homes.

SWITCHMAN SHOT BY DETECTIVE IN RAILROAD YARDS

William Fleming, 45 years old, of 2561 Hessing street, River Grove, was taken to the Washington Boulevard hospital last night suffering from a bullet wound in the back. The shot was fired by Charles Irwin, 1234 Loyola avenue, a detective employed in the Milwaukee railroad yards in Franklin Park, where Fleming is also employed as a switchman. Irwin took Fleming to the hospital.

The shooting took place in the railroad yards and, it is said, while Fleming was with his wife. Irwin's story was that Fleming was pointed out to him as being armed and that he tried to search him. Fleming resisted the attempted search, Irwin said, and in the struggle the detective's revolver was accidentally fired. Fleming was not armed, police were told.

KUHN SUIT NEAR DECISION; GIRL TELLS HER STORY

Marion Wright Is Final Defense Witness.

defendants and contended that Kuhn was entitled to a money payment to make up for his loss of reputation.

Tells Story to Jury.

On taking the stand at the morning session Miss Wright was questioned by Attorney Everett.

Q—How old were you when you received these letters? A—I was 18.

Q—Do you know who wrote them? A—I do not.

Q—How did you go about town after receiving them? A—I had a gentleman with me as guard. He went everywhere with me.

Q.—Were you in fear? A.—I certainly was. I was extremely nervous

Tells of Trip to St. Louis.

Miss Wright related under further questioning that on Dec. 5, 1930, she had left Chicago for a visit in St. Louis to recuperate from her nervousness. She was recalled from there to appear in court against Kuhn on Dec. 8, she said.

Q.—Did you appear in the Felony court on that date? A.—If you mean that court in the Criminal Courts building, yes, I did.

Q.—Now, when you went to that speakeasy at 69 East Walton place with William Kuhn, did you drink three, four, or five cocktails? A.—I did not.

Q.—Do you remember if Kuhn drank? A.—I think he had at least two highballs.

Says Kuhn Drank Pint.

Q.—When you went to the College inn with him, did you drink? A.—I did not. He had a pint of gin and drank the whole thing.

Q.—What was his condition on the way home? A.—He was extremely drunk—incoherent. I thought he was out of his head.

Q.—Did he attempt to kiss you in the taxicab? The witness flushed and replied briefly, "Yes."

Q.—Did you permit it? A—No.

Q.—Was he insistent? A.—Yes.

Q.—What happened when you got home? A.—I told my father I thought he was not all there—that he was a queer actor and that I would never go out with him again.

Q.—Did you talk to Assistant State's Attorney Brooks at the Criminal Courts building on Dec. 10? A.—I told him that Dudley and others said that Kuhn was barred from two speakeasies because he was a person who talked to his highball glass. And that the lie detector had proved him guilty.

Explains Signing of Complaint.

Q.—How did you happen to sign the complaint against him? A.—Judge Lyle refused to let Sergt. Knowles sign it and Mr. Brooks told me to sign it. When Mr. Brooks said I would not be responsible I signed it.

Q.—About your début on Dec. 10 at the Casino club. Did you send Kuhn an invitation? A.—No. I didn't know one had been sent him until I received his regrets.

Q.—How did he receive it? A.—It must have come from the social secretary.

Attorney Frederic Burnham, representing Kuhn, then began his cross-examination.

Q.—Who was at the Casino club when you first met Kuhn? A.—All the débutantes.

Q.—How did you happen to leave there with him? A.—He asked me to go with him to the Bal Tabarin to meet some friends.

Q.—Did you know where the Bal Tabarin was? A.—I knew it was somewhere in the loop.

Q—When the cab stopped at 69 East Walton, you knew you weren't at the Bal Tabarin, didn't you? A—Kuhn stopped the cab there and I said, "Where are we?" He said, "This is a speakeasy." I said, "I'm not supposed to go into speakeasies." He said, "Aw, come on."

Q—Did you sit at the bar? A—I suppose so.

Q—Why do you suppose so? A—All speakeasies have bars, don't they?

Q—I'm asking you.

Q—Now what did you say in the warrant room at the Criminal courts money. If Fitzgerald had been able when Brooks told you about the complaint? A—I said I didn't want to sign it, and father said he didn't want me to sign. Mr. Brooks said we wouldn't be responsible, so I did sign.

Q—Well, you knew this was a complaint against William Kuhn? A—I hadn't the slightest idea what it was.

THIEF PUT ON PROBATION.

George Stone, 30 years old, 5520 Glenwood avenue, was placed on probation for one year by Judge Freeman L. Fairbank yesterday on a charge of stealing money from lockers of musicians at the Chicago theater.

Move Lone Patient from Hospital

Policemen taking David Fitzgerald, the sole patient, from the Bellevue hospital to the county hospital so that foreclosure can proceed. The Bellevue was formerly known as the Washington Park hospital.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Doors Are Locked

With the removal of its last patient, David Fitzgerald, 6540 Ingleside avenue, a charity case, the doors of the Bellevue hospital at 437 East 60th street were locked yesterday by a representative of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company, which had foreclosed mortgages on the $50,000 property formerly known as the Washington Park hospital.

For a time the lone patient blocked the machinery of foreclosure. The bankrupt hospital had to stay open to take care of the patient, who had no to pay the hospital could have closed without difficulty by sending him to another hospital. Other hospitals refused to take him because he had no money.

The dilemma of the Bellevue hospital was solved by Warden Michael Zimmer of the county hospital, who took Fitzgerald as an emergency case. Fitzgerald entered the Bellevue hospital five weeks ago with a fractured hip.

Carl Bauer, manager of the hospital, was arraigned in the Fillmore street court charged with giving payment to a woman laundry employé with a bad check. The case was continued until Saturday, when he promised to make good the $26 check.

FIND IN 2 FUNDS HOPE TO RELIEVE HOSPITAL CRISIS

Relief Commission to Be Asked to Act Friday.

Prompt action was taken yesterday to provide free beds in private hospitals for the thousands of Chicago's poor who are denied admission to the overcrowded county hospital.

County Commissioner Peter M. Kelly, chairman of the county board committee on the county hospital, announced that he would appear before a meeting of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission Friday and request funds to pay for the cost of hospitalizing penniless sick persons in private hospitals. He revealed that Edward L. Ryerson Jr., head of the commission, had assured him of the coöperation of that body.

"If, by any unfortunate happening, the relief commission should refuse to provide the money from its treasury, the county board, I am sure, would use its portion of state gasoline tax money to take care of the sick poor who need treatment in hospitals," said Mr. Kelly.

Cheers County Hospital Staff.

Physicians, nurses and internes at the county hospital greeted the news with joy. The staff, unpaid for months, has been striving to care properly for nearly 3,000 patients in a hospital built to accommodate 2,300.

The distressing scenes in the receiving room at the county hospital, where more than 500 men and women daily apply for admission and more than 330 daily must be turned away, were repeated yesterday. But the response of public officials to the need of these unfortunates was so cordial that a speedy termination of the scenes seemed certain.

A minor but immediate alleviation of conditions at the hospital was accomplished when Warden Michael Zimmer, after a conference with Mr. Kelly, Frank Chambers, county superintendent of public service, and physicians, ordered the purchase of 120 new beds which will be placed in the new men's hospital. This structure, which is separate from the main hospital, has not been crowded so much as the larger building, and room was found for the 120 new beds.

Cites Danger in Epidemic.

"But, of course, that's merely a stop-gap," commented Commissioner Kelly. "If an epidemic should arise, the county hospital would be utterly unable to take care of the sick poor."

Commissioner Kelly revealed that he had been working for some time on a plan to relieve the pressure upon the staff at the county hospital.

"Conditions at the county hospital would stir any man's heart to pity," he said. "Every ward is jammed with beds and beds are in the corridors. It is unthinkable that men and women, suffering from real ailments which can be treated properly only in a hospital, must be turned away for lack of room."

Noted Physicians Start Move.

The condition at the county hospital was revealed to the general public when prominent physicians organized for action Tuesday. Dr. Nathan S. Davis, Dr. George W. Hall, and Dr. Frederick Tice headed a group which sought to discover why the county hospital should be filled to overflowing with the sick poor while the large private hospitals of the city are half empty.

Such hospitals as St. Luke's, Mercy, Passavant, Presbyterian, Wesley and Michael Reese are less than 50 per cent occupied, they pointed out. These hospitals are ready and anxious to accept all the charity patients they can care for and be paid only the mere operating expenses, it was pointed out.

Commissioner Kelly yesterday was working on the problem of what the cost of hospitalization amounts to per patient. In 1931, he said, the cost of each patient in the county hospital was $3.07 a day. It will be lower in 1932, he said, and declared that the cost at present is approximately $2.66 per patient per day.

Gets Bid of $2.50 a Day.

"I got in touch with one hospital and got a bid of $2.50," he said. "The superintendent of the hospital said, however, that this bid must first be indorsed by the board of directors."

Accepting the $2.50 rate as average, the cost to the county of 500 beds in private hospitals would be $1,250 a day, or $456,250 a year.

However, the need of private hospitalization decreases in the summer and a sum as large as this latter amount will probably not be necessary. Commissioner Kelly said he has not yet estimated how much money he will request from the relief commission.

"The relief commission should supply the money without question," he remarked. "The crowded conditions at the county hospital have undoubtedly been caused by unemployment and there should be no dispute about the money being used to relieve the poor who have been rendered destitute and unable to pay their way in a private hospital."

Need Wards for Convalescents.

"What we really need are convalescing wards," he continued. "There is no economy in turning loose patients who have been cured but are still in a weakened condition, and letting them go back to unheated homes and to scanty food. Such persons are back in the hospital within a few days, sicker than ever."

CHAMPAGNE USED TO CHRISTEN LATEST $5,000,000 STEAMER

New York, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—The Santa Elena, last of four new luxury ships built for the Grace line at a cost of $5,000,000 each, glided down the ways at the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company's yards in Kearny today.

Miss Elsie Grace, daughter of William Russel Grace, director of the steamship company, named the vessel with a bottle of champagne sent by the city of St. Helena, Cal., for that ceremony.

The début of the new ship, which was built for service between New York, California and the Pacific northwest, via Havana, Panama, Central America and Mexico, was hailed by United States Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York and T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the United States shipping board, who spoke at the launching.

Senator Copeland criticized American "carelessness" in not patronizing American ships. "Perhaps it is not really carelessness—perhaps thoughtlessness is a better word," he said. "I have in mind the all too common practice of American citizens making use of foreign ships. This criticism relates to freight as well as to passenger traffic."

The Santa Elena is a sister ship of the Santa Rosa, Santa Paula and Santa Lucia. The four ships will add 68,000 tons to the Grace fleet.

DEFENSE LAWYER MAKES PLEA FOR STONE OFFICIALS

Defense Attorney James B. Westcott presented closing arguments yesterday in the trial of nine officials of H. O. Stone & Co., defunct real estate investment concern. They are on trial in the court of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward on charges of using the mails to defraud. Westcott pointed to the fact that Chicago banks had lent the Stone concern $600,000 before the receivership in 1930 as an indication that the company was not insolvent. The loans, he said, were obtained on securities valued at two million dollars at that time.

Auto Hits Girl; Unhurt; But Driver Dies of Shock

Kansas City, Kas., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Seven year old Ethel Varner darted in the path of Charles L. Renne's automobile and was dashed to the pavement. A physician discovered girl had suffered nothing worse than slight bruises. Turning from his youthful patient the doctor found the 60 year old driver dead from shock.

GOOD FELLOWS TO BRIGHTEN HOMES OF CHILDLESS

Hunger for Kindness Rivals That for Food.

The Good Fellows, since their origin in 1909, have been concentrating their efforts upon bringing Christmas cheer to children. This year there has been a definite trend of sympathy toward childless old couples, as shown by requests of Good Fellows.

A basket of inexpensive toys, fruit, candies, and foodstuffs taken into a home with small children will bring cheers and shouts of joy on Christmas eve, where there would be tears of disappointment without the Good Fellow. A Good Fellow basket in the home of some lonely and destitute old couple will brighten hearts that fear the world is forgetting them in their last years.

Names of Needy Available.

There are families with small children and there are poverty stricken old couples to whom Christmas will be but a remainder of their sad plights unless Good Fellows save them from this grief. Would you enjoy the holiday the more for having delivered a basket to the poor on Christmas eve? Address Good Fellows, THE TRIBUNE, Chicago, or call at THE TRIBUNE Public Service Office, at Madison and Dearborn streets, and you can obtain the name of a worthy recipient for your kindness.

Four of these elderly couples were described yesterday by social service workers. All names submitted to Good Fellows for Christmas eve baskets have been investigated and recommended by the United Charities, the Central Charity bureau, the Cook County Bureau of Public Welfare, the Juvenile court, or some other affiliate of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies.

Blind and Destitute.

Two months ago a tall, white haired man was led into a charity relief station by his wife, a small, worried woman. He had been a wood worker until his sight began to fail eight years ago. Then he was a flagman at a railroad crossing for a time. Now he is totally blind.

The couple are now receiving the scant allotment of necessities provided by overburdened organized charity. He is 72 years old, an immigrant from Germany in 1892, and an American citizen since 1900. His wife is 61 and active, a constant attendant to her blind husband.

The couple had four children. One died in infancy, of heart disease. Another was fatally injured as a child in a Fourth of July accident. A third is a victim of epilepsy, the mother of a baby and the wife of an unemployed tradesman. The fourth lost a hand in an industrial accident and is barely able to feed, clothe, and shelter a wife and two children on a small Indiana farm.

Furniture Sold for Food.

This blind old man and his devoted wife will be alone on Christmas day in their single room, from which they sold most of the furniture before appealing to charity to save themselves from starvation. A Good Fellow basket would revive their spirits.

Mr. P. was a neighborhood tailor and his wife a seamstress. When the folks of their neighborhood stopped buying specially made clothes a couple of years ago, their income ceased. They were too old to take up a new business or a new trade. They are living in a room furnished by charity. A Good Fellow call three weeks from Saturday would renew their faith in mankind.

Mr. and Mrs. S. are virtually invalids. He is over 70 and she is 61. Their savings are gone. They receive routine aid from organized charity. They, no doubt, hunger for some act of kindness as much as for food. A Good Fellow basket would feed their souls as well as their stomachs.

Tear out the coupon if you want to bring Christmas cheer to one of these old couples, or to some destitute family with children. If you can't deliver a basket personally, a cash donation will be accepted. THE TRIBUNE pays all the expenses of administrating the Good Fellow work.

FORD CONVALESCES RAPIDLY; HIS CASE IS CALLED A RARITY

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 30.—(AP)—While Henry Ford continued his "amazing convalescence" from his hospital bed tonight, his physician revealed that the emergency operation performed Saturday was a rare case in medical annals.

Dr. Roy D. McClure, who performed the operation, said his famous patient was suffering from a gangrenous appendix which had become strangulated in the hernial sac. He said he could find no more than 20 similar cases in all medical literature.

"Mr. Ford," said Dr. McClure, "is the first patient of 180,000 we have treated in his own hospital to suffer from this malady."

HITLER DODGES TALK ON GERMAN CABINET ISSUE

Decision Is Postponed on Chancellorship.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—President Paul von Hindenburg and Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, minister of war, waited vainly all day today for definite word from Adolf Hitler, National Socialist (Fascist) leader, on his party's support of Von Schleicher as chancellor.

The Nazi leader, instead of coming to Berlin, went to Weimer to confer with his aids. He thus dodged temporarily the question of whether his party would tolerate a cabinet headed by Von Schleicher and thus give it the parliamentary majority it requires.

Decision Delayed.

Von Hindenburg postponed his decision until Von Schleicher has completed negotiations with all party groups which might be induced to lend him a helping hand in creating a practical program to "provide work for the idle."

Von Schleicher's chances of becoming chancellor increased during the day after prominent industrialists and labor union leaders approved his program calling for cancellation of some of Chancellor von Papen's most unpopular decrees and striving for a political truce.

Hitler was scheduled to confer with Von Schleicher this morning and boarded a Berlin train at Munich. He left it at Jena, however, to meet his aids at Weimar for a secret conclave. His spokesman, asked about the party's decision as to whether it would tolerate a possible cabinet under Von Schleicher, said that Hitler did not consider this question today, but conferred only on general topics with his aids.

Charge Hitler Is "Scared."

Political circles claim that Hitler's attitude shows he is afraid of responsibility. Many see it as proof that he is toying with the power he holds through the parliament like a prima donna.

The National Socialist party has announced its chief is centering his interest in the local elections in Thuringia, where the party is seeking to gain control of the state power.

Rumors that Von Hindenburg is so thoroughly disappointed by the inconsistency of the politicians that he has threatened to resign were energetically denied today in official quarters. Von Hindenburg, it was said, still hopes to evolve an emergency program to enable Germany to get through the winter without losing control to Reds and Hitlerites who are agitating against the state.

"Dago" Mangano's Stepson Held to Jury in Robberies

Paul Mangano, 17 years old, stepson of "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, Capone lieutenant on the west side, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $6,000 on three charges of robbery by Judge Harold P. O'Connell in the Boys' court. The youth's mother, Mrs. Lucilla Mangano, widow of Paul Labriola, political murder victim of a decade ago, furnished bond. Complaining witnesses against Mangano were Isadore Bernstein, 6029 St. Lawrence avenue; Clyde Sexton, 5322 Winthrop avenue, and Ray Timmons, 2444 Berteau avenue.

2 HOOSIERS WIN CORN TITLES AT LIVE STOCK SHOW

Their Victories Put Indiana Ahead of Others.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Two Indiana corn growers, one of them a 16 year old boy, won the premier titles conferred by judges at the International Live Stock exposition at the stockyards yesterday and thereby clinched for Indiana a record of producing more corn champions than any other state.

The new corn king, C. E. Troyer of Lafontaine, Wabash county, Ind., won with a ten ear sample of Reid's yellow dent corn, which produced 101 bushels to the acre. He defeated the reserve champion, L. M. Vogler of Hope, Ind., by a close margin. It was Troyer's third corn victory in 14 years of international competition. The last Illinois grower to win the coveted title was Rome Workman of Waverly, the 1928 corn king.

Indiana 4-H Boy Wins.

Bernard De Ford, a 4-H boy from Converse, Howard county, Ind., defeated Charles Watson of Macomb, Ill., to win the championship of the junior corn growers. Bernard's ten ears were grown from seed he obtained from Troyer, who produced his winning corn from seed which won at Chicago in 1927.

Thousands of city school children joined the throngs at yesterday morning's shows. When accompanied by adults they will be admitted free until 2 p. m. each day and all day Saturday, the last day of the exposition.

DIVERSION FOES OF 4 STATES HERE TO MAP CANAL BOARD FIGHT

Attorneys general of four lake states conferred with R. T. Jackson, special assistant United States attorney general, at the Palmer house yesterday, preparing arguments in support of their plea for a receiver or federal commissioner for the Chicago sanitary district. The attorneys general will appear before the United States Supreme court on Monday, for arguments on a petition asking that the sanitary district be ordered to show why a receiver or federal commissioner should not be appointed.

The states and their attorneys general are: Ohio, Gilbert M. Bettman; Wisconsin, John W. Reynolds; Michigan, Paul W. Voorhies, and Minnesota, Henry N. Benson.

The foes of lake water diversion at Chicago contend the sanitary district is not carrying out the Supreme court's order to decrease diversion from 8,000 to 1,500 cubic feet per second by 1938, erecting in the mean while sewage disposal plants. The district contends that, given a normal tax revenue, the construction program can proceed on schedule.

E. J. BAKER HERD BRINGS $35,000 AT AUCTION SALE

The Holstein dairy herd built up by Edward J. Baker on his Silver Glen farm at St. Charles was sold at auction yesterday. A total of $35,000, or about $200 each for 172 head, was realized from the sale.

Sir Inka Rue, senior sire of the herd, was purchased by the Opakasit farms of Glendale, O., for $500. The junior herd sire, Senator Ormsby Fobes of Silver Glen, went to a Minnesota buyer at $375.

Baker, who is a noted breeder of harness horses, said he might reenter the dairy business when conditions become better. He is one of the heirs of the $30,000,000 estate left by John W. Gates, steel and wire magnate.

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY PACT REACHES CRISIS

It's Likely to Await Action by Roosevelt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30—[Special.]—Senate committee hearings on the St. Lawrence seaway are scheduled to be completed tomorrow. It is expected Mississippi valley interests and the Illinois chamber of commerce will demand at that time elimination from the treaty of the section sharply restricting water diversion at Chicago.

Among tomorrow's witnesses will be Cleveland Newton, general counsel for the Mississippi Valley association; Walter W. Williams, president of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, and Theodore Christianson of Minnesota.

It had been planned that the Mississippi valley representatives should take the stand today, presenting the case of central western groups. They are opposed to internationalization of Lake Michigan and to limiting to 1,500 cubic second feet plus domestic pumpage, the flow of lake water into the lakes to the gulf route. So many witnesses were presented by proponents of the treaty, however, today that the Mississippi valley witnesses were delayed until tomorrow.

Friends of Treaty Talk.

At today's session sixteen witnesses representing Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and New York presented a mass of statistics, resolutions, and oral arguments to the six members of the senate foreign relations committee, conducting the hearings under the chairmanship of Senator William E. Borah [Rad. Rep., Idaho].

All witnesses urged immediate construction of the waterway.

One, Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee, made a bitter attack on the Chicago sanitary district and the state of Illinois. He charged that district, in the question of water diversion, wantonly was disregarding federal laws and the interests of Canada as well as those of neighboring lake states.

At the close of the day's hearing influential members of the committee said they saw no prospect for ratification of the St. Lawrence seaway treaty before the next congress convenes. Some senators predicted its return to the state department for revision under the Roosevelt administration. Members of the committee who will work for delay include Senators Otis Glenn [Rep., Ill.] and Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.].

Hoover to Urge Passage.

It was learned that President Hoover has decided to urge immediate ratification of the treaty and that a section of his coming message will carry a recommendation to that effect.

The chief witnesses appearing today included, in addition to Mayor Hoan, Gov. Wilbert M. Brucker of Michigan, J. P. Goodrich, former governor of Indiana and member of its St. Lawrence seaway commission; J. C. Buekema, secretary manager of the Greater Muskegon chamber of commerce; Harry E. Boyle, representing Floyd B. Olson, governor of Minnesota.

Eight witnesses representing the section of New York close to the St. Lawrence river also testified briefly for the treaty.

Stirs Up Senator Glenn.

Mr. Hoan's attack on the Chicago sanitary district and the state of Illinois aroused the ire of Senator Glenn. He subjected the Milwaukee mayor to a severe cross-examination. Before the mayor left the stand he stated under questioning that he was satisfied compensating works could be built which would protect lake levels.

An increase in this diversion, Mayor Hoan contended, "would reduce the amount of power which Canada could develop in the St. Lawrence."

"Then," snapped Senator Glenn, "you admit that the only damage which a 5,000 cubic second foot diversion would do to Canada would be that of reducing the amount of power developed in the St. Lawrence?"

"It also would injure navigation in the Illinois river," Mr. Hoan replied. "An increase in the diversion would set up a strong current in the waterway which would endanger shipping."

"Then, added Senator Glenn, "your only other objection is that an adequate diversion would injure the lakes to the gulf route."

Earlier Mayor Hoan had read a long prepared statement in which he charged that the sanitary district openly had defied the federal government, "violated a treaty with Great Britain and today was before the United States Supreme court to show cause why it should not be punished for contempt of court." He asserted that the district had disregarded the orders of seven secretaries of war and had shown a wanton disregard for the rights of others.

"You do not trust the Supreme court and congress?" Senator Glenn asked relative to efforts to fix the diversion problem by treaty.

"We want this thing settled permanently," Mayor Hoan replied.

Gov. Brucker said he was convinced the seaway would benefit business in the central west, in fact, in the entire nation. Mr. Buekema asserted that the seaway would cut freight rates and compensate for the economic penalties imposed on the central west by construction of the Panama canal.

LEMPKE DEATH ACCIDENT.

Consider the Railroads —as Taxpayers

Taxation lays its heavy hand upon everyone. It reaches into every pay envelope. It adds to every rent bill. It makes food and fuel and clothing cost more. And it adds to the cost of operating the railroads.

Railroads pay taxes everywhere they go. In hundreds of counties, school districts and other taxing units throughout the country they pay one-half or more of all the taxes that are collected.

Other taxpayers ought to have more than merely a friendly interest in one of the largest among them.

Taxes have to be paid. Do the other taxpayers want to pay the taxes that are now being paid by the railroads? That is something for all of us to think about.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

"Let's All go Ahead— the Time for Waiting is Past"

Walter P. Chrysler talks straight to his 7,232 Plymouth Dealers and invites the Public to "Listen In"

. . . he has spent his lifetime building fine cars . . . Walter P. Chrysler, pioneer Automobile Manufacturer.

YOU and everybody else are interested in making business better . . . right now! We introduced a new Plymouth Six two weeks ago with remarkable success.

Our Plymouth factory is running full force. We have put a lot of men to work, not only in our factory but in hundreds of other factories which supply us materials.

We do not believe in waiting around ourselves, nor in asking anyone to wait around for us. The way to get things started is to start . . . and if you want to start something that will keep on going, especially in these times, it has to be good. It can't be just ordinary.

That was the idea back of the new Plymouth Six. Last year's Plymouth was a good car . . . a remarkably good car. We might have offered it again this year by adding an inch or two of wheelbase, a few new gadgets and changing the radiator a trifle.

However, that did not seem to be the best thing to do right now. We wanted an outstanding value in the low-priced field. An automobile we could sincerely sponsor as America's next Number One Car.

It had to be so good people would want it . . . so low-priced they could afford it. A completely new car . . . overwhelming in its appeal in style, performance, price and everything else people demand.

To do this required a lot of money for engineering and testing. Then to produce these newly designed cars at the lowest cost required new equipment. Altogether, we spent more than $9,000,000 on this part of our Plymouth Six program.

In addition, we have already bought $42,000,000 worth of materials required to make this new Plymouth Six . . . and don't forget that is going to help business.

We are buying steel and glass and leather, wool and cotton, lumber and rubber . . . and a thousand and one things that go to make an automobile . . . which means that other men are being employed in other plants and mines and farms. Men who are earning wages to be spent for food and clothing and shelter . . . and automobiles as well.

Everyone buys when he can afford to. And when he buys, he makes work for someone else. That makes another customer for someone. And so it goes. It rolls up pretty fast. When everyone gets to working and buying, good times will be here.

The new Plymouth Six is now on your salesroom floor. It is priced at $60 less than last year. It is already on the streets and people are talking about it everywhere.

One point I want to make with our dealers is this: Do not criticize your competitors' products. There is no profit in that. It won't put a man to work or sell a single automobile. Don't worry about what your competitors do. Conversation won't equip an automobile with Floating Power, a Steel Body or Hydraulic Brakes.

Sell the quality in our cars. The public is fair-minded and appreciative. People are buying Plymouth because it is presented honestly, fearlessly . . . by straightforward methods that are as sincere as the car itself.

Don't let yourself lose sight of our goal. We want to make Plymouth America's next Number One Car on its merits. We built value first, because we want people to buy now . . . a Plymouth if we can convince them . . . some other car if we can't.

So let the buyer be the judge. Never try to hold up a sale. Shoot square with yourself, your customer, your competitor. Ask the public to "Look at All Three" and . . . "May the Best Car Win."

THE ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY.

VIII. The Future of Foreign Trade.

The St. Lawrence seaway can be useful to American exporters and importers in two principal ways:

1. It can cheapen the costs of doing business overseas;

2. It can cheapen the costs of doing business between the lake ports of the United States and eastern Canada.

It is these two advantages, and the first one especially, which led to the original agitation for the construction of the seaway. The project was first advanced in the name of the northwestern farmers of the United States who have wheat to export to Europe. Some estimates of the expected savings ran as high as 12 cents a bushel. Later the seaway was seen to offer advantages to industrial exporters and to importers as well.

As the seaway found its original justification and still finds its principal justification in foreign trading it is clear that the trend of foreign trade ought to offer a pretty good index to its usefulness.

That trend, as is well known, has been steadily downward since the depression. The foreign trade of the United States this year will be little more than half of what it was in 1929. Much of the decline of recent years is associated with the depression. Some of it is accounted for as the result of the farm board's price manipulation which prevented the normal export of wheat and cotton. There, we may hope, are temporary matters, but the long term decline in the export of breadstuffs from the northwest is also to be reckoned with. Finally there is the policy, deliberately embarked upon by most of the nations of the world, of developing self-sufficiency through discouragement of purchases from other nations. The United States has raised a tariff wall to keep down imports and foreign nations have sought through tariff and import quota arrangements to achieve the same results for themselves. Each nation wishes to supply as much of the home market as it can from its own farms and factories, and to the extent that these efforts succeed foreign trade must languish.

The recent Ottawa conference cannot be overlooked by any one attempting an appraisal of the prospects of the waterway. At Ottawa, Britain, the largest importer of our wheat, gave Canada a preference of 6 cents a bushel against the United States. American wheat may not be excluded from England at once, but exclusion is the purpose of the tariff arrangement and there is at least some reason to expect that if 6 cents won't turn the trick the tariff will be increased until it does.

In general it must be admitted that our northwestern farmers cannot compete much longer in the world market for wheat. No one knows that better than they. Already the northwest is turning from wheat to a more diversified farming for the domestic market. Dakota and Minnesota land is too costly to offer competition in the cheaper lands of Canada, our own southwest, the Argentine, and Australia, and the stimulation of home production in Europe is merely hastening the inevitable process. Milwaukee was once the largest milling center in the world. Minneapolis, which succeeded Milwaukee, is no longer the most important milling center in the United States. Our export grain is tending to flow to gulf ports because a growing proportion of the wheat produced in the United States is being raised in the southwest and, incidentally, it is there that production costs, by and large, are lowest.

Our total export of wheat is declining. A few years ago it was estimated that it would carry each year 45,000,000 bushels of American wheat into export. The average export of wheat for the last five years, including the movement from Atlantic, Pacific, and gulf ports, has been only 58,000,000 bushels of wheat. With that fact to reckon with; the first, if not the principal, argument in favor of the seaway is destroyed. And now, with such tariff arrangements as were concluded at Ottawa being made in all the importing countries, including France, Germany and Italy, the future of the American grain trade is, to say the least, gloomy.

What is true of grain is equally true of other commodities. The importing countries are raising similar defenses against American machinery, American manufactures, American raw materials of all kinds. The result must be a decline in foreign trade, both export and import. The advocates of the waterway are inviting the taxpayers to place a billion dollar bet that foreign trade will either surmount tariff walls or that tariff walls will be torn down.

One large service which the Senate committee can perform is to explain to the senate and the American people the absurdity of building a seaway for foreign trade while the nations of the world are busily engaged in destroying foreign trade. As long as present trends continue it is altogether certain that the seaway will not pay seven or eight years hence, when the work is completed, whatever may be expected of it today.

WAIT FOR BETTER TIMES.

City officials and loop property owners are now considering the question whether proceedings in special assessment for the projected subway should be resumed. It seems to us that in existing circumstances the question should answer itself. The city has no money to spend upon litigation. The subway itself is a project which should await financial conditions better justifying the large outlay it involves. There can be no reasonable objection to proceeding with discussions of the plan and the ironing out of differences, but expenditure for the sake of early action is not justifiable at this time.

PLANNED ECONOMY IN RUSSIA.

A communication from Moscow reports that "two-thirds of the soviet population will be lucky if it gets more than bread, potatoes, and cabbage this winter as a regular diet, with fish three times a week and meat perhaps once a week, and that in quantities below the people's wants and probably below their needs."

This is the result of the pressure exerted to complete the five year plan of industrialization and collectivization. By sacrificing every consideration to this hobby of the dictatorship the farmers, who are the overwhelming majority of the Russian people, have been exploited ruthlessly, and agriculture, which is the foundation of Russia's wealth and strength, has been brought to a low estate. The national live stock supply is reduced from 40 to 50 per cent lower than the level of five years ago. Cattle and horses taken from the individual farmers for the state farms and large collectives where shelter and fodder were not ready for them have been reduced to 60 or 70 per cent of the numbers five years ago. Half of the milk producers have gone dry and the death rate is high. Two-thirds of the draft animals are undernourished, and the crops harvested this year are estimated at from 20 to 30 per cent below last, a national consequence.

The majority of the peasants get no meat, sugar, cheese, butter, milk, eggs, or tea save in small quantities and from time to time. The same conditions exist in the small towns and construction camps, although the larger towns are still fairly well supplied. It is in these centers that the soviet rule has its strong support.

As one exhibit in the "planned economy" which our writers of the liberal school are demanding we adopt, the state of the Russian people is worthy of consideration, especially by the American farmer in his mood of bitter discontent.

ORDNANCE AND THE INVENTOR.

The complaint of the inventor, Walter Christie, that he is being unjustly treated by the ordnance branch of the war department will not be dismissed lightly by any one who knows or recalls the record of that bureau respecting inventions and innovations proposed by outsiders, whether civilian or professional. The ordnance bureau has an extraordinary tradition of obstruction which has been carried at times to lengths of unscrupulous manipulation and abuse of power only the narrowest and most selfish bureaucrat would resort to. The outstanding characteristic of ordnance policy seems to be stubborn resistance to any change suggested from without. It resisted the repeating rifle, and it was introduced into our armament by civilian soldiers in the midst of war. It ignored the rapidly increasing importance of the machine gun, and even so late as the European war, when the whole nation was bending every energy to supply and equip our forces for action in the critical moment of the war, and when the call for artillery was urgent, the ordnance bureau, possessed of the design of the finest light artillery piece in the world, the French seventy-five, postponed manufacture while it experimented with attempted improvements which were never found profitable and never were adopted. This was a piece of conceit and false pride which, while characteristic of the bureaucrat, seems to be flagrant in the ordnance in our own time as in the past.

Mr. Christie, who has been experimenting with the light tank, has been in hot water with the bureau for months, although the department purchased his patents some years ago. He now charges that the new chief of ordnance has been rather bitter in his attempts to deprive his company of business, and there is ample warning in the past records of ordnance bureaucrats to justify a thoroughly fair inquiry into his complaint.

The ordnance department offers a fertile field for public economy. The smaller it is made, the less its power for ill.

Editorial of the Day

THEORIZING ON "SUBMARGINAL LANDS."

[Columbus, O., Dispatch.]

According to the bureau of chemistry and soils in the department of agriculture, about 100,000,000 acres of the 350,000,000 now under cultivation is marginal or submarginal land, not paying any profit on its tillage. If this area were retired from cultivation, says the experts of the bureau, the remainder would be sufficient to supply the nation's needs and agriculture would be in a much more stable condition.

But there are some millions of people living on this land, and nobody yet has come forward with any practicable plan for disposing of them in some other sphere of activity. The American Forestry association has long ago pointed out that the occupants of such land could better their position by getting a part of their holdings into farm woodlots and cultivating more intensively the parts best adapted to tilled crops.

Here and there this sensible teaching is taking hold; farm woodlots are being created and the owners of these farms are learning that it is possible so to cultivate the better lying portions of their soil as to improve its productivity with the passing of the years and not to wear it out. In ten or twenty years from now this process will be advancing on a far larger scale than at present.

In the very nature of things, however, it is slow in its movement and has no importance as a means of quick relief for existing agricultural emergencies. But neither can any relief from existing farm troubles come from theorizing about withdrawing 100,000,000 acres of the poorer lands from farm use in order to better the position of the holders of the remaining 250,000,000 acres. No such wholesale interference with those occupying these lands is possible unless the United States of America were to go over to the political and social philosophy of Moscow, and the experts at Washington will do better to devote their attention to slower but more practical methods of improving the farm situation.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

By W. B.

DECEMBER.

Cold days, bleak days, winter at last. But December brings Christmas. And the Linebook (out tomorrow). And New Year's eve and much whoopee. Hernan Cortez died Dec. 2. He conquered Mexico. If he tried it today he and his army would be thrown in patrol wagons and thrown into the hoosegow. Now the big logs burn brightly in the fireplace. If you want to burn up perfectly good logs when you can pound on the radiator with the potato masher and make the janitor do something about sending up some more heat. Cicero assassinated Dec. 7. But they didn't bump him off soon enough to do any good for the college boys and girls. The days are getting shorter and shorter. The automobile freezes up. The old red flannels come out of the cedar chest. So do the moths. The wind whistles down from the north. As far as we're concerned the wind can do all the whistling for December; we're not going to. George Washington died Dec. 14. We don't want to die Dec. 14. We want to see whether England, France, Belgium, and the rest of 'em come across with what they owe the U. S. A. on the 15th. And we want to find out whether the Democrats are going to give us beer in our Christmas stocking. If they don't we're going to be a Republican, or a Dancing Dervisher, or a Hitlerite, or something horrible. Thomas Babington Macaulay died Dec. 28, 1859. But how the place has changed since Macaulay wrote his book. Now the cheerful chickadee chirrups from the corner. But he doesn't take one's mind off the fact that we've got to get out and buy a lot of Christmas presents. And one wonders what they'll exchange 'em for when they take 'em back to the store next day.

TEXAS has won the grand champion steer prize for the first time at the International Live Stock show in Chicago. And they've been having those shows for thirty-three years. What with capturing the champion steer ribbon, the vice presidency of the United States, and the speakership of the House of Representatives, Texas seems to be coming up fast. And only a few years ago the favorite joke about Texas was that some man who had been down there said that all Texas needed was water and good society to be the finest place on earth. And a man who overheard him said: "That's all Hell needs." And look at Texas now!

"GOVERNMENT COSTS DROP at Washington."—La Trib. When we saw that headline we gave three rousing cheers. We thought, of course, it meant that at least twenty thousand bureaucrats had been given the gate and consequently our taxes would be reduced right away. No such luck! On reading the item we found that the economy referred to was the price of a piece of pie in the senate restaurant, which comes down from 15 to 10 cents, while the bean soup served in the house restaurant has been reduced from 20 cents to 15 cents. Those restaurants are only for the senators and the representatives. Charge 'em a quarter for pie and six bits for bean soup and see if we care.

PEMPHIGUS.

A CORRESPONDENT asks for an article on pemphigus, a skin disease in which large blisters appear on the skin. These seem to be on the skin rather than in it or under it, as is the case with impetigo. The same comparison has been made between the eruptions of chicken pox, which look like surface blisters that invite being scraped off, and smallpox, in which blisters appear to come through the skin and to have their foundations down deep. There is no urge to try to scrape off the smallpox blister.

Impetigo is due to infection of the skin with pus cocci. There may be something wrong with the general health in that disease, but, if so, it is of secondary importance. In pemphigus the two causes change position. There are always assorted bacteria on and in the skin. Small wonder that some of these are found in the blister fluids of pemphigus. If this fluid turns to pus, in which there are pus bacteria, or if the blister is emptied and the raw surface left exposed becomes infected and suppurates, we can understand it. The probability is that the more important factor in pemphigus is some departure from the normal in the bodily state and, if so, investigation and treatment should be directed that way.

We know of half a dozen conditions that furnish the basis for this idea. Persons who are taking arsenicals sometimes scale up in a way that is slightly suggestive of pemphigus. In scurvy, rickets, and purpura there are occasional manifestations that are still more suggestive.

Physicians treating pemphigus generally pay only moderate attention to the eruption. They prescribe soothing salves and dusting powders. These protect raw surfaces and relieve symptoms. There may be enough itching to call for a weak carbolic salve to soothe that symptom. If a carbolic salve is used there is danger of absorption of the drug by the raw surfaces. Menthol and camphor salves may soothe itching, but they may cause smarting. The task of the physician will be to find the underlying departure from the constitutional normal and to treat that.

Rheumatism should come under suspicion since there are somewhat allied skin disorders in some varieties of rheumatism. Scurvy and pellagra should be considered. These are both disorders due to diet. Certain poisonings should be investigated.

The course of pemphigus is very irregular. It may be acute and violent, or chronic and mild, or it may be subject to relapses.

BOTULISM.

D. R. writes: Your article on botulism and preserved foods impressed me for the reason that one summer I canned green beans by the cold pack method, first sterilizing them thoroughly, though they were crisp, clean, and appeared to be freshly picked. Into each quart I put one teaspoonful of salt and nothing else except the proper amount of water. They looked all right and were perfectly sealed in the glass jars, but when opened in the winter were flabby and considerably faded in color and they had a strong, sulphurous odor. I feared they were not wholesome, so threw them out. Now when I read your article I got the idea that by not eating those beans we postponed our journey to the land of fire and brimstone.

1. Is all of one pack (as was mine) generally affected or just an occasional container?

2. Also, if decaying cabbage is made into sauerkraut, would the fermentation destroy any harmful bacteria which "are widely distributed in . . . plants and products derived from them," and leave it safe and fit food for human consumption?

REPLY.

1. If the entire pack was not thoroughly sterilized none of it would be safe. There are border line cases in which some part of the pack, having been properly handled, is safe.

2. Sauerkraut conditions do not lend themselves to growth of botulinus. The mixture is acid and air is present. Botulinus will not grow where air is present and sourness routs it out.

ATHENS.—The entente allies are ready to begin the debarkation of troops at Piraeus, the port of Athens. The Greek government has retaken control of the postoffices and telegraph lines in Athens, expelling the French control officers. [Cables received from Athens several days ago said the entente commanders had given King Constantine an ultimatum demanding among other things that the artillery of the royalist army be turned over to the allies before Dec. 1. At that time it was said Athens would be occupied by the entente allies if the demands were not met.]

LONDON.—The Greek government has sent a reply to Vice Admiral du Fournet definitely refusing his demands, according to a Reuter dispatch from Athens.

LONDON—Field Marshal von Mackensen, whose vanguard is now within sixteen miles of the outer forts of Bucharest, has opened the battle that will decide the fate of the Rumanian capital. The band of steel and fire was drawn closer along the 100 mile arc from Pitesci to Guirgiu. Further north, where the defenders are clinging to their last hold in the Wallachian passes, Von Falkenhayn swept forward, and Kampulung, head of the railway to Pitesci, fell. In the Carpathian heights and the ridges on the northern Moldavian line the Russians are battering at the Teuton line desperately in a final effort to halt the German wave speeding toward Bucharest. They captured a height seven miles southwest of Wakarka and have come within rifle range of Kirilbaba, guarding the Rodna pass. The Russians' attempt to break through and threaten the bases of Von Falkenhayn's army is meeting with considerable success.

LONDON.—One Norwegian and two British steamers, in addition to two British trawlers, have been sunk by German submarines, Lloyd's announces. A third trawler was disabled.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced that yesterday Capt. Harry F. Knapp, U. S. N., commander in Santo Domingo, proclaimed a military government of that country. This step was made necessary because governmental functions in Santo Domingo are at a standstill. Conditions got into such a tangle because of the machinations of Arias, who has been the great political disturber of the republic for many years, and who is the man behind President Henriquez, that the American general receiver refused to make any further payments. This deprived Dominican government employes of their salaries, but at the same time put a stop to brazen graft, it is declared. An election will be held in January to choose another assembly, which will elect a successor to Henriquez. A guard of 1,800 American marines now has control of all of the larger cities of Santo Domingo.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—William J. Bryan, according to admirers, is coming to Washington in an endeavor to convert President Wilson to advocacy of national prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor.

JUAREZ, Mexico.—The remnants of the Carranzista army that fled from Chihuahua City after a battle with Villa troops are in camp on the plains south of Juarez. They brought with them here the story of the evacuation of the city after four days and nights of fighting. The dead were piled high in the streets when they left and had been covered with oil and burned, they said.

INSTALLING A WATER METER.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Several weeks ago we were informed by a representative of the bureau of water that it would be necessary to install a water meter in our home. We were told that although no meters were available for installation the preliminary work would have to be done.

So far ten men have been required for this work. These men came in groups of two and three. One of the men was another representative, who, after all the work had been completed, came to inform us again that a water meter would have to be installed.

These men had trucks with them on each occasion. The result of their work was one two foot length of jointed pipe. This is an example of efficiency in our city government. I wonder who has to pay for all of this? JOHN E. BENSON.

THE CICERO AVENUE LINE.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—I would like to extend an invitation to some of the surface lines officials to ride on a west bound street car to Cicero avenue. No matter the kind of weather, whether it is raining or snowing, I am sure they would certainly get a great kick out of waiting for a northbound Cicero avenue street car at Grand avenue. The service on this line is terrible. Every night between the hours of six and six-thirty you can see a crowd of anywhere from 25 to 100 waiting for a northbound Cicero avenue street car. I can say that for every five westbound Grand avenue cars there is one northbound Cicero avenue car, and when it finally does arrive it is already so jammed or there is such a large crowd waiting that you have to wait for the next one, only to meet the same conditions. It is thoroughly disgusting, and with the real cold weather coming on I wonder if something can't be done for those of us who really are compelled to use this line. DISGUSTED.

STOCK SHOW MEDITATION.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Visiting the live stock show Saturday afternoon I was amazed at the wonderful development of animal life which scientific breeding has produced. THE DECLINE OF GAELIC.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—A member of the Irish club of Notre Dame university takes issue with a correspondent in this department and states any one should know Cobh was pronounced as Cove. Dr. wing a parallel with the French phrase faux pas, he infers any educated person should know how to pronounce Gaelic. But why Gaelic? Ireland was not the only seat of learning; it had its day and passed. At present French and its pithy phrases are deservedly lingua franca among educated people. It possesses the required air of haut ton. Does the Notre Dame correspondent claim the same for Gaelic?

As one born in Ireland, in County Mayo, the region of the Gaeltacht, where Gaelic is spoken in its ancient purity, I venture that no Chinese or Yiddish convention could marshal such an assemblage of uncouth sounding aspirates and gutturals as those with which Gaelic offends the ear. Your correspondent professes admiration for the Gaelic script. Typographically its design is weak and unbalanced, and far less esthetically pleasing than Old English or manuscript Gothic. The famed Book of Kells' illuminated ornamentation is not Celtic, but of Scandian derivation, a conventionalization of the mythical Hawk of Odin.

The curious idea that revival of their ancient tongue should accompany their rehabilitation in the family of nations was one of the inferiority complexes suffered by small nations after the late war. In an age when communications were widening, making one common language increasingly desirable, myopically they actually retarded their people's development by stressing an outmoded language and culture. Yeats, Synge, Joyce, et al., are anathema to the Irish Free Staters, yet the fact is that, writing in English, they alone and not the proponents of Gaelic have given Ireland anything approaching a national literature. It is the peculiar genius of the Irish temperament to give to English a suppleness and undertone that is the despair of English writers rather than to work in an ancient medium which, however worthy, had its day and passed.

CHURCH WARNED OF OBSTACLES TO SOCIAL ADVANCE

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Representatives of 28 Protestant denominations of the country, meeting in a four day session at the Chicago Temple to study the relationship of city and church in the present crisis, yesterday discovered their early "solutions" of pressing issues to be the sources of more gnarled problems. The Federal Council of Churches and the Chicago Church Federation are sponsoring the conference jointly under the name of the National Home Mission council.

It developed that Christian churches are pre-committed to advanced social legislation, such as insurance for the idle, old age pensions, wider government control of resources and the like

Need for "Public Conscience."

But the churchmen were confronted at yesterday's meeting with a warning that the "public conscience" must be raised to new heights or new forces of political corruption will defeat the purposes of such advanced social legislation. The warning was sounded by James Mullenbach, arbitrator for the Chicago clothing trades.

In the meeting of the city-church division of the conference after Mr. Mullenbach's address, the Rev. William P. Shriver of New York, chairman of the division, conceded that Mr. Mullenbach's warning was well-founded, and said that the base problem to be solved by the churches was how to create a public conscience adequate to administer newer social legislation.

Mr. Mullenbach in discussing the breakdown of conscience in regard to public affairs pointed to tax dodging church members.

"Here is a Christian layman of unusual zeal," said Mr. Mullenbach. "He is the head of a big company, also director in a loop bank. In 1925 he paid an income tax of $224,571 while in 1930 he paid a personal property tax in Cook county of just $60."

Mr. Mullenbach then cited a number of cases in an effort to show good church people's consciences have not been trained to see that tax fixing through political influence "is a form of special privilege."

"The corruption that has proceeded through our common life by resort to 'pull' is providing the very condition that saps the foundations of our social order," he said.

"Business-Politics Hookup."

The hookup of big business and politics was given as prominent a place by Mr. Mullenbach as the alliance of crime and politics.

"Recently we had a disclosure of Mr. Insull's care for the key men in politics," he said. "Lists were published of local and national leaders who were given preferential treatment and were permitted to invest beforehand in his properties at low rates—much lower than when the stock went on the market.

"There has been no explanation of why political leaders were given preferred treatment, but Samuel Insull was too good a financier and politician to expect to bestow favors and receive none in return. None of these gentlemen has been so embarrassed by this revelation that he has resigned from his public office, and no hint of, nor call for, their resignations has been given by the public."

A Call for Church Guidance.

Family relations institutes under church auspices are becoming more and more prevalent in different denominations as a means of solving marital difficulties, it was revealed in the afternoon conference on family life. The session was led by the Rev. Worth M. Tippy, secretary of the commission on the church and social service of the Federal Council of Churches in Christ in America.

The discussion followed the reading of a paper, "The Fight for the Home Against Predatory Influences," by Prof. L. Foster Wood, secretary of the federal council's committee on marriage and the home.

"Unless the church can make ethical and religious impulses felt in all the activities of life," said Prof. Wood, "I do not see how the church can command the enthusiastic allegiance of the highest minded people in years to come."

"One-Track Solution Inadequate."

In the conference discussion as to the desirability of family relations institutes within the churches, Prof. Wood declared that the one-track type of solution of human problems has not been enough. There has been growing up gradually, he said, a more composite understanding of the nature of personality problems in individual churches and much good has been done.

SWANSON AND 3 ASSISTANTS TO FORM LAW FIRM

State's Attorney to Quit Office Saturday.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson announced yesterday that he would enter the private practice of law with three of his present assistants at the completion of his term. Mr. Swanson will vacate his office in the Criminal Court building on Saturday, to be succeeded on Monday by State's Attorney Elect Thomas J. Courtney.

Those who will make up the new law firm with Attorney Swanson are Assistant State's Attorneys Walker Butler, a holdover in office from the Crowe regime; Homer Dodge, specialist in civil law, and Wilkie Ham, bank and financial law expert.

Butler to Prosecute "Iggy."

The firm will be known as Swanson, Butler, Dodge & Ham, and will have offices at 111 West Washington street. Prosecutor Butler will remain until the completion of the murder trial of James [Iggy] Vaecha.

"I'm leaving the hardest job I have ever had," State's Attorney Swanson said yesterday. "I have no regrets and feel that I have made a good record.

"I have not left any 'lemons' for the new state's attorney to try, and I wish him well. I think he will find that the job is no snap."

Sixteen Years in Public Life.

The opening of the new law firm will mark the return to private practice of Attorney Swanson after 16 years in public life. He was elected a Municipal Judge in 1916 and served until 1921, when he was elected judge of the Circuit court. He left the bench to become state's attorney in 1928.

The organization of another law firm made up of present assistant state's attorneys was announced yesterday. The firm will be made up of John E. Northup, who prosecuted the sanitary district "whoopee" case; Grenville Beardsley and Henry Seyferth.

GENEVA, Nov. 30.—This week-end will see in Geneva the first conference of importance since the Lausanne reparations parley. The meeting will be primarily to discuss the problem raised by Germany's demand for equality in armaments.

Among those who will attend are Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Norman H. Davis, American disarmament delegate, who are due here Friday, and Premier Herriot of France and Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, who are due Saturday. Italy will also be represented.

Continue Stimson Negotiations.

The conference is represented as a continuation of Secretary of State Stimson's negotiations last summer at the Manor Bessinge, near here, where Germany's claims were first broached. Now Davis will attempt to bring to fruition Stimson's labors to get France and Germany into an agreement on a formula of equality, and France and Italy into the London naval treaty.

Then the American delegation, it is emphasized here, will be ready to have the achievements of the disarmament conference, such as they are, put down on paper at once and the conference closed. These achievements would be expected to include some realization of the pious principles accepted by the conference in July, such as a ban on aerial bombardment and chemical warfare. A permanent disarmament commission would be formed to function while the real disarmament problems of continental Europe are worked out.

U. S. Would Back Out.

Then the American delegation, it is said, would be glad to step down and abandon the rôle of big brother and schoolmaster. It would assist in its efforts to make the French army fit the Hoover yardstick and would let Europe handle its own disarmament problems.

It is generally conceded that the rôle which the American delegation says it is ready to abandon has become uncomfortable, if not actually untenable, due to the war debt situation. President Hoover's prestige at the disarmament conference thus far has been essentially a creditor's prestige. The French particularly have persisted in seeing in his pressure upon them implications about the war debts. Attempts to continue such pressure, it is conceded, might be either ineffective or result in embarrassment to Washington in debt dealings.

GIRLS' "SIX STAR" CLUB HELPS FEED HUNGRY PUPILS

Dollar Will Buy Lunches for 20 Students.

A business like letter reached the Hungry School Children's fund yesterday. Affixed to the letter in their bold juvenile handwriting were the signatures of six girls.

"Dear Sirs," the letter began. "Our '6 Star club' is enclosing one dollar which we have raised from our club house dues. We hope that this money will serve to buy a few lunches for hungry children. Sincerely yours, Nancy Pierson, captain; Peggy Pierson, Marjorie Pope, Betsy Wilson, Elizabeth King, Evelyn Smith."

If you have ever been a member of a club when you were small you'll know, then, how much fun those six girls had in giving their gift to the Hungry School Children's fund. They don't say so, but it is very probable that they did without refreshments, or didn't buy something they wanted very specially—just in order to feed a few hungry children. Their dollar will feed 20 children some noon this week.

Yesterday's contributions to the Hungry School Children's fund were:

$5—Mrs. Aaron Straus, Mrs. Joseph K. Frank.
$4—Mrs. P. L. Gerling.
$3—Room 1927, Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin, Mrs. Ida D. Wile.
$2—Anonymous. Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Hay.
$1—Mrs. J. N. D. Anonymous. To the memory of Jimmie. C. H. F. The "6 Star club."

By his own preference, Judge Henry Horner, governor elect, spent his entire 54th birthday yesterday engaged in self-imposed labors. There wasn't even a birthday dinner.

M. F. CUDAHY ASKS DIVORCE; SAYS WIFE CRUEL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Michael F. Cudahy, member of the wealthy packing family, filed suit in Circuit court today for a divorce from Alice Dickson Cudahy, who he married July 15, 1921, in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., while on a yachting trip with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Uihlein. He asks custody of his son, Richard Cudahy, 6, claiming his wife is not a fit person to care for the child.

His suit is based on charges of cruelty. The complanant says among other things, that his wife nagged him and neglected her home by traveling excessively.

Summons in the divorce action were served in August on Mrs. Cudahy while she was at her summer home on the shore of Oconomowoc lake. It was not filed here until today.

A suit filed Aug. 10 against Mrs. Cudahy for $353 in back salary a chauffeur alleged she owed him first disclosed the marital rift in the family. Mrs. Cudahy, testifying in the civil suit, said a divorce action was pending and she was unable to pay the chauffeur until an alimony agreement had been reached.

In the divorce action Cudahy charges his wife is of "neurotic and unstable disposition, engrossed in the pursuit of selfish personal interests;" that she is "willful, capricious, perverse, intolerant and reckless of the viewpoints, wishes and welfare of other people;" and that she is "chronically dissatisfied with the condition of her life and continually complains."

WHEN YOUR STOMACH RUNS AN HOUR SLOW

Most "indigestion" has been found imaginary! The pains and gas and all that misery are real, of course. But nine times in ten they are symptoms only of slow stomach.

Did you know you can regulate your stomach to empty in six hours, as it should? That this is as easy as moving the bowels?

One box of Pape's Diapepsin will test your stomach and correct your digestion time in a couple of days—at a cost of twenty-five cents.

Each tablet of diapepsin saves the stomach half an hour's labor.

If your stomach is an hour slow, two tablets will remedy the trouble. Then eat anything. Baked beans every noon if you like them, and lobster at midnight suppers. They will digest like crackers and milk in a six-hour stomach!

Pape's Diapepsin is good for you, because it stimulates the gastric flow. Use it freely until the stomach is working right without any help. When it slows down, take diapepsin again for a day or two. This helps coffee drinkers and hard smokers, too.

Gentlemen:

Attention - Mr. W. E. Donahue

Our 140 x 2 ad on Boucle Wool Knit Dresses which ran in the Tribune only on Wednesday, November 2nd, brought out an interesting point of information to us.

For many years we have been laboring under the theory that a morning newspaper does not bring results before 11:00 A.M. on the day of insertion.

That theory no longer exists with us. On the above mentioned ad we were rushed from 9:00 A.M. to 5:30 P.M. By 11:00 A.M. we were completely sold out on sizes 12 and 20.

We sold 800 dresses on Wednesday and 500 more on Thursday.... in all 1300 dresses directly attributable to the ad, and they are still coming in today. The accompanying photograph of the sale shows the kind of crowd that The Daily Tribune packed in our store from the moment the doors opened. Other departments also benefited from the traffic.

Such steady all-day sales with big carry-over into the next day have been equaled, in our experience, by only one other newspaper....The Sunday Tribune!

Yours very truly,

LANE BRYANT

E. Winkelman
ELO
Manager

This is the kind of crowd that the Tribune ad packed into Lane Bryant's store from the moment the doors opened on Wednesday.

ON Wednesday, November 2, Lane Bryant ran the accompanying advertisement in the Chicago Tribune.

"We were rushed from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.," writes Emanuel Winkelman, manager of Lane Bryant. "By 11:00 a. m. we were completely sold out on sizes 12 and 20.

"We sold 800 dresses on Wednesday and 500 more on Thursday . . . in all 1,300 dresses directly attributable to the ad, and they are still coming in today. The accompanying photograph of the sale shows the kind of crowd that the Daily Tribune packed in our store from the moment the doors opened. Other departments also benefited from the traffic.

"Such steady all-day sales with big carry-over into the next day have been equaled, in our experience, by only one other newspaper—the Sunday Tribune!"

Results!—get them immediately, at low cost, by concentrating your advertising in the Chicago Tribune! Lane Bryant used less than a column of advertising space in the Tribune and sold 1,300 dresses in two days!

The next few weeks will bring to Chicago merchants the biggest selling opportunity of all the year. Don't handicap your chances to get your full share of the business available. Place your advertising in the Chicago newspaper whose coverage, daily and Sunday, can get the sales action in Chicago and suburbs that you need—the Chicago Tribune!

CHARGES GROSS WASTE BY BOARD OF MORTON HIGH

Civic Groups Join to Fight for Reforms.

Charges of gross financial mismanagement and educational inefficiency on the part of the J. Sterling Morton High school board were made public last night by Jerome J. Cerny, president of the Cicero Rotary club. Mr. Cerny declared his club had voted unanimously to carry on a fight against the board until conditions were remedied and that 13 other organizations had assured him of their support.

Citizens' Group Makes Charges.

The stand of the Rotary club against the school board, which is headed by Frank A. Svoboda, was taken after a committee of citizens living in the Morton school district, which includes Cicero and Berwyn, had investigated board affairs and formulated a report. This report was read at an executive session of the club. Among the specific charges made were:

1. The school board is operating without a budget and has evaded all demands that one be drawn up and adopted.

2. In the face of a current deficit of $700,000 the board members are increasing instead of reducing expenses.

3. Disregarding the deficit and the likelihood that it will grow the board has reduced its tax levy by $216,000.

Demands Put Before Board.

Charles H. Coyle, a retired Berwyn lumber dealer and chairman of the investigating committee, said that the report had been given to the members of the board of education and that after each member had read it he appeared at a board meeting and demanded that a budget be adopted.

"After an hour's discussion," Mr. Coyle continued, "it was voted to meet all our demands. It was promised that a budget would be prepared and that it would contain a drastic reduction in all expenses. This budget was to be ready in two weeks. The two weeks have passed and there is no budget. The board's purpose is clearly to stall and evade."

The Coyle report drew a comparison between costs in the Morton High school and in two Chicago institutions of similar rank. It stated that the cost per pupil per year, for educational purposes only, was $185.12 a year at Morton, $113.85 at Austin High school, and only $91 at Crane High school.

Mr. Cerny said the Rotary club was not interested in politics from any partisan standpoint, but that the evidence of "political manipulation" was clear and that the Rotarians considered it their duty to try to clear the reputation and increase the efficiency of Morton High. He asserted that the Berwyn Kiwanis club, the Berwyn Lions club, and the American Legion posts of both Cicero and Berwyn had assured him of their support in getting a balanced budget for the institution.

Reviews Her Work

On her 78th birthday yesterday Mary McDowell reviewed nearly 40 years as head resident of the University of Chicago settlement and declared that her efforts in behalf of the underprivileged have been worth the effort.

"I am 78 years old," she said, then hastened to add, "But I really feel young in my heart."

Then Miss McDowell explained why she believed her tireless work with the people of her settlement had been worth while.

"Such crises as we have been going through prove that settlement workers are useful," she said. "There has been a great improvement in morale. There is more courage and the increased time to think is being used to good purpose. The people are able to keep their heads."

Miss McDowell also had a word for the young people, declaring that "they aren't nearly as bad as they generally are made out to be."

1,000 4-H CLUB MEMBERS VISIT HARVESTER WKS.

More than 1,000 members of the 4-H club, meeting here in national congress yesterday, made the club's 13th annual visit to the International Harvester company, where they were guests at luncheon. They were welcomed by Alexander Legge, president of the company. George A. Ranney, vice president, made the principal address.

"You boys and girls in the next few years are going to be grown men and women living in normal times," said Mr. Ranney. "It will be helpful then if you now keep in touch with and remember some of the economic troubles and upheavals that have been and are occurring."

Mr. Ranney predicted that "prosperity is coming back to the United States and these better times must come first to the farmer."

"You are living in what is probably the most interesting and critical time in the world's modern history," he told the boys and girls.

The annual 4-H club play was presented by members last night in the Auditorium theater. The play, in nine parts, was called "A 4-H Kaleidoscope."

LAWYER GLAESER GETS PRISON FOR REALTY SWINDLE

Sentenced on 4 Charges After Plea of Guilty.

Charles F. Glaeser, 56 years old, attorney and real estate operator, was sentenced to the penitentiary yesterday by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court for defrauding clients of $677,135 in fake mortgage deals.

Glaeser withdrew a plea of not guilty and admitted his guilt. He was then sentenced to a term of one to ten years on a charge of operating a confidence game and to a term of one to twenty years on a charge of issuing fictitious mortgage notes. These two sentenced will run consecutively.

Two other sentences of one to twenty years on charges of issuing fictitious mortgage notes were made to run concurrently with the first sentence on that charge. The sentences insure a minimum of seven years in the penitentiary for Glaeser, court attaches said.

Wife Weeps in Court.

Glaeser's wife and one of his two daughters wept openly as four of the fifty-seven complainants took the witness stand and told of their losses. The defendant sat with bowed head as he listened to the testimony of those he had defrauded, all friends of long standing.

The witnesses called and their losses are: Dr. Thomas S. Noble, a dentist at 1430 Leland avenue, $105,000; Mrs. Marie Heinrich, $28,500; Peter Dienhart, 70 years old, 4609 North Rockwell street, $54,900; and Mrs. Elizabeth Burt, 6530 Dorchester avenue, $25,400.

"Where do you live?" Prosecutor Henry Ayers asked Mrs. Heinrich, a widow.

"I used to live at 2607 Blaine place," she answered, "but since I lost that money I have no place to go. I am living on charity. I knew Mr. Glaeser for 35 years and we visited back and forth. I lost everything I had and now I don't know what to do."

Methods Bared in Confession.

The prosecution of Glaeser was started on Oct. 4, when he walked into the office of State's Attorney Swanson and offered his voluntary confession. The system used by Glaeser, set forth in the confession, was to issue fraudulent notes on nonexistent real estate and sell them to his friends. He paid interest on old notes by making new forged documents, Glaeser said.

OFFICIALS FORBID "HUNGER MARCH" ON CAPITOL HILL

Extra Police Guard Is Provided.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Capital officials began today to prepare for an invasion by about two thousand "hunger marchers" who plan, it is said, for a demonstration as congress convenes next Monday.

There will be no parade on Capitol hill, and Maj. Ernest W. Brown, new superintendent of police, has canceled all leaves for policemen, effective on Sunday. That day the "hunger army" is due.

Those in Charge.

The capitol committee, composed of David Barry, sergeant at arms of the senate; Kenneth Romney, sergeant at arms of the house, and David Lynn, architect of the capitol, met today with Supt. Brown.

Mr. Romney said they decided no federal troops will be necessary, although the question of asking for them was discussed. The committee, however, authorized a special additional police guard of 100 for duty Monday.

Any attempt by the "hunger marchers" to hold an organized parade in the capitol grounds will be prohibited, although the right of individuals to enter those grounds will not be questioned, but all banners will be barred.

The board of district commissioners and the corporation counsel have sought a legal bar to keep the "hunger army" from outside this city. Police will be stationed at every road leading into the city, it was said, to prohibit the marchers from "parading without a permit."

As the "hunger marchers" are reported to be traveling by passenger automobiles and truck officials were said to be planning a strict enforcement of municipal traffic regulations, particularly those prohibiting parking of vehicles overnight.

Reports that the "hunger army" is essentially communistic led municipal officials to seek aid of the department of justice. Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, police commissioner, who conferred with Assistant Attorney General Nugent Dodds, said the federal government intends to take no part of the responsibility. He declared after the conference:

"We don't know any more now than when we started."

You need this rest —and need it now!

AMERICAN DOCTORS at a recent convention broadcast this warning: "If the public realized the part played by nervous tension, overwork and worry in causing high blood pressure and diseases of the digestive system, there would be more vacations and fewer hospital visits."

A brief summer vacation is not enough in times like the present. A winter vacation is a shrewd investment . . . in energy, health and new ideas. Moreover, it's a glorious experience nobody can ever take away from you. You'll come back a new man. And nowhere else will you find so many ways to have a good time as in Southern California.

More to Enjoy

Less to Pay

In this year 'round vacationland you escape the "peak prices" necessary in one-season resorts. Costs while here, normally about 16% below the U. S. average, and costs of getting here (see your local travel agent about new low westbound rates) have now been further drastically reduced. So don't be content with less than Southern California offers:

Soft, warm sand and balmy breezes on sun-soaked Pacific beaches . . . pleasure-islands off-shore . . . sailing, deep-sea fishing, gay regattas. Golden orange groves and sub-tropical gardens below snow-crowned mountains. Golf, riding, swimming at desert resorts . . . every sport outdoors all winter. Gaiety of Hollywood evenings . . . of nearby Old Mexico. Big, cosmopolitan Los Angeles, with famous boulevards through sunny valleys to ancient Spanish Missions . . . to amazing modern cities like Beverly Hills, Pasadena, Glendale, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Pomona . . . scores more.

All this and more awaits you here. You need it now. Come early, make it yours, this winter!

Walgreen Leases Monroe and Dearborn Corner.

With the leasing of the corner space in the Westminster building to the Walgreen company yesterday for a ten year term, and the closing of three other leases in the Insull block of properties bounded by Adams, Clark, Monroe, and Dearborn, Earle Shultz, manager of the several big office buildings composing this group, announced yesterday that the store rental situation has picked up sharply during the last six weeks. In addition the class of tenants is higher than formerly, he states. Mr. Shultz is a former president of the Building Managers' Association of Chicago.

With these leases closed and the completion of the two under negotiation. Mr. Shultz states that all of the stores in the Marquette, Edison, Chicago Trust, and Westminster buildings will be occupied.

Perhaps the most interesting angle to this activity is the fact that the four leases already made and the two about to be closed will have a total minimum guaranteed rental of $60,000 a year, which is 60 per cent of the 1928, or peak, prices. This means, of course, that with an upturn in business, rentals should quickly move towards the old peak and perhaps surpass it.

Says Turn's Been Made.

"There's no question but what the turn has been made in loop store rentals," said Mr. Shultz. "There's been a definite sharp upturn during the last six weeks. We've had no difficulty in renting our vacant space; in fact, there's been four or more applicants for every one of the six.

"It's apparent that these tenants also feel that the turn has been made and are getting ready to take advantage of it as soon as business picks up by securing good loop locations while they're available."

The space just leased by Walgreen fronts thirty-five feet on Dearborn and forty-four feet on Monroe. This is being completely remodeled at a cost of approximately $15,000. The basement space will be used later on for restaurant purposes. The lease begins today, but the lessee probably won't be able to occupy the store until the middle of this month.

Marquette Building Lease.

One of the other leases reported by Mr. Shultz is the store at 58 West Adams street, in the Marquette building, rented to the Palmer Dress Shops, a new organization composed of the same interests that were identified with the former Palmer Apparel Shops. The new group recently opened four outlying stores. This will be the first loop unit. The term is ten years. As in the Walgreen lease and the others, this is on a percentage and minimum guaranteed basis.

A third lease was made to Albert L. Jacobs, who is to open a men's clothing store at 105 South Clark street, in the old Chicago Trust company building. His lease is for five years beginning Jan. 1, but he will open for business prior to that date. He at one time operated three stores, at 87 West Van Buren, 181 West Washington, and 115 West Madison, all as the "Blackstone Clothiers." He retired from business two or three years ago and is now reentering the same field.

The fourth lease is at 116 South Dearborn, in the Westminster building, to the Royal Tailors, for five years. Recently new interests took over the original lease and operate the store under the same name.

ASKS 2D HAND AUTO BUYERS TO AID THEFT DRIVE

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS

[From police records for 24 hour period ending at midnight Tuesday.]

Automobiles stolen, 83; recovered, 75; stripped, 43. Automobile larceny defendants held to grand jury: Joseph Serio, Frank Lizaja, Andy Kohler, and Ralph Tamel by Judge J. William Brooks.

Lieut. George Teeling of the police automobile detail, issued an appeal to the public yesterday to coöperate with the police in reducing the number of automobile thefts.

"The public can help us materially, for it is the public that is the ultimate buyer of stolen automobiles and accessories," said Lieut. Teeling.

"Any citizen buying a second hand car—unless of a recognized, reputable dealer—should call at the nearest police station with the automobile he plans to purchase. Two policemen are assigned at each station on stolen car investigations and they will tell the buyer within a few minutes whether the car has been stolen. That is good insurance for the prospective buyer. Buyers should not telephone, but appear in person and with the cars."

Lieut. Teeling said that hundreds of honest persons buy stolen cars innocently, but he warned that the law provides a penalty of 180 days in jail and a minimum fine of $200 for the innocent as well as the knowing buyer of a stolen automobile.

INDIANA POLICE AWAIT RANSOM NOTE FROM TRIPP CHILD STEALER

Rensselaer, Ind., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—A ransom note is awaited by Jasper county authorities following the kidnaping, two days ago, of Patricia Pearl Tripp, 4 years old, from the farm home of her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin Smith, two miles southwest of here.

Charles Halleck, prosecuting attorney of Jasper county, and Sheriff Tone Kanne have found few clews.

State police patrol the roads leading into the Calumet district and the Chicago metropolitan area.

Mrs. Smith is of the opinion the child was transferred to another auto soon after the abductor speeded away from their home. They believe she is being held unharmed not far from Rensselaer.

Blond, blue eyed and with fair complexion, Patricia Pearl is 3 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 37 pounds. She wore only a print dress and slippers and stockings when kidnaped.

A. F. OF L. BACKS JOB INSURANCE AT CONVENTION

Votes for Modification Now, Then Repeal.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Completely reversing its former stands the American Federation of Labor today declared its support of a system of unemployment insurance.

It accepted its executive council's plan for such compulsory insurance, paid for by industry and administered by the state and, as they did in calling for the six hour day and five day week, delegates backed their plans with threats of strikes and boycotts.

"We will go out and fight for our program," President William Green had declared, and other speakers had urged that "just as our president threatened 'force' in gaining our other 'demands' so we can resort to 'force' in the interest of unemployment relief."

Green had explained in referring to his threat of "force" that he meant "economic force"—strikes, boycotts and picketing.

Take Wet Stand.

The federation convention then supported "immediate modification of the Volstead act" and "repeal of the 18th amendment as rapidly as that can be brought about."

Just one year ago, the federation threw out three resolutions for unemployment insurance.

Today, motivated by what leaders called "needs of the hour," it rallied to fight along a national front for such a plan.

But its recommendation was not expressed unanimously. In lengthy and often heated debate several delegates declared the costs would only ultimately fall on labor, and some preferred to "use economic power (strikes and boycotts) to make industry furnish jobs, rather than to have it provide insurance." William Green, president of the federation, defended the plan but agreed "employment would be better."

"But," he shouted, "if denied the opportunity to work, from a social point of view what are we going to do with the unemployed? Unemployment insurance is the answer."

Urge Paying Teachers.

The Chicago public schools got into the record again when a resolution was adopted urging "the government and banks of Chicago to act immediately to end the intolerable situation that exists in Chicago by furnishing money to pay the city and school employes salaries now long past due."

REVEAL $460,000 LODGE LOTTERY PROFITS AT TRIAL

Prosecutor Claims No Prizes Were Awarded.

New York, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Conrad H. Mann, president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, divided $460,000 with a New York promoter as the profits of a lottery they staged for the Fraternal Order of Eagles in 1931, it was testified today at their trial in the federal building. Both, with their respective assistants, are charged with violating federal lottery statutes.

The lottery tickets, which were sold by members of the Eagles, paid but $75,000 in prizes.

Checks Offered in Evidence.

Checks to Mann and B. C. McGuire, the promoter, for $230,000 each, were offered in evidence. The contract under which they agreed to split the profits of the project, called charitable in literature distributed to lodge members, was read into the record earlier in the day.

Also placed in evidence were books of tickets to be sold by members of the Eagles. These contained fifty tickets each. They granted admission to a dance or other entertainment and permitted the holders to participate in drawings for cash prizes of $75,000. Louis Mead Treadwell, assistant United States attorney conducting the prosecution, declared in his opening address to the jury that not one cent went for prizes.

The men on trial with Mann and McGuire are Frank E. Hering of South Bend, editor of the Eagles' Magazine, who had a contract under the terms of which he was to receive a third of Mr. Mann's share of the profits, and Raymond Walsh, an associate of McGuire in promotion for fraternal organizations.

The contract was presented during the testimony of Eugene J. Balsinger, deputy auditor for the Eagles. He identified both contracts and tickets. The contract was made, he said, at a meeting where McGuire said he had put over a fund raising project for the Loyal Order of Moose and believed he could do as much for the Eagles.

Prizes Mentioned, He Claims.

"Wasn't the award of prizes mentioned?" asked Mr. Treadwell.

"In the matter of stimulating ticket selling—yes," said Mr. Balsinger.

According to Balsinger, Mann first met McGuire in Chicago in December, 1930, when "McGuire told him he had just closed a deal with the Loyal Order of Moose and tried to interest him in the venture." Later, Balsinger said, a contract was signed.

He was needlessly terrified

by a disease which proper treatment now is curing

This poor fellow was sick with fear when he became convinced that he had contracted syphilis. Immediately there flashed into his mind all the stories he had heard . . . that syphilis was incurable, that it was almost certain to result in blindness, insanity or paralysis, that a man infected with it could never marry, and that the treatment was worse than the disease itself!

Fortunately, he told his troubles to a sensible friend, who advised him to put himself into the hands of a competent physician and stop worrying. Now he is being cured of his infection with little discomfort and with no interference to his work. Every trace of terror has been banished from his mind, and he looks forward to a happy marriage and a lifetime of health and success.

There is, of course, no denying the seriousness of neglected syphilis. It may in time lead to heart disease, nervous breakdowns, apoplexy, blindness, paralysis or even insanity! And untreated syphilis is a major cause of still-born, deformed and feeble-minded babies.

Gonorrhea, too, can have tragic results if permitted to go uncured. It may eventually be the cause of sterility, crippling rheumatism, or other serious complications. Moreover, neglected gonorrhea is responsible for most infantile blindness and the greater part of the mutilating pelvic operations performed on women.

Both diseases, however, can be cured if promptly and properly treated. Hence every man who has an active venereal disease, or who has cause to believe that an old infection still exists, should not lose a day in consulting his family physician or in coming to the Public Health Institute!

Even those who have no reason whatever to think they have syphilis should take the precaution of being examined. For syphilis can be acquired innocently and thus exist without the individual's knowledge. Hospitals and clinics, through their routine tests, are constantly finding syphilis in men, women and children who never had the slightest cause to suspect infection.

Founded NOT FOR PROFIT by civic minded Chicagoans, the Public Health Institute has for twelve years been giving efficient treatment for venereal diseases at extremely low fees. It has separate departments for both men and women, where treatment is administered in absolute privacy by experienced physicians who have been licensed by the State Board of Medical Examiners. A complete examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including Wassermann and Kahn blood tests, costs only $3.00, while six consecutive treatments for gonorrhea cost but $4.00. Even those lacking immediate funds will be accommodated.

The sufferer from a venereal disease who places himself in the hands of a qualified physician has little to worry about. Discomfort will be minimized, treatments will be given at his convenience, and fees will be adjusted to his means. Therefore he should not permit his infection to undermine him physically and mentally, but should go at once to his physician or come to the Public Health Institute!

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those run for personal gain!

PAYMENTS BY 138 CLOSED BANKS TOTAL 58 MILLION

The 138 closed state banks in the county have paid off public liabilities of $58,099,555 since their closing. This was announced yesterday by State Auditor Oscar Nelson. Of the total, $35,960,390 was paid to depositors and $22,139,164 was paid on bills payable, to recover collateral of greater value pledged for loans. The total public liability of the banks was reduced from $199,197,330 at the time of their closing to $141,097,775 on Oct. 1.

Payments to depositors have been made by fifty-nine of the 138 closed banks. Payments are to be made before Christmas by twenty-seven banks, fifteen of which have not previously paid dividends. These payments will raise the number of paying banks so far to seventy-four.

Payments to depositors by the 59 banks that have already made them consisted of $7,687,902 in preferred dividends, $16,126,795 in common dividends, and $12,145,693 in offsets where depositors owed amounts equal to or less than their deposits. On Oct. 1 the 138 banks had cash on hand of $6,651,960, which receivers have been ordered to pay as quickly as each has enough to make 5 per cent distribution.

Conversion Loss 10 Per Cent.

Assets in the period between the closing of the banks and Oct. 1 were reduced from $261,278,818 to $183,391,187. Of this $77,887,630 reduction $8,469,784 was lost in conversion of assets to cash. About $5,000,000 represented losses due to forced sale of collateral which had been posted for loans. The conversion loss was 10 per cent. Assets were reduced 29.8 per cent and public liabilities 29.1 per cent.

Receivers' salaries were $571,049, or .94 of 1 per cent of the $60,799,638 collected. Attorneys' fees were $1,033,109, or 1.7 per cent of the collections. Gross expense of collections was $4,579,804, or 7.5 per cent. Operating income from rents, interest and other sources was $3,807,930, making the net cost $771,874, or 1.2 per cent. In 51 banks the operating income exceeded the cost of receivership.

The state auditor made public the reports of receivers on the 19 closed banks whose condition had not previously been reported. The reports give the financial condition of the banks on Sept. 30.

NEW YORK CITY ASKS SPECIAL ASSEMBLY SESSION ON FINANCES

New York, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Convinced at last that the city is in a desperate financial situation, the board of estimate today voted to petition the governor to call a special session of the legislature immediately to remove mandatory salary legislation and make city pay cuts possible. At the same time the board declared its determination to remain in executive session every day until a program of economy and retrenchment is worked out to the satisfaction of the city and its bankers.

Acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee was instructed to appoint a committee to lay the situation before Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and ask him to summon the legislature. Repeal of all the present mandatory salary provisions, leaving the municipal assembly in full control over all salaries and grades, is the first necessary step toward reducing municipal salaries all down the line.

Acting Mayor McKee went before a meeting of departmental heads at city hall today, presumably to tell them they would have to spend considerably less than the 1933 budget allows them.

If salaries were scaled down 10 per cent it would mean a reduction of $30,000,000 in the budget next year and a consequent decline of 15 points in the tax rate.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

Saves $2. So Easy! No Cooking!

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive relief. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, clears the air passages, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in severe coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, used for generations for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

JOHN CRERAR, 75, FOUNDER OF COAL COMPANY, DEAD

Leader in Chicago Business Affairs for Years.

John Crerar, founder of the coal mining and shipping concern of Crerar Clinch & Co., and for many years one of Chicago's business leaders, died yesterday in his suburban home at 900 East Illnois road, Lake Forest. He was 75 years old and had been an invalid for five years.

Mr. Crerar was born in Pictou, Nova Scotia, on Nov. 7, 1857, a son of John and Jane Haton Crerar. He was educated in England and Scotland and began work in a Glasgow ship owner's office. He came to Chicago in 1879 and obtained a job with the Joliet Steel company, where he remained until 1889 when he went into the coal business. He and R. Floyd Clinch formed their partnership in 1889. Since his retirement ten years ago Mr. Crerar spent much of his time in travel.

Active in Club Circles.

He was for many years a trustee of St. Luke's hospital, a director of the Auditorium association and a member of the English Speaking union and the Chicago, Onwentsia, Saddle and Cycle, Casino clubs here, and the Canada club, London.

As a youth in Scotland Mr. Crerar attended the Inverness academy and Glasgow university, where he was a member of the crew. Later he served four years in the First Lanarkshire rifles.

His marriage in 1900 to Marie G. Owens was a social event of that season in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Crerar established their home in one of Chicago's "grand mansions," at 1901 Prairie avenue, where they lived for sixteen years. The residence, noted for its elaborate interior, was demolished three years ago.

Hold Services Tomorrow.

In addition to the widow, two daughters, Mrs. M. C. Downs, now in Europe, and Mrs. John Dane of New York survive.

Funeral services will be held in the Chicago residence of the family at 209 Lake Shore drive at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be at Rosehill.

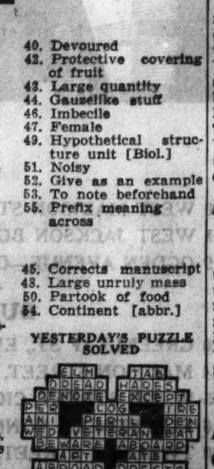
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



GANG BULLETS SPRAY STATION; WOMAN IS SHOT

Toledo, O., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Nine .45 caliber bullets gone astray crashed through the windows of the Toledo interurban station tonight and imperiled the lives of bystanders when a gang of men in an automobile fired shots from two machine guns into another car in which Miss Louise Bell, 28, was wounded, probably fatally.

The machine gunners fled at high speed toward Detroit, with police in pursuit.

None of the persons in the station was struck by the bullets, and Jack Kennedy, 24, described by police as a bootlegger, who was in the automobile with Miss Bell, also escaped injury. He was taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Miss Bell was shot in the head and doctors said she had little chance of recovery.

The shooting was witnessed by scores of citizens, who dodged to cover as the firing began.

They said there were three or four men in a small coupe from which the shots were fired and that the car bore Michigan license plates.

SHOOT CASHIER, ROB BREWERY OFFICE OF $1,332

Six men armed with shotguns entered the office of the Prima company, brewers at 825 Blackhawk street, and escaped with $1,332 yesterday afternoon after shooting one employé and terrorizing fourteen others.

The wounded man is Frank Powers, 32 years old, 7135 South Michigan avenue, cashier for the company. At the Alexian Brothers' hospital, where he was taken, Powers said that a shotgun charge was fired into his legs because the bandits considered him too slow in opening a vault door.

Climbing the stairs to the office on the second floor, the bandit gang guarded all the exits. While four of them kept their guns leveled at the other workers, two took charge of Powers and forced him to work the combination to the vault. It is believed they fled in an automobile which they had parked outside.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Caroline Place, and a son, Walter, both of Whiting. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow from the home. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery, Hammond.

Erskine Tries Funny Bone on Another Tale

"Tristan and Isolde" Title of New Work.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Tristan and Isolde," by John Erskine. (Bobbs-Merrill.) Published today.

IN his joyous fashion of kidding the time honored tales of traditional love, youth, beauty, and vigor, John Erskine tells the story of the two greatest lovers of tradition in "Tristan and Isolde." He has dispensed with the love potion business, injected a young Saracen by the name of Palamede into the picture, and made of the story of the passion of Tristan and Isolde and its consequences a tapestry of the fashions and infidelities of the dark ages, a tapestry which the young infidel looks upon with some disillusionment, since he has been brought up in a good heathen household by Jaafar, a captured Christian slave who had been sent out with other youths to rescue the sepulcher from the infidels.

JOHN ERSKINE.

Jaafar's panegyrics about a land of great trees fired the imagination of the desert born lad, and his panegyrics about the pure love of Christian knights for beautiful maidens in distress fired the yearnings of the boy to see with his own eyes love more ennobled than the comfortable matings of his parents and their neighbors. So Palamede set out to find romance in the far lands of the north.

The high moment of his career was reached when, after seeing how Christians behaved, he got himself baptized and, thus properly equipped, exclaimed: "I'm off to Cornwall this minute to take her from her husband, like any other Christian!" For Palamede fell in love with Isolde and admired her from afar and dedicated himself to her service, much after the fashion of the traditional Tristan in his more spiritual moments, while the Tristan in Mr. Erskine's tale was a gentleman with something of a wayward eye for the ladies—for other ladies as well as for his ideal. Tristan treats Isolde with a high hand in Mr. Erskine's version of the tale. King Mark is present, of course, but not as the traditional adorer of his wife, Isolde. He, too, has a hard time not responding when R. S. V. P. glances are turned on him by the ladies. The story of Tristan's marriage to the other Isolde is a mere incident in this version, and Tristan is wounded unto death by the hand of Palamede because he traduced Isolde, and he dies with the help of a hermit who also loved the lady. No white and black sail business there, either.

In other words, Mr. Erskine has extracted the tragic love from the story of Tristan and Isolde, just as the venom can be extracted from a snake without making its little sharp fangs any the less active in their darting. In and out the fangs of Mr. Erskine' wit dart, striking the reader, tickling him rather than making any permanent mark upon him. "Tristan and Isolde" is, like "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," amusing without being in any sense moving. Its amusing ending is characteristic of the whole book. Brangain, Isolde's cousin, who loves Palamede, though he does not know it—being a somewhat dumb young man emotionally and very romantically in love with Isolde—rushes out to tell Palamede the sad news of Tristan's death.

When she does not find him she asks a hermit where he has gone. "To the Holy Land," says the hermit. She asks: "Where is that?" When the hermit would not reply she "called down to the sympathetic mariners: 'Where is the Holy Land? Get me a horse!'"

"Tristan and Isolde" will amuse you subtly. But a frankly funny book likewise sees the light of day today. Do you remember a bowling volume last year called "1066 and All That," a comically muddled history of the world? The same authors, Walter Carruthers Sellar and Robert Julian Yeatman, have written in "And Now All This" (Dutton) a "hole pocket treasury of absolutely general knowledge" which will tell the reader (so the authors say) "about all you know, and you will be surprised to find how little you have to learn."

The authors discuss in a mixture of pun and fun such subjects as food, about which they observe: "Yet man continues to jeopardize his future with alcohol and protocol"; polar exploration, where "you will encounter mountain penguins, fountain penguins, and many other strange beasts"; psycho-babycraft, a profound truth of which they observe in "if you want a drink the first time you feel thirsty you will find in later life that you will always feel thirsty whenever you want a drink."

Some Hats for Dinner

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — With semi-evening fashions playing such an important rôle in Parisian life, dinner hats are getting a lot of attention from French modistes. The type of hat that is worn to dinner, and on to the theater, is invariably nothing but a small cap that reveals its identity by its trimming of flowers or feathers, or by its own rich fabric, if it is untrimmed.

The new forage cap is the most thrilling of these dinner chapeaux, and in the sketch today are shown three of these caps, from Louise Bourbon. In the upper part of the sketch is pictured the forage cap of black velvet trimmed just at the side of the right ear with a large dropping velvet flower, made of green and red petals. This cap has a forehead length veil in the red tone of the petals. In the center is shown another forage cap, also in black velvet. This one is trimmed with flat petals, in red, white, black, and green Bamboula. These petals completely cover the right side of the hat, as you can see by the small sketch at the left.

At the bottom of the sketch is shown another type of the chic forage cap. In white ermine, it is encrusted with discs of dark brown, coppery brown, and smoke gray, one of the smartest color combinations to be found in Paris.

You will note that all of these caps are worn tilted to the right side of the head, completely covering the right ear.

Good Morning!

Clara Bow—as you desire her! [I think.]

The red headed, brown eyed "it" child from Brooklyn stages a comeback in this picture for which she deserves a world of praise. She has emerged from her year's retirement the lovable Clara of old—with a difference. Poise, she has now. Quiet. She has faced disaster bravely and is building something lovely out of the debris.

That which she has learned in the soul of her shines through and illuminates the comparative superficialities of manner and dress. Clara can now enter a room, meet folks and wear clothes with the most sophisticated. She has lost the brashness of earlier days without any lessening of her old time sparkle and vitality.

"Call Her Savage," from the novel by Tiffany Thayer, is, in itself, a tawdry, hectic, long drawn out, obvious story. But it does provide Clara with a faceted rôle that offers unlimited opportunity to prove what she can do. You see her as a child of nature, as a woman of the world, as a mother, wife, wronged maiden and sweetheart. You see her towsled and coiffed—laughing, crying, storming, loving. And so—as far as she's concerned, and you are concerned for her—the picture's a great success.

Miss Bow has able support. Direction was too deliberate. Photography, scenery and sets are fine.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIPLEY

Copyright 1932: By Ames Syndicate Co., Inc.

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

RUTH'S BIRTHDAY.

A multitude of small accidents had delayed Ruth Mundy and now a run in her hose! The battery in her car had gone dead which necessitated a cab; she had mislaid the key to the strong box! Just as the taxi pulled up she located it. Hastily snatching two twenty dollar bills from the drawer, one old and one crisp and new, she thrust them loosely into her bag. As she tossed it on the dresser the perfume bottle upset, spilling over her lovely moire purse! If this kept up she'd be late for her birthday party! Now, where was that book she was to return? She was sure she had just put it on the dresser! Finally locating it under her coat on the bed, she grabbed it and ran.

Once in the taxi she opened her bag and fumbled for her vanity case. Its clasp sprung open and she stuck her fingers in the paste rouge! Another casualty! Well it didn't get on anything else. That was one break. Removing, with her handkerchief, all traces of the rouge she threw it away.

Arriving at the Mayflower hotel she handed the driver a bill. While waiting for her change Prof. Fordney alighted from his car and greeted her with a "Hello, Ruth."

Acknowledging the greeting she turned to the driver. "You've made a mistake. This is change for five. I gave you a twenty."

"O, no, lady! You gave me five dollars!"

Fordney listened amusedly while Ruth excitedly proved she's given the driver a twenty dollar bill.

"How's that, professor?" she laughed.

HOW DID RUTH DO IT? YOU KNOW TAXI DRIVERS!

Harriet Hodgini to Give Bareback Act at Yankee Circus

Those who know their circuses will find a favorite act when they assemble under the Chicago Stadium's "big top" on Dec. 16 and 17 to witness the old time Yankee circus in the P. T. Barnum manner. The circus is being revived for the sake of the present generation by the women's division of the Salvation Army. The proceeds will go to the Emergency Welfare Fund of Cook County.

This act is to be put on by Harriet Hodgini, known as the "world's greatest and most youthful lady bareback rider." She comes from a family of circus performers who have been in the profession 106 years, and who were never without a riding act in all that time. Miss Hodgini arrived yesterday on the Century and announced immediately that her horse, Dolly, would be here by Saturday for its winter quarters so she could start daily practice.

Mlle. Rosina, "the world's greatest lady tight wire performer," will arrive this morning, and Billy Lorette, the clown cop, is expected from the east next week. By the end of the week, headquarters of the circus say, all of the 20 acts will be in Chicago ready for the opening performance.

Tickets for the circus are now on sale in the State street stores, and booths have been set up in various parts of the city. The central ticket office is at 181 South Wabash avenue.

Tired Shoppers Find Refuge in Store Experts

Bureaus Take Charge of Christmas Lists.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

How about it . . . does the prospect of frequent shopping expeditions among a crowd of thousands of others give you the jitters?

Do you positively and actively hate the idea of plunging into the buying public with your list that has to be attended to very soon now if you are to enjoy the proper yuletide giving glow a few weeks ahead?

Are you one of the many people who arrive at the stores in an optimistic frame of buying mind and vaguely know what you want, but lose your confidence after the first half hour when the entire world seems to have gone mad, with world crashing confusion on all sides of the shopping front?

What you need then are the services of the personal shopping bureaus that are available in nearly every shop in town during the Christmas rush season. You can shop by proxy, you can shelve your troubles, hand your apparently endless list to the most enthusiastic shopper you have ever known, hurry home and drink a dish of tea beside your fire while this charming, understanding person has a grand time spending your money, assembling your gifts, and in an amazingly short time gathers together trifles, as well as important big things that will cause wild cheering on your part when they are delivered on your doorstep.

Nothing daunts these wise shoppers. They obviously are gifted with second sight, endless supplies of imagination and original ideas about suitable gifts for the most persnickity persons on your list. They are obliging and enthusiastic, they know where unusual things can be found, they unerringly find the most distinctive gifts for that most difficult person that "has everything," they can find toys, dolls, dishes, laces, smart sophisticated glassware, books, pillows, fitted cases and jewelry that will make your eyes pop . . . good looking things that would have taken you hours to locate.

Wandering and greatly disturbed masculine shoppers breathe a vast sigh of relieved appreciation when one of these experienced shoppers expertly controls the buying of suitable gifts for feminine approval. These gals know just what other females want . . . you can give them a list a couple of feet long, with descriptive footnotes as to sex, complexion, likes and dislikes and go your way in solitary satisfaction that everything will be all right. And what these shoppers deliver to you a few hours later will make you an enviable reputation as the most understanding male of the season.

Personal shoppers can snag the best looking negligees and lingerie out of the most alluring collections, they know what looks completely devastating on brunette, blonde or red head, they know costume jewelry by heart, they know whether to send lace or chiffon hose, velvet or kidskin gloves, and what is best for the dashing young schoolgirl in the way of lounging pajamas. Ask them anything and you'll never get the wrong advice.

Out of town shoppers who are perfectly willing to shop if they could get to town can rely on these shopping bureaus for anything and everything; in some shops they'll even buy your groceries or Christmas dinner for you.

And if you must have your gifts wrapped ready for presentation that also can be done. They do practically everything for you, including quite a bit of diplomatic thinking and planning so that nothing is duplicated!

Spare Three Minutes Daily for Facial Care

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

What do you do with the cream and with your fingers when you're cleaning up for the day? Smear on the cream, swab it on with the whole fingers? Wipe it off with a questionable looking rag?

So long as you are doing the job and doing it daily, why not make the couple of minutes it takes to do it properly pay you years from now? Don't just plaster the cream on and give it a few swipes with the hand. Work it on smoothly, neglecting no little nostril corners nor temple edges. Then work it in thoroughly with your finger tips. Smearing it on and off just does nothing for the preservation of the skin.

Have paper tissues ready for removing the cream and either follow immediately with soap and water cleansing, or go over the face with cotton dipped in tonic to further refresh the skin. If you use the soap and water, which is heartily recommended, you may put on another layer of cream, pat it in again with the finger tips—and then the tonic. The idea is to get in a little clever massage while you are at this daily performance of cleansing, for that's the thing that is going to keep the skin young—not just the smearing on and off of cream. At most, it need only take three minutes, which is not much time to give daily to keeping the skin young into a ripe maturity, now, is it?

While you are at it, don't be stingy with the eyelids. Time and again you'll see women whose eyelids have a neglected look that none of the rest of the facial skin has. This is simply because the lids are forgotten in this daily feeding of cream. And no harm is done by leaving a faint film of the cream thereon, if crinkliness has already set in. You can do this without getting any of the cream into the eyes.

We might remind you, too, that the good skin work does not end at the chin. Better begin at the base of the throat when you sit down to "clean your face." Begin there and the job will be done. You're apt to forget the throat if you start on the cheeks.

Betrothal Anticipated by Many Friends of Young Couple; Wedding Planned for Early Spring.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALTHOUGH it cannot be said to be a surprise to any one who knows them, every one of their large circle of friends and acquaintances is interested in the announcement this morning of the engagement of Miss Constance Hasler to John McLaren Simpson. It has been expected for some time, but it was only yesterday that Miss Hasler's mother, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler of Lake Forest, made the formal announcement.

Miss Hasler, one of the most attractive and popular of that outstanding crop of buds who "came out" two seasons ago, attended Westover and then spent a year at Mme. La Boucher's school in Paris. She made her debut with her cousin, Miss Eleanor Coonley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss L. Coonley of Great Barrington, Mass., formerly of Lake Forest, at a garden party at the Hasler residence, Aldingbourne cottage in Lake Forest on Sept. 13, 1930. Mrs. Walter S. Brewster gave a dinner dance at her Lake Forest residence for the two debutantes following the tea.

Miss Hasler spent part of last winter with her godmother, Miss Gwethalyn Jones in Santa Barbara. Miss Hasler has one brother, Wyndham, who is younger than she and still in school.

Mr. Simpson is the second of the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson of Glencoe and 1200 Lake Shore drive. He prepared at St. Paul's and then went to the University of Chicago for two years, leaving there a year ago last spring to engage in business. That phase of his business career wasn't very long, however, as he and A. Watson Armour III. left last January for a hunting trip to Africa and India and did not return until September. The wedding of Miss Hasler and Mr. Simpson is planned for the early spring and will take place in Lake Forest.

Debut Tea for Betty Brawley.

Invitations will go out in a day or two for the debut tea of Miss Betty Brawley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Brawley of 1448 Lake Shore drive, to be held on Friday afternoon, Dec. 16, from 4 to 7 o'clock at their residence. The tea was planned for Nov. 12, but owing to a death in Mrs. Brawley's family it was postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney S. Gorham Jr. are to give a tea dance on Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Opera club for Mrs. Gorham's debutante sister, Miss Jean Dorothy McVoy.

Miss Janet Fairbank, soprano, will be the soloist with the University of Chicago Symphony orchestra at their first concert of the season in Mandel hall the evening of Friday, Dec. 16.

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we make in our home right now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

At the present time it is said that an extra bathroom may be installed in your house for less than one-third of what it would have cost a few years ago. Much less early morning scrambling for the bathroom by rushing youngsters and hurrying adults, much less family friction and frequently voiced protest if a house can suddenly become the possessor of two baths instead of one. Nor need this additional bath be large. It isn't its size but the mere fact of its existence which contributes so generously to family comfort.

LOUISE BARGELT.

Mario Chamlee Recital Event of Importance

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Among the notables of the musical season came Mario Chamlee last night, appearing at Orchestra hall in a song recital under the auspices of the Chicago section of the National Council of Jewish Women.

The audience was large and enthusiastic, for which there was excellent reason. Mr. Chamlee has one of the finest voices to be found among American tenors today, and at his best he is one of the finest singers as well.

Distributed among his song groups were two operatic excerpts, one the humorous, boastful "Caravan" aria with which he used to delight audiences out at Ravinia, the other the Prize song from "Die Meistersinger," an opera in which he has never appeared in this city, but which he just came from doing on the Pacific coast.

For Mr. Chamlee, well known for his exploits in French and Italian operas hereabouts, is now going in for the lyric German rôles as well. As it was with his arias, so it was with his songs. He sang works of various schools and in various languages, to the constant delight of his hearers. Encores were numerous.

At the same hour as the Chamlee recital, Ilza Niemack, who got much of her musical training here and now lives in Iowa, gave a violin recital in Kimball hall. She has a marked talent as a soloist, playing with a first class tone and a technical certainty fit to cope with practically anything in the répertoire. She has also a striking talent as a composer. One of the leading compositions on her program was a sonata from her pen, which seems to be the second of her composition.

It is a line of activity to be encouraged, for she has something to say. She is able to invent good melody, and it is an encouraging sign to find that this ability has not perished from the earth. It is persuasive, it is far from commonplace, and she gives it a setting that has a slight tendency toward the modernistic manner, which, however, never becomes a harmonic puzzle.

Also she has a good working knowledge of the architecture of the sonata. With her gifts she ought to be able to write some pieces of lesser structure that will make her popular.

BARTER AND SAIL

By HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Henry White plans to call his four master ship, the Abigail White, in search of a ship filled with pearl oysters sunk by a French captain before the world war in a lagoon in a South sea island. Arlette Mordecai, the French captain's granddaughter, has brought him complete instructions for finding the ship. Arlette is accompanied by an English woman of title, known as Ladybird, in his crew are Adam Eden, an unemployed engineer; Roberts Millbank, and Peter Cavan. Roberts father died after his bank failed and Peter was his trusted employe. Henry Shepard, backer of the venture, plans to fill the boat with a cargo of his own choosing, including a lot of used cars and launches, and plans to stop at certain ports to trade cargoes. One owner of an unused car sends his chauffeur, Raoul, along. Ladybird, who is a naval officer's daughter, is made mate. Benny, a cook, hires up for his keep.

INSTALLMENT X.
THE SHIP SETS SAIL.

Arlette said, presently, "How long have you been a chauffeur, Raoul?"

"Ah, Mam'selle," he answered evasively, "the question is not how long I have been a chauffeur, but how long I may continue to be one, or anything else that earns pay. Now if you could persuade Monsieur Shepard to take me on his ship. Many of these cars and launches he is buying need adjustment. Before the crise financiers I was in the employ of General Motors in France for the reglage—the tuning up."

"Bien, mon ami," said Arlette, "you shall do the same with the old cars on this ship . . ."

. . . . . .

Henery was over on the wharf arguing with four decently dressed men who seemed to be offering themselves in some capacity. He appeared presently to consent and came aboard the schooner and up the ladder where Capt. Hiram and Ladybird were standing by the rail.

"Those birds want a job helpin' load," he said. "Claim to be seafarin' men that can't get billets."

"That's possible," Capt. Hiram said. "There are hundreds of them pestering the shipping board right now. I been one of them until I saw it was no use."

"Well, I told 'em they could turn to. The sooner we get loaded and on our way the better. They're glad to work for dollar and a half a day."

A great four master laden with cargo practically valueless when taken aboard.

Ladybird said, "I hope you've got reasonable proof of ownership of all these old cars and boats and things, Henery."

His face puckered. "I hope so, too. Trouble is, some careless folks leave their registration cards in the car pockets. The boats don't have any, but it ain't so easy to make off with a boat."

"Anyhow," said Capt. Hiram, "if anybody misses their property they know where to look, what with your ads in the local papers."

"Yes," Henery agreed, "if they look quick. Otherwise, we might get a libel on us after we shove off and have to dig out some piece of junk to satisfy a C. G. boat."

The four men just engaged by Henery had turned to in a manner that showed them to know their work. They slung the cars handily, and two of them went below to receive them in the hold.

"A bit overdressed for navies," Ladybird said. They look to me more like burglars."

"Can't tell much about that nowadays," Capt. Hiram said. "Besides, it's different this side. They might have been shipping their own goods not so long ago. Or ships' officers like as not? It's got so everybody's working at what he can get, and mighty glad of the chance."

The work went on throughout the afternoon. Later in the day Raoul, the chauffeur, came aboard with a radio set. It was his own, he told Capt. Hiram, and suggested that it might be useful aboard.

"Nobody's going to have much time to sit round and listen to advice to delinquent taxpayers," Capt. Hiram said drily. "But the time tick could help. Set her up in my saloon."

Henery came in just before supper time. "Sort of funny," he said, "Those four fellows been loading all the afternoon beat it without their pay. I went up town to finish what I had to do, and when I got back they'd quit and gone."

"I told you they were burglars," Ladybird said.

"Don't worry," said the captain, "they'll turn up in time to collect what's due them."

But the capable, well dressed stevedores did not appear to collect their wages' claim. This demission saved Henery six dollars. Here was another little edge to windward, as Henery's relatives had failed in their efforts to have him found incompetent to conduct his financial affairs. The local judge was an old-timer and sympathized with this daring effort to revive old-time trade. He quashed the appeal.

But the bank would extend to Henery no further credit than his cash balance. The bank was sick of the sound of that word "collateral."

"We got no money left," Henery said cheerfully, "but old Cap'n Noah couldn't have been much better found in general stores and gear for a long v'yge. Benny's bought fifty hens, besides my poultry show. All we got to do now is to trade."

"And when she comes rollin' home, old trader," said Ladybird, "the jolly war chest is going to clink with every shift on the swell."

"You bet you, Mr. Mate. Anyhow, we can't be worse off than the whaler that came in here at the end of a three year v'yge round the world without a drop of oil aboard. "No, gentlemen," says her skipper to the owners, "we haven't killed a fish . . . but we've had a darned fine sail . . ."

The long spell of dry autumn weather was broken the next day by torrential showers. Toward nightfall the wind hauled westerly, gathering in force and with a falling temperature. It would go northwest in the morning and blow a clear gale for two or three days, Capt. Hiram opined.

The chance for getting off shore and well to sea was too good to be missed. The hatches were got down and secured for sea except for one part of the main hatch left free for access to the main hold, where Raoul was to work at Henery's speculation in old cars.

Dawn found them ready to sail with the hard, clear nor'wester coming off the land, rising steadily notch by notch. They might carry it for three or four hundred miles. This meant an easy run out through the south channel between the Georgas and Nantucket shoals to take their departure from Nantucket Light Vessel and away for the African coast.

With the wind in that quarter the Abigail offered no more of a problem for getting clear and on her way than might a lobster schooner. Capt. Hiram merely cast off his bow warps, ran up his headsails and let her swing on his stern lines, then slipped them, and made sail as his schooner drifted out.

Even at that hour a considerable group had gathered to see the start of this venture in old-time trade. Here was a great foremaster laden, if lightly, with a cargo that was practically valueless where taken aboard, but that might prove of a considerable value in some other part of the world. That chance lay in the lay of the God of Trade, whoever this divinity may be.

It was good to be running off the land in that strong, clear wind. The schooner of easy lines and in perfect sailing trim steered easily in the short shop that was not enough to swing her. Ladybird could stand a wheel watch single handed without undo fatigue, and she soon proved to Capt. Hiram her skill in holding close to the compass course.

Holidays with Son Demand of Spencer Tracy

Bases All Plans on Trip to New York.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—It may cost him money, and it may even interfere with his film future, but Spencer Tracy is determined to go back to New York as soon as "Face in the Sky" at Fox's is completed. Reason—Jimmy Tracy, 5 years of age, his only child, in a boys' school near New York. The actor expects to come back to Hollywood after a holiday vacation spent with his boy.

Katherine Hepburn eats the oddest luncheon noticed in your correspondent's trips around the studio restaurants; even more distinctive than the bowl of chives and cottage cheese affected by some of the folks at the First National lot. A light mid-day snack for the Hepburn girl is a bowl of lettuce leaves, which she shreds into long strips and dips into a second bowl of French dressing. That's all there is for lunch when she eats at the RKO lunchroom.

Twenty children out of the twelve hundred who were working under Director Dave Butler with Jimmy Dunn and Boots Mallory in "Handle with Care" failed to turn up after a rest period the other day on the Fox lot. They searched high and low for the children, all boys. Finally some one thought of the slough which was created to serve as a lagoon in a recent South Sea picture. Sure enough, there they were, all twenty of them, their clothes piled on the bank, wading and swimming gleefully. One of the assistant directors whistled in surprise: "It would cost $25 to induce a stunt man to jump in there," he said. "The water has probably been in that slough since the last rain."

Warner Oland is one of those fortunate enough to be making an income off land he bought with the idea that oil might be developed on it.

An autograph pest had badgered Barbara Stanwyck into writing her signature, and the actress signed her name "Barbara Stanwyck Fay," at which the autograph man commented: "That signature won't be right in a year or two, when you are divorced." Barbara calmly tore the page right out of the autograph pad and cracked back, "Prophets like you are without honor."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Would Welcome Clothing.

"I have been out of work for six months and have seven children, all girls, for whom I can't buy clothing. Their ages are 1, 4, 8, 10, 12, 14, and 16 years. I need a suit and overcoat, size 42 or 44, and shoes, size 10. My wife needs winter clothing, size 44, and shoes, size 8. If you can help us with any garments at all it will be appreciated. P. G."

Here is a man who has always worked and supported his family, but with no employment and no prospects of securing any, the problem of clothing is proving a discouraging one. Can you help him with the garments you and your family are discarding?

Miss Hasler Is Engaged to John Simpson

Miss Fairbank is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank and is an alumna of the university.

The university orchestra was organized last year following the establishment of a department of music and the appointment of Prof. Carl Bricken as its head. The personnel of the orchestra is cosmopolitan and includes many foreign students and several faculty members.

Proceeds of all concerts this year will be used for the music scholarship fund.

Vice President Frederick Woodward of the University of Chicago will be the guest speaker at the autumn alumni assembly in the auditorium of the new International house next Wednesday evening. Mr. Woodward will tell of his experiences in the orient, where he spent last year as vice chairman of a laymen's commission, surveying the work of foreign missions.

Silver Screen Ball Plans.

A meeting of the committee in charge of the Silver Screen ball to be given by the Association of Arts and Industries on Dec. 16 at the Drake hotel was the occasion yesterday afternoon for a delightful tea party at the residence of Mrs. Hayden B. Harris of 20 Cedar street. Mrs. Harris was confined to a sofa in the library, where the meeting was held, by a broken leg, but that did not lessen her cordiality and charm as a hostess.

Pouring in the unusual silver dining room where Mr. Harris' collection of rare and beautiful butterflies are in panels under glass on all four walls were Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick and Mrs. William N. Pelouze. Bright blue and flame color predominate in the colors of the butterflies and these two colors are used with silver in this distinctively individual room, the blue for some of the ornamental glassware and the candles, and the red for the leather seats of the silver chairs. These brilliant colors are present, too, in the tropical fish that are in an aquarium set in the wall at one end of the room.

The ball gives promise of being well attended by the younger set, for numerous parties for the young people are being planned. Miss Nancy Traylor, Miss Louise Dewey and Miss Dorothy Marshall are among the debutantes whose mothers are giving parties for them that night, and Andrew Reborl will entertain for his daughter, Naneen, who will be at home from Wellesley for the Christmas vacation.

Mrs. Thomas H. Howell is inviting a group of "young marrieds" for the occasion, friends of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Barnes. Miss Emeline Bush is getting up a Dutch treat table at which the special guests will be the former Edith Fairbanks and her husband, Count Ruggero Visconti de Modrone, who will arrive about the 9th for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks.

Mrs. Moisant Griffiths and her daughter, Miss Gloria Griffiths, are giving a tea next Thursday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock at their residence, 1500 Lake Shore drive, to exhibit to their friends the portrait of Miss Griffiths that was painted in Paris last summer by Beltran Massef. Miss Griffiths is to entertain at dinner the following night for Miss June Willett, who is to become the bride of Dr Samuel Gale Taylor III. on Dec. 10.

Mrs. C. B. Pike Resting Well.

Mrs. Charles B. Pike's friends will be glad to know that she is resting comfortably enough for Mr. Pike to have left her to finish the hunting trip in southern Illinois that he had started when he was notified of his wife's motor accident near Detroit on Nov. 22. He rushed to her, but by Monday she was well enough for him to leave, so he resumed hunting, but he will be back in Detroit tomorrow to spend the week-end with his wife.

She has a badly broken left arm and will have to be in the Jennings hospital there until after Christmas. She had gone to Detroit to visit her sister, Mrs. Henry Sheldon, who is laid up with a broken hip, not in the hospital with Mrs. Pike, but in her own residence.

Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson sailed last night from New York for France to spend the holiday season with her sister, Mrs. Gustave Baumann, in Paris. Mrs. Hutchinson's plans for the late winter are indefinite, but she plans to return to this country in February.

The latest news from the Ogden Kettings is that they probably will not return to Chicago from London this winter. Mrs. Ketting is the former Elinor Farwell and her marriage to Mr. Ketting took place last June. They went abroad immediately after the wedding and there had been talk of their returning before Christmas.

Cecil Howard, who is such a distinct addition to the smart younger set here since he came from London a year or two ago, is not making any definite engagements for the next few days, for he is planning to leave for New York as soon as he hears when his mother, the countess of Suffolk, is to land.

He thinks it will be on the 10th, but a New York paper reported that the former Margaret Hyde Leiter was due there today or tomorrow, so he is holding himself in readiness to leave on a moment's notice. He is quite sure his mother will not come to Chicago on this trip.

John Porters to Return Soon.

John P. Porter and his bride, the former Mary Alexander Brumback, are expected to arrive in Chicago the end of the week from their honeymoon which has been spent flying to California. His two brothers, Henry H. Porter Jr. and Sartell Prentice Porter, and their brides will be at home for Christmas, but the dates for their arrivals are indefinite.

Mrs. Honoré Palmer and her son's wife, Mrs. Potter d'Orsay Palmer, sailed yesterday from France, where they have been for the last two months. The senior Mr. Palmer, who has been in the east most of the time since his wife went abroad, is in Baltimore now, so he undoubtedly will be in New York to meet the returned travelers when they land next Monday, but the younger Mr. Palmer said yesterday that business wouldn't permit his leaving town just now, even to meet his lovely young wife.

Mrs. Charles Counselman arrived yesterday from Westbrook, Conn., where she went early in the spring, to spend the winter at the Drake hotel. Her sister, Mrs. Charles O. Meacham, still is at Westbrook and she plans to remain there until very cold weather, when she, too, will come to Chicago.

Miss Barbara Shaffer will return from the Ogontz school on the 16th to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Shaffer of 179 Lake Shore drive. Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer are giving a dinner for their daughter, who will be one of the next season's debutantes, before the Princeton Triangle club show on Dec. 22. The party will occupy two boxes at the performance.

Was Salary $150,000? Gloria Swanson Is Unable to Remember

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Gloria Swanson's deposition sent here from Europe, was read today in her defense against claims of $45,000 lodged by her ex-business agent, Maurice Cleary, and the document reveals that the actress cannot remember whether her salary was $100,000 or $150,000 for "The Loves of Sonia," a film made three years ago.

The deposition also reveals that Miss Swanson was paid $100,000 for her services as star in each of two films, "The Tresspasser" and "What a Widow," $150,000 from "Sadie Thompson," and $250,000 each for "Indiscreet" and "Tonight or Never."

Cleary is demanding $7,500 for each of the six pictures whose contract he says he arranged for Miss Swanson.

Try Not to Let the Depression Hit Your Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

These are hard and worried times for most people. Some of us are trying to manage on salaries that have been cut once or twice or thrice. Others are even uneasy over just how long the curtailed salary will last. Many are getting graying heads, wondering how long they can keep their businesses going, and how few people they can let go.

Still others have neither curtailed salaries nor business to go on, but are dependent on relatives, friends and welfare agencies. Home keepers are trying to make both ends meet without leaving too big a gap in the middle. Or else have almost no ends to make meet, at all.

To what extent we can keep these stringent economies, these worries or these debts from the children is a difficult matter to decide. The feeling of insecurity that children are getting is something that can easily color and affect their whole lives.

A friend of mine went through such an experience in his youth. His family felt he should share to the full, even in his early years, the lack of money that existed. It made such a deep impression on him that he was made almost parsimonious, afraid to leave one job to accept a better one, and so cautious that it affected his whole approach to life. This financial instability in his early youth has had a really serious effect on his entire mature life.

Of course, this is an extreme case. But it is true that financial fear, fear of insecurity throw out waves beyond our own horizon into those of our children. They are often too young to handle this fear. It is an adult responsibility. And experiencing it seldom helps to strengthen them. Of course they can know—and would have to know—that money is scarce, that pleasures are curtailed or cut out entirely, that new clothes are not forthcoming, that simple foods are in order. But all this can be known without instilling that terrible thing—fear of the present and future—in them. Let them know about the situation, but let them know it as a fact and not as a fear, in so far as lies within your power.

Children Meet Mrs. Santa Claus

Children who attend the benefit of the Woman's Exchange in the Blackstone hotel are greeted by Mrs. Claus. She has promised to remember to tell old Santa everything the children tell her. At the left in this picture is Shirley Fellger and the girl with the doll is Marilyn Moges. And the pleasant lady is Mrs. Claus. Some visitors remarked Mrs. Claus looked a lot like Mrs. Julia Glen. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Two Fabrics Effectively Combined in New Wrap-Around Daytime Design

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This smart wrap-around dress combines plain colored crêpe with a novelty silk and wool mixture. The right front of the dress is underfaced and rolled, forming a rever, or, for a more tailored effect, buttons hold it in place, forming a high neckline. The collar ends in a jabot that is passed through the buttoned rever.

The pattern, No. 3195, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material with 1⅞ yards of 39 inch light, and ½ yard of 27 inch dark material contrasting.

Doll Houses

The crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel was the scene yesterday of one of the loveliest of the annual Christmas sales, that of the Woman's Exchange. Table displays of exquisite linens, pottery, and art craft attracted the early Christmas shoppers, but the toys and doll houses were the major drawing cards. Visitors noted the resemblance of one of the little Georgian edifices to the junior William E. Clows' lovely house in Lake Forest and it was particularly admired.

The house that Mrs. James Ward Thorne, president of the Exchange, had furnished, and which was complete even to tiny books in the bookcases and miniature shaving brushes and razors on the bathroom shelf, was sold in shares, little Loretta Howard, daughter of the Howell Howards of Dayton, who is staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Edward Hines of Evanston, while her parents are abroad, getting it.

Mrs. Santa Claus was on hand to listen to the children's Christmas wants and to give them all lollipops, which, incidentally, caused the saleswomen much worry, for sticky lollips in careless childish hands aren't the best things in the world for such fragile, delicate things as were on display.

One of the most attractive displays was that of negligees presided over by Miss Helen Gurley. Among others who assisted were Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, Mrs. Philip Reed, Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. Philip Wrigley, Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Alden B. Swift, Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds, Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, Mrs. Eugene Thayer, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, and Mrs. John W. Gary. More than $5,000 was cleared at the sale.

Couples, Hit by Hard Times, Need Sympathy

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Mothers, again we appeal to you to give the young ones a chance! Many of you older women, we know, have felt an extra heavy brunt of the depression in having to take in a pair of young fledglings that weren't able to weather the storm themselves.

Granted the young folks aren't as considerate as they might be. Granted that they take as their right the privileges of your home even though they contribute little or nothing to its upkeep. Granted that their presence does upset the smooth running of your menage.

They are youngsters caught in a maelstrom. They haven't your older head nor mine to regulate their conduct to the happiness of all concerned. Youth is selfish; it's heedless. It's thoughtless of others and it resents this mess into which the economic phase of our current day has thrown it. Youth has a side, too. A young married couple who cannot set up their own little nest and work out their own problems without interference deserves sympathy.

You can't change them. You can't put the wanted old head on their young shoulders. So, if there is to be peace in these two family establishments, the older ones will have to do some of the conceding, too.

After all, what matters more than that the older couples' serenity be not disturbed is that this young pair be given a chance to work out their marriages successfully.

Not a day goes by, it seems, but there is reported a marriage casualty under the circumstances we're talking about. Little or no sympathy is given by the parents in whose home the youngsters have sought refuge. Resentment of their presence there is taken out in nagging, prying, constant objections, and so on. The point is that all under the roof are unhappy. It's no light order, we realize, to play the rôle of wise, kind, understanding protector, but if such conduct means keeping that young marriage from falling apart, a purpose is accomplished that can't help but bring satisfaction and joy to the older member or members of the menage.

Copley Medal, Once Given Franklin, Is Awarded to Dr. Hale

Pasadena, Cal., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Word has been received here that the Royal Society of London has awarded the Copley medal, highest distinction given by England for scientific research, to Dr. George E. Hale of the Mount Wilson [Cal.] observatory.

The first American to receive it was Benjamin Franklin, to whom it was awarded in 1753 for his "curious experiments and observations on electricity." Among seven other Americans to receive the award was the late Dr. Albert A. Michelson, Pasadena physicist.

The present award was for researches in the magnetic fields of the sun.

The immortal child who first uttered that ringing battlecry of childhood, "I say it's spinach——" struck a responsive chord in all of us.

Who has not sat down to cold spinach, unbuttered parsnips, or discouraged dishes of tomatoes with the sinking feeling that no manner of good things in the rest of the dinner can ever quite relieve?

The same old vegetables, prepared in the same old way—we say with the child that it's spinach! And perfectly inexcusable.

For vegetables respond as kindly to treatment as prima donnas.

There is cabbage, for instance! That hardy, robust vegetable, which has, even in its ordinary state, attained a kind of rugged immortality through its association with corned beef. You should see it and taste it after a little special attention. Broiled cabbage, its tender green leaves curled to a pale golden hue with a delicate cheese flavor topped with crisped bacon, is a speaking relative of old fashioned boiled cabbage—but it speaks with a different accent.

Then there is the stalwart Bermuda. When granted some special attention, treated to a dressing of finest grated American cheese, cooked to a golden brown—the long neglected onion is a dish to bring tears to the eyes of the most epicurean.

Vegetables en casserole . . . this is the manner and means of transforming an ordinary dish into an extraordinary one almost with a twist of the wrist. Cauliflower, baked tomatoes, cabbage—try a bit of magic with whatever you wish to transform in these long winter days when it becomes necessary to think of new and different ways of serving old and familiar foods.

Cheese makes a charming addition to many a neglected vegetable. What a cup of grated American cheese, full flavored and smooth, will do to a tomato sauce is something for a hostess to dream about. Cheese melts and blends into the delicate flavors of a variety of vegetables with an ease which is a revelation to the modern cook. One must be careful not to cook it at too high a temperature. A moderate oven, a plain garden variety vegetable, a cup of grated cheese, a few bread crumbs—presto-chango! You have a dish that is a tribute to the entire vegetable kingdom.

CAULIFLOWER—TOMATO SAUCE.

1 medium cauliflower
1 cup thick strained tomatoes
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
1½ cups grated American cheese
Salt, pepper

Cook the cauliflower (flowerets separated) in boiling salted water until tender. Drain well and place in a casserole. Mix the tomatoes, one cup bread crumbs, and one cup grated cheese with seasonings to taste. Pour over the cauliflower, sprinkle the top with remaining crumbs and cheese, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) twenty to thirty minutes.

BERMUDAS DE LUXE.

1½ pounds Bermuda onions
2 cups grated American cheese
2 tablespoons butter
Salt, pepper

Peel and slice the onions and cook until tender in a small amount of salted water. Partially drain, add the cheese, butter, and seasonings to taste. Stir carefully with a fork until the cheese is melted. Serve hot on fresh toast.

BIGGEST SELLING PACKAGE SOAP IN AMERICA
Washes clothes whiter with less work
THE soap that changed washday completely—that threw the old-fashioned board and boiler into discard—today leads all others in volume of sale. Rinso has unquestionably become the biggest selling package laundry soap in America.
The reason for this tremendous, widespread popularity is that Rinso not only makes washday far easier; it washes clothes whiter. Some women go so far as to say that a Rinso wash is three to four shades whiter than a wash done with any other kind of soap.
Only a soap of unusual merit could forge so definitely to the front and command the immense sale that Rinso does. Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. They are suds with real body to them—suds that loosen dirt and save hours of work. With Rinso all that is necessary is to soak and rinse. Clothes come so white, they don't even need to be boiled.
Rinso is safe. It won't weaken fabrics; it won't yellow white things. Clothes washed the safe Rinso way last longer. The makers of 40 famous washing machines recommend it.
And Rinso is wonderfully easy on the hands! Most women use it for dishes, too—and for all household cleaning.
Try Rinso Free
If you don't use Rinso and want to try it, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. T 57, Cambridge, Mass. A full-sized package will be sent you without cost.

LET'S HEAR OF BAD OLD DAYS IN FOOTBALL!

How About That Time in Kansas, Mr. Yost?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 30.—In all my reading of books and articles wherein the old football coaches reminisce and moralize, including works by A. A. Stagg, Fielding H. Yost, and Pop Warner, I have felt that the boys were not really letting their hair down. I refer back to that mischievous era of football which the late Prof. Charles A. Goodenough of the University of Illinois, himself a pioneer but franker than most of his contemporaries, described as the barbarian age of the game.

These Forty-Niners of football, Mr. Stagg, Mr. Yost, and Pop, are historians of the sport and certainly they have been prolific, turning many a dollar in the writing business, but their accounts always seem to me to have been written in the tone of voice of the standard grammar school histories of the revolutionary war.

It's a Chance to Write Real History.

I would not call on any one for confessions, but for historical data which they and nobody else that I can think of could supply. It is known that team organization in those days was not restricted by any of the delicate rules of eligibility which have been the delight of locker room lawyers in more recent times, and Caspar Whitney, the first football writer to establish a national reputation, was railing at the University of Chicago in Leslie's before the turn of the century with a charge that Chicago had almost no rules of eligibility.

Prof. Goodenough said, too, that the need of such rules was recognized for the first time when Chicago used a prize fighter on the varsity and named Hugo Bezdek, the present director of athletics at Penn State college, as the subject of the protest. But before that Illinois had hired, among others, a local iceman, paying him $300 cash, in advance, for the season, and had written off the investment as a total loss because the iceman developed an unsuspected distaste for the game and quit cold.

Mr. Yost Could Tell Us That Kansas Story.

I should think that Mr. Yost, if he has any interest in the record of football to which he has made so many contributions, would some time sense the historical importance of that portion of his own career which extends back into the dark ages of the game and disappears into the mysterious mists of hearsay. There is a fascinating story, told by old Kansans, purporting to deal with his time as coach there, a true telling of which certainly would work no embarrassment to anybody, that ought to have Mr. Yost's version. Incidents tend to develop a history, as indicating the morals of the time and the character of the people.

It is related by Kansas alumni that in the days when Mr. Yost was coaching the football primitives there a large, shaggy yokel appeared on the practice field one day shortly before the annual big game with Nebraska and made himself conspicuous by asking naïve questions about this strange game. Mr. Yost himself paid him no recognition whatever, but on Thanksgiving day the stranger appeared in the Kansas lineup and suddenly became a natural star, scoring two touchdowns and winning the game for Kansas.

Hurray for Hero! But Where's Hero?

Mr. Jerome Beatty, the author, who was a Kansas undergraduate at the time, relates that when the game was over the student body trooped to the locker room to honor their hero with their cheers, but could not find him anywhere.

"He was gone," Mr. Beatty says. "We never saw him again, and then we realized that nobody had ever seen him in any class. Nobody even knew him. He came, he won the big game, and he went. That was all."

Now this is a story which I have heard from several sources in varying versions as to the details, and Mr. Yost's account of it would be much more valuable than his views on prohibition, which are distinctly offensive to many persons of contrary opinion. Moreover, even if the facts required him to admit that he introduced a mysterious ringer into his squad at Kansas to beat Nebraska as long ago as that, they would not affect his present ethical status in the slightest degree, because the use of ringers was not disapproved by the morals of the time. A man need not blush to admit that he ran a saloon in 1910, and the morals of football up to the time of the reformation permitted many practices which would be scandalous today.

Let's Sit Down and Mind You, No Lectures!

This football has become a significant thing in American life and although I do not know exactly what I mean by that, I think I mean something pretty ponderous. In the development of a half way credible history of the country it has been necessary to scrap most of the old books and reconstruct the story from accidental fragments showing the sort of people Americans were between such moments as Paul Revere's ride and the battle of Lake Erie. But it is not yet too late for some editor to take these living archives off somewhere before a fire, and when they begin to talk ideals, manhood, sacrifice, and all such noble generalities, gently bring them back with a quiet, "Yes, yes; I have heard your lecture No. 7 on that, and very inspiring, too. But, getting back to the '90s, what about the iceman?"

RODAK WILL BOX ROMAN IN FIRST C.Y.O. SEMI-FINAL

32 Amateurs Seek Titles at Stadium Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Pairings for the 16 semi-final bouts in the Catholic Youth Organization's amateur boxing tournament tomorrow night at the Chicago Stadium were made last night. The captains of the four teams which are entered in the meet watched the drawings.

The luck of the draw brought two of these captains together in the first semi-final in the featherweight division. Leo Rodak of SS. Peter and Paul, captain of the south side team, and Joe Roman of St. Anthony's parish, Joliet, Ill., captain of the Joliet team, will meet in the 126 pound semi-finals.

Only Two Champions.

Only eight of the 32 boys who remain in the tournament reached the semi-finals last year, and of this number only two are defending champions. The results of the pairings for the semi-finals follow:

112 POUND CLASS.

Oscar O'Hanlan, Immaculate Conception, Waukegan, Ill., vs. Henry Fuscaldo, SS. Peter and Paul.

Gerald Mathieu, St. Mel, vs. James Kenney, Immaculate Conception, Morris, Ill.

118 POUND CLASS.

Bud Ginter, St. Jerome, vs. John Tacnes, St. Joseph.

James Fordan, Working Boys home, vs. Sam Guidara, All Saints.

126 POUND CLASS.

Leo Rodak, SS. Peter and Paul, vs. Joe Roman, St. Anthony, Joliet, Ill.

Jimmy Christy, Our Lady of Mount Carmel, vs. Frank J. Beran, St. Procopius.

135 POUND CLASS.

John J. Zay, Nativity, vs. Joseph Montello, St. Rocco.

Archie Papineau, St. Mel, vs. James O'Connell, St. Jerome.

147 POUND CLASS.

Nestor Gruzgman, St. Jerome, vs. Valentine Penko, St. Joseph, Rockdale, Ill.

Henry Rothier, SS. Peter and Paul, vs. Steve Gaja, Holy Innocents.

160 POUND CLASS.

John Liston, St. Gabriel, vs. William Nurczyk, Holy Cross, Joliet, Ill.

Charles Wozniak, St. Alexander, Villa Park, Ill., vs. Harry Hodgins, St. Mary's, Des Plaines, Ill.

175 POUND CLASS.

Max Marek, St. Josephat, vs. Eli Rungaitis, St. Joseph, Rockdale, Ill.

William Clark, Our Lady of Angels, vs. Tom Pacetti, St. Bernard.

HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS.

Frank Ketter, Our Lady of Vilna, vs. John Solik, St. Paul.

John Krella, St. Edward, vs. Chester Bukowski, Five Holy Martyrs.

The 126 pound division probably attracts more attention than the others, not only because of the Rodak-Roman bout, but because Jimmy Christy seems likely to meet the winner. Christy was the sensation of the early matches. He faces Frank Beran in the semi-finals.

Ginter Is Choice.

Oscar O'Hanlon of Waukegan is the favorite to win the flyweight championship, while Bud Ginter, who has had more experience than the average amateur, is the choice in the 118 pound class.

Henry Rothier, who as a lightweight won the 1932 Golden Gloves championship and defeated his German opponent in the international bouts last summer at Soldiers' field, now is fighting as a welterweight. Rothier is conceded an advantage in this division. The middleweight class probably is one of the best balanced, since none of the boxers have won titles previously.

Max Marek, defending champion, is expected to dominate the light heavyweight division. Marek was not a full fledged 175 pounder a year ago, but since then he has picked up weight. In the heavyweight division Frank Ketter and Chester Bukowski are considered the top notchers. Ketter, in particular, is a hard puncher and his progress through the tournament has been by the K. O. route.

McFarland to Referee.

All 24 bouts tomorrow night, including the eight championships, will be composed of three two minute rounds each. The first semi-final is scheduled for 8:15 p. m. Packy McFarland, who refereed all the preliminaries, will officiate in all of tomorrow night's bouts.

WELL, KID, WILL YOU BE YOUR FATHER'S SON?

Our Count (left), first son of Reigh Count (right) and Anita Peabody, is now at John D. Hertz' Leona farm in Cary, Ill., where he arrived recently after a sojourn in Kentucky. He is said to be one of the best looking thoroughbred yearlings in the country and they're predicting at Leona farm that he'll more than uphold the reputation of his famous parents. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

In the Wake of the News

COLLEGE LETTER BOX.

DEAR WAKE: It's just one case of an eleven obscured somewhat by defeat, but how about a salute for Hugh Mendenhall's efforts this year. Star half back of the Maroons in 1927 and 1928, Hugh returned this summer with a deficit of 10 grade points to make up. That meant earning 5 Bs before he could regain eligibility—no easy hurdle at any school. Hugh finally did it and became eligible just before the Illinois game. But he didn't know the plays and Stagg used him for just the final 30 seconds against the Illini.

The following Saturday, against Purdue, he was primed for a big effort. In the first three plays he made two fine tackles and intercepted a pass. On the fourth play, going up for a pass, he was knocked out and taken to the hospital with a slight concussion of the brain.

Five days in the hospital and Mendenhall walked from his bed to the practice field, wabbly but willing. He played a fraction of the game against Michigan and played well . . . but he caught a cold doing it, and when the season final with Wisconsin rolled around Hugh was running a temperature of 102 and his comeback was finished.

He won a major letter, of course. But how about a salute for the effort? J. H.

Harve: Lucky Michigan! Last year its football team shared in a Big Ten championship because Purdue defeated Northwestern, 7 to 0, in a post-season charity game. This year Michigan holds an undisputed title because Northwestern spoiled Purdue's record with a 7 to 7 tie. Purdue and Northwestern have done more for Michigan than Harry Newman!

Purple Grad.

HTW: Six teams of the Big Ten played 6 games with conference colleges and four teams played only 5 games, which makes comparisons not quite fair. Percentages by THE TRIBUNE are as accurate as can be figured, but it seems to me that tie games should be taken into account as well as games won and lost. Under the plan of ignoring tie games, should a team happen to play all tie games it would have no standing at all, yet it could claim actual ranking with the best. Here's the standing with ½ games awarded for ties:

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
Michig'n	6	0	1.000	Min'sota	2	3	.400
Purdue	5½	½	.916	Illinois	2	4	.333
Wisc'sin	4½	1½	.750	Indiana	1½	4½	.250
Ohio	3	3	.500	Chicago	1	4	.200
N'west'n	2½	3½	.416	Iowa	0	5	.000

Genovese Wins Decision Over Walker in 4 Rounds

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Frankie Genovese, Canadian amateur lightweight champion, tonight won a decision over Billy Walker of Ecorse in a four round fight at Arena gardens. Genovese had Walker down for a count of two in the second round.

Our Count Is a Ringer for His Dad, But Can He Run?

BY FRENCH LANE.

The best looking thoroughbred yearling in America has just arrived in Chicago and will soon begin to dig in for the winter out at the John Hertz farm near Cary, Ill.

His name is Our Count, the first son of Reigh Count and Anita Peabody. For real turf romance the young fellow has something on any young thoroughbred ever produced in the country.

Turn back the pages of the history of the turf. Go back to the great Futurity at Belmont Park in 1927. Thundering down the straightaway at the end of seven furlongs came Anita Peabody in first place and Reigh Count to finish second. Both ran in the Hertz yellow and black jacket and when they finished one-two they accounted for more than $110,000, the richest prize ever won by one stable out of one horse race.

Reigh Count Didn't Stop.

It was Anita Peabody's supreme effort. Some months later she was retired. Reigh Count went on to become the American champion in 1928. He invaded England in 1929 and while beaten by a narrow margin for the Ascot gold cup after he had won the Coronation cup, demonstrated that he was one of the great horses of the world.

But this isn't a story about Reigh Count nor Anita Peabody. It's about their first son, Our Count, a big outstanding chestnut who looks so much like his daddy that in a couple of years even the shrewdest judges of thoroughbred flesh may not be able to say which is which.

Reigh Count and his son, Our Count, stood side by side out at the Hertz Leona farm yesterday for the first time. Our Count had returned from a summer and fall in Kentucky where blue grass and water from the limestone country in the noted cradle of the thoroughbred were the main dishes on the menu at every meal.

Resemblance Is Remarkable.

The resemblance was remarkable. Our Count, in color, shape, and size, looked like a chip off the old block.

Their heads and necks are almost exactly the same. Their withers and shoulders look alike and some of the horsemen who compared them yesterday said Our Count had more perfect and powerful withers and shoulders than his illustrious daddy.

Both have the same sloping rump which indicates an ability to run fast and over a great distance of ground. Their front and straight hind legs are shaped alike and the back ankles on each have similar white markings. When Our Count quits growing he possibly will stand slightly higher than Reigh Count and may be a trifle longer.

On looks Our Count has passed the test. In his sleek coat of chestnut he looks better than Reigh Count. It might have been the case of a perfectly groomed young fellow outdoing the old man as far as personal dress and appearance is concerned. Our Count paid little attention to Reigh Count, but Reigh Count could hardly keep his eyes off the son, it being the first time they had ever been brought together.

He's Still Untried.

But good looks do not mean so much when a struggle on the race track starts. Reigh Count could run fast and far. Our Count may be able to do it, but he has not been tried for his running ability. Being in Kentucky, he missed the trials of the yearlings from Leona farm more than a month ago.

He was on C. C. Van Meter's farm in Kentucky at the time, thriving in the climate and on blue grass. "He looks like he can run," Van Meter wrote when he shipped Our Count back to Leona farm a few days ago. Van Meter is a good judge of horses. He seldom compliments a young horse that much. Until next spring when he gets his first running tests under fire very little will be known of Our Count's running ability.

VIRTANEN, FINN TRACK STAR, TO COMPETE IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 30.—Lauri Virtanen, Finnish long distance runner, will compete on American tracks this winter. Virtanen today announced that he has accepted an invitation from the Amateur Athletic union of the United States to visit America for the indoor track season.

MICHIGAN STILL IN DARK ABOUT GAME ON COAST

Sentiment of Faculty Group Evenly Divided.

Michigan's participation in the Rose Bowl football game against the University of Southern California on Jan. 2 still awaited official approval last night, although athletic officials of virtually every Western conference school favored granting permission to the Wolverines to make the trip to the coast.

Opposition, however, has developed among members of the faculty committee of the Big Ten, who have the final voice in the matter, and the outcome of their deliberations at their meeting in Chicago Saturday is still conjectural.

Prof. Thomas French of Ohio State, chairman of the faculty committee, said he had received letters from several conference universities bearing on the subject unofficially and that sentiment was evenly divided. Arguments in favor of Michigan's participation in the Tournament of Roses are much stronger than those in behalf of Northwestern's going last year, he admitted.

Never Asked Vote—Yost.

"We have never asked for a vote on the question of waiving the Big Ten rule against post season games," Fielding H. Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan, told THE TRIBUNE last night. "We haven't tried to find out where the faculty representatives stand and have taken no steps toward obtaining permission for participation in the Rose Bowl game.

"I don't suppose anything will be done about it until the meeting on Saturday," Prof. French said. "Michigan will not bring it up even then, and if anything is done about waiving the rule the movement will have to be initiated by someone else."

ALUMNI HOPES SOAR.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Alumni of the Big Ten conference in the far west took heart today in their efforts to gain permission for Michigan to play Southern California in the Rose tournament game at Pasadena, Jan. 2.

Optimistic reports on the possible action of faculty representatives of the Big Ten schools in favor of lifting the post-season game ban largely were responsible for the growing feeling that they will see the unbeaten Wolverines in action on the west coast.

Hanley Favors Game.

Dick Hanley, coach of Northwestern, in a telegram to Dr. Herbert H. Deighton, president of the Los Angeles alumni chapter of that school, corrected an opinion that he opposed permitting Michigan to participate in the game.

"I have not opposed Michigan being granted permission to go to the coast," wired Hanley. "I would like very much to see the conference faculty committee permit Michigan to play in the Rose bowl game. This would open the way for further conference teams to make the same trip."

In the meantime Southern California athletic officials marked time, awaiting Big Ten action before they tendered any sort of invitation to a possible opponent. Colgate and Pittsburgh stand next in line if Michigan cannot make the trip.

DECLINES GAME DEC. 17.

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Graduate Manager of Athletics William A. Reid today declined an invitation for Colgate to play a Pacific coast team in Los Angeles Dec. 17, under auspices of the Salvation Army. In declining the invitation Mr. Reid expressed reluctance, but said the unsettled status of the Rose bowl conflict influenced the decision.

HUFF PACKS TRIP.

Campaign, Ill., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Athletic Director George Huff of the University of Illinois today said he personally favored granting permission to Michigan to play in the New Year's day game in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

"This matter is entirely in the hands of the faculty board and the directors have nothing to do with it," Director Huff said. "However, I personally favor granting permission.

"I am in sympathy with a rule against post season games in general, but in the case of the New Year's day game, it seems to me that a permanent exception of some kind could be made to permit participation by a Big Ten team. Since the game is played during the holidays it would not interfere with university studies.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Babe Herman, whimsical, eccentric, and slugging National league outfielder, will do his colorful stuff in behalf of the Cubs next season. President William Veeck announced the big boy's purchase last night. Four players and a "bale of cash" were involved in the transaction.

Herman, in addition to being a slashing hitter who loves a short right field screen such as the one at Wrigley field, has just enough balminess to his personality to make him beloved of the bleacher bugs and a character of interest to all fans. Always rated a great hitter, the fear constantly was felt that eventually he would meet his end by being hit on the head by a fly ball. During the last two years, however, he has practiced diligently in the fielding department until his defensive work now is rated as efficient.

Moore, Hemsley Sent Away.

To bring the California Babe to the north side the Cubs sent to Cincinnati Bob Smith, veteran right hand pitcher; Johnny Moore, regular Cub center fielder last year; Rollie Hemsley, brilliant young catcher who couldn't behave despite Cub encouragement, and Lance Richbourg, outfielder obtained from Boston a year ago, who spent half of the year in the International league on option. Mr. Veeck did not divulge the amount of cash, but said it might be characterized as a bale of dough.

Herman, who is 6 feet 4 inches tall, will not be 30 years old until next June. Weighing only 180 despite his great height, he is of the rangy type and has little trouble in getting into playing shape each year. He lives in Glendale, Cal., and spends most of the winter at golf, hunting, and fishing.

Hitting Is His Business.

During the ball season he thinks of nothing but hitting, though necessity made him practice at fielding. He has been the center of some of the greatest base running gems of all time in baseball. On one historic occasion two runners found themselves on third base together, only to have their embarrassment increased by Babe, who slid into the cluttered bag with dramatic do or die zeal. He also has been out on a home run out of the ball park.

Last year, where Herman was handicapped somewhat by the longest right field in the majors, he managed to slash out a batting average of .326. He made 188 hits, including 16 home runs.

Babe's best years in the majors were with Brooklyn in 1929 and 1930. In 1929 he made 217 hits for an average of .381 and the following year he made 241 hits for an average of .393 after having been above the .400 mark the greater part of the year.

Moore Bats .305.

The players who leave the Cubs are all well known, but none of the quartet ever achieved fame in the Chicago environment.

Moore was one of the three all season regulars who finished with a batting average above .300, he being tied with Manager Grimm with .305. Moore made his mark against the soft pitching, however, and was helpless against good righthanders and any kind of lefties.

Smith, who will soon be 35 years old, was something of a Cub jinx for six seasons through 1930, as a member of the Boston Braves. In 1931 he came to the Cubs and won 15 while losing 12. Last year he appeared in 34 games to pitch 119 innings, but was the pitcher of record in only seven decisions, winning four and losing three.

Hemsley became a Cub during the season of 1931, obtained in a trade with Pittsburgh for Earl Grace. Hemsley, a catcher of exceptional talents, lost standing with the Cubs because of his refusal to observe training rules. Hemsley broke into the majors with Pittsburgh in 1928 when Donie Bush, new manager of Cincinnati, was pilot of the Pirates.

Get Richbourg on Waivers.

Richbourg was picked up by the Cubs on waivers a year ago this month. He was sent to Reading-Albany in the middle of last season and recalled to the Cubs too late to be eligible for the world series.

Herman became the property of the Reds last March 14 with Infielder Wallie Gilbert and Catcher Ernesto Lombardi. The deal sent Second Baseman Tony Cuccinello, Third Baseman Joe Stripp and Catcher Clyde Sukeforth to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

KECKICH NAMED MOST VALUABLE INDIANA PLAYER

Senior Guard Nominated for Tribune Trophy.

Big Ten's Big Ten

FOLLOWING are the ten players eligible for consideration for the Tribune trophy, which goes annually to the man in the Western conference adjudged most valuable to his team:

ILLINOIS—Gil Berry, half back.
MICHIGAN — Harry Newman, quarter back.
WISCONSIN—Mickey McGuire, half back.
PURDUE—Roy Horstmann, full back.
NORTHWESTERN—Pug Rentner, half back.
CHICAGO — William Cassels, tackle.
MINNESOTA—Roy Oen, center.
IOWA—Joe Laws, full back.
INDIANA—John Keckich, guard.
OHIO STATE — Lewis Hinchman, half back.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—John Keckich, Indiana senior guard from Whiting, Ind., has been elected by his team mates as Indiana university's most valuable fooball player of the 1932 season.

After the Crimson coaches had decided unanimously that Keckich was entitled to the Balfour award for being the squad's most outstanding player, members of the team, ignorant of the honor conferred upon him by the coaching staff, voted the fighting guard the most valuable player. He is now a candidate for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's annual award to a Big Ten star, and will receive a white gold watch fob.

Rates High in Class.

Keckich, a studious youth, has won laurels in the classroom as well as on the gridiron. He is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary organization, known as the "Phi Beta Kappa fraternity" of the School of Commerce and Finance. His grades have better than a B average.

Head Coach E. C. Hayes calls him the team's most consistent player. "As a sophomore, he made the team," Coach Hayes said. "His junior year, he showed development, and this season he started every game, played hard and gave all he had every minute."

Accounts for Extra Points.

At the beginning of the season Keckich was not regarded by the coaches as the outstanding man on the team. Others showed more natural ability and promise, but as the season progressed Keckich proved his worth in critical periods and won recognition for his consistent work. When Indiana played Ohio State, it was Keckich's placekick after touchdown that enabled the Hoosiers to tie the game, 7-7. Against Ohio university, after the opponents had scored six points, Keckich blocked the attempted kick for extra point, then kicked Indiana's winning goal after Lyons scored a touchdown.

Weighing 188 pounds, Keckich was one of the lightest linemen on the Indiana team, but what he lacked in weight, he made up in aggressiveness.

Little 19 to Weigh Section Plan Today

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—The proposed division of the Little 19 conference into four groups according to geographical location will be discussed in Chicago at the conference meeting tomorrow.

Fred H. Young of Bloomington, originator of the divisional plan, supplemented his idea today by advocating a rotating schedule.

His recommendation to the conference tomorrow will suggest that the first conference game scheduled for each college become the second game the following season. Thus the last game on the schedule would be the first game the following year.

Young's reorganization plan would divide the Little 19 into the following groups:

NORTHERN—Wheaton, De Kalb Normal, North Central, St. Viator, Lake Forest, and Elmhurst.

CENTRAL—Illinois Wesleyan, State Normal, Bradley, Eureka, and Millikin.

WESTERN—Knox, Monmouth, Augustana, Carthage, Macomb Normal.

SOUTHERN—Carbondale Normal, Illinois college, Shurtleff, Charleston Normal, McKendree.

Winners of the various divisions would meet to determine the championship of each sport. Under this arrangement virtually every school would be able to play its natural rivals, a real champion could be determined, and each school would save in traveling expenses.

The competition also would create a greater desire to attend the smaller colleges in Illinois. The agitation between the normal colleges and denominational members of the conference also would cease, since the state endowed colleges have indicated they are willing to forego their alleged advantage of winter and spring enrollment if the divisional plan is accepted.

MOORE NAMED CAPTAIN OF IOWA ELEVEN FOR 1933

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Tom Moore of Waterloo, 182 pound tackle and guard, was elected captain of the 1933 University of Iowa football team tonight at a banquet given by President and Mrs. Walter A. Jessup.

Moore, who is 20 years old, is a junior, and has one season of competition remaining. He has won two letters in football, and one as a shotputter on the track team.

The captain elect has better than a "B" average in the college of commerce and has been one of the most consistent players on this year's team. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

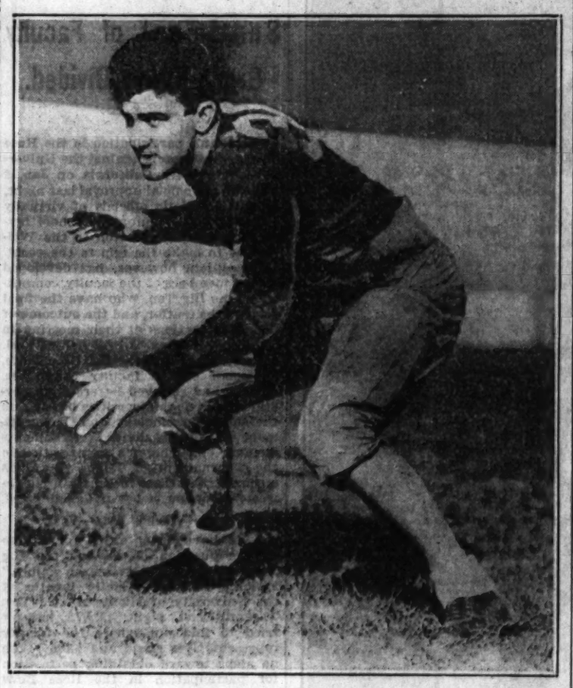
UNANIMOUS CHOICE



Indiana football players and coaches are agreed about the worth of John Keckich, senior guard from Whiting, Ind. Players elected Keckich the most valuable man on the squad, making him eligible for the Tribune trophy. Coaches voted him the Balfour award, which goes to the most outstanding player at Indiana each year.

Partridge or Pheasant? It's Easy to Tell!

BY BOB BECKER.

Is the pheasant of Missouri and Illinois the same bird as the partridge "such as is found in the woods of Wisconsin?"

Apparently there are many hunters who haven't settled this question, judging from the comment of T. L. Tinsley of Chicago. His letter follows:

"I do not recall having seen in your column any reference to the difference, if any, between the partridge, such as is found in the woods of Wisconsin, and the pheasant of Missouri and Illinois. I have heard the matter discussed among hunters who professed to know, some contending that there is a difference, and that they are different species. I have had only limited experience shooting in the states named, but I am of the opinion that they are the same species."

Species Are Different.

Although there is a possibility for confusion in the names pheasant and partridge since the ruffed grouse sometimes is called pheasant in the south, there is no doubt that Mr. Tinsley is referring to two entirely different game birds. They are different species and it is surprising that the two are confused.

The partridge "of the woods of the Wisconsin" is the ruffed grouse, bonas umbellus. It is found over much of north temperate North America and is an American game bird. The ruffed grouse is about 16 or 17 inches long. The prevailing color of the upper parts, is rufous brown with a mixture of black gray, white and buff tints. The ruffed grouse is the famed game bird of the timber noted for its drumming in the spring when the males are courting their mates. The ruffed grouse is a member of the family which includes the ptarmigan, the various grouse of the United States and Canada, and the prairie chicken.

Pheasant Not Native American.

The pheasant referred to by Mr. Tinsley must be the game bird also known as the ringneck. In other words, it is the introduced, gaudy game bird which represents a cross between two species. It is not native to America.

All the pheasant family, phasianidae, of which there are about 100 species, are found from the eastern borders of the Mediterranean through central and southern Asia. Even the so-called English pheasant is a native of Asia Minor, whence it was introduced into Europe and possibly by the Romans into England.

Therefore, the ringneck pheasant is a long way from the partridge of the Wisconsin woods in relationship.

Ross to Take Vacation in California

Barney Ross, west side lightweight boxer, will leave for Murietta, Cal., Monday where he will rest for two weeks. Ross will be accompanied by Art Winch, his co-manager and trainer. From Murietta Ross will go to Sopers' ranch on the outskirts of Los Angeles for another two weeks. A match between Ross and Bobby Pacho, California state 135 pound champion, is being arranged at Los Angeles for Jan. 10.

It was reported yesterday that Andy Callahan, New England lightweight and welterweight champion, has agreed to face King Tut of Minneapolis, Minn., at Boston Dec. 19. Callahan was suspended until Jan. 18 by the Massachusetts state boxing commission for refusing to meet Tut at Boston Nov. 18, claiming an injury. Tut, who had the cast removed from his right hand yesterday after 17 days, has started drills at the Arcade gymnasium.

Four bouts are being arranged to support the six round windup between Bob Groshek, Gary, Ind., middleweight, and Joe Mendoza of the south side next Tuesday at the Community Recreation center. Billy Gladstone and Roosevelt Haines meet in one bout. Other contests bring together Mickey O'Shea and Jack Ripp, and Al De Rose and Carl Scalese.

PACKERS FORCED TO MAKE LONG RUN FOR DRILL

Columbus, O., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Green Bay Packers of the National Professional Football league, as a team, made one of the longest runs of the season today—from one practice gridiron to another.

The Central High school field they have used for several days in their training for next Sunday's game with Portsmouth was denied them by school officials, who asserted that continued use would be a "bad precedent."

The Packers "downed the ball" at Catholic High school field several blocks away.

MAKING BUBBLES WINS BY A NECK FOR 2D STRAIGHT

Beats Indicative in Drive Down Stretch.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Making Bubbles, the gelded son of Bubbling Over, which races for Mrs. A. Burkett, made it two in a row at Jefferson Park today and returned $12.80 for $2 to his backers. On the opening day of the meeting Making Bubbles ran in front for much of the way to score by a length and a half. A neck was his margin of victory today, and he was just able to get up at the end of the six furlongs to win.

Indicative gained the place by two lengths from Full Up, the favorite. Over a fast track the winner was timed in 1:12 2-5 for the six furlongs under 111 pounds. A strong ride by Jockey A. Beck played a large part in the result, as Indicative had a two lengths lead in the stretch and appeared to be the winner.

When the break came the backers of the favorite saw their choice go to the front, but he was closely followed by Indicative, which was the second choice. Indicative, under 108 pounds, was giving Full Up five pounds, but he raced him into defeat and continued on alone.

The longest priced winner of the day was the Blue Star stable's Grand Union, which won by three lengths in the fourth race with Willie Garner in the saddle. The mutuel payoff was $38.20 for $2, and Grand Union was coupled in the mutuel field with Skidmore. The early leader was My Hobby, which hung on well enough to save the place from Kelso. Eight others trailed with Donate, the choice, ninth to finish.

MICHIGAN GRADS PLAN FOOTBALL VICTORY DINNER

Chicago alumni of the University of Michigan will hold a victory banquet tomorrow night in the Victoria room of the Palmer house. Because of the possibility of Michigan's competing in the Rose Bowl tournament at Pasadena, an unusually large attendance is expected.

Among the players who will appear is Harry Newman, whose field goal gave Michigan a 3 to 0 victory over Minnesota and the Big Ten championship. Newman recently was voted the most valuable player on the squad by his teammates and is a candidate for THE TRIBUNE'S silver football trophy.

Austin Panthers' Eleven to Hold Annual Banquet

The Austin Panthers will hold their second annual banquet at L. Follette park, Laramie avenue and Hirsch street, tonight. Dave Bancroft Will Manage Millers in '33

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Dave Bancroft, at one time one of the leading shortstops in the major leagues and former manager of the Boston Braves, today signed a one year contract to pilot the championship Minneapolis club of the American association. The announcement was made by President Mike Kelley of the Millers.

Bancroft, a free agent since he left the New York Giants as coach last summer, succeeds Donie Bush, who resigned after one year with the Millers to manage the Cincinnati Reds. The new Miller manager played in four world series, in 1915 with the Philadelphia Phillies and with the New York Giants in 1921, 1922, and 1923.

He's a Wisconsin Merchant.

Bancroft piloted the Boston Braves from 1924 to 1927. Later he went to the New York Giants as coach, but he resigned when Bill Terry was appointed to succeed John McGraw as manager of the Giants. After his resignation Bancroft returned to his home in Superior, Wis., where he owns a bootery.

Raised in the northwest, Bancroft broke into organized baseball in the old Northern league. Later he entered the majors, signing with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1915. He remained with the Phillies until 1920 when he went to the New York Giants for Art Fletcher and Carl Hubbell.

Highest Paid Manager.

A ten year man in 1923, Bancroft sold himself to the Brooklyn Dodgers for $30,000. He played and coached with the Brooklyn team for two seasons, then returned to the Giants. Bancroft was in the major leagues 14 years and his lifetime batting average is .277.

Bancroft will find two of his former teammates on the Minneapolis team. They are Rube Benton and Rosy Ryan who played with him on the New York Giant championship teams.

President Kelley declined to announce the salary Bancroft will receive, but it was reported that he will be the highest paid manager in the minor leagues.

BUSINESS MEN OF 55TH STREET HONOR STAGG

Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten conference athletic commissioner, praised Coach A. A. Stagg at the 55th Street Business Men's association ninth annual dinner for the University of Chicago football team last night at the Shoreland hotel. Other speakers included Captain Elect Pete Zimmer and Don Birney, who captained this year's squad.

"One trait that I have admired in Stagg is his courage," Maj. Griffith said. "I have never heard him offer any alibis for losing games or lamenting his lack of material."

Stagg again said he would continue in the coaching field despite his release as coach of the Maroon squad. The veteran coach was presented with a leather coaching coat, a gift from the team, by Al Summers, half back. Summers also gave Stagg a maroon leather jacket, a gift from Mrs. Stagg, who was unable to appear because of an attack of influenza.

The Senn heavyweight squad will not start the 1932-'33 campaign until Dec. 7 against Marshall. The Hyde Park quintets started the season yesterday, defeating a pair of teams composed of members of the 1932 football team. The heavyweights won, 44 to 6, and the ponies, 32 to 12.

Downers Grove will be represented by a veteran squad in the West Suburban league. Among the regulars are Clyde Rigsbee, Walter Oestmann, Tom Slaneo, Roy Nelson, Jim Reninger, Ed Lukes, Ed Wissman, and Ray Denny. New players include Lewis Britten, Wilbur Littleford, Floyd Steib, Ben Groves, and Jack Kidwell.

Two players, Marvin Colin, guard, and Ted Weinhouse, forward, will play their third season with Roosevelt this year.

A double header between Hammond Tech and Lew Wallace will open the season in the Gary district tomorrow night. The lightweight game will start at 7:15 o'clock.

Harmon Meigs, Evanston's star football player, is a center candidate for the basketball team.

Sycamore will be Joliet's first opponent of the season on the Joliet court Dec. 9. Joliet starts its Big Six conference schedule at Elgin on Dec. 16. Joliet is the defending heavyweight champion.

Injuries, Flu Stop 3 Players at Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's injury jinx and influenza were back today to keep three Irish players out of practice. However, all are expected to be in condition for the Southern California game Dec. 10.

Jack Robinson, 200 pound center, was in the infirmary tonight with a mild attack of flu. The star sophomore will rejoin the squad by Friday.

Norm Greeney, varsity left guard, and Hugh Devore, shock troop right end who caught a pass for touchdown and intercepted an Army pass last Saturday, were unable to scrimmage because of injuries.

"The worst thing about these injuries," said Coach Hunk Anderson, "is that they keep these fellows out of scrimmage and they won't know their assignments even if they're in the best of shape by the time of the game."

Asked what he thought of his team's chances Anderson said, "It's impossible to get a team to the peak we reached against Army more than once a season. It's just a question of how close we can stay to that peak. Maybe the newspapers will beat us again like they did at Pittsburgh, but I think our players have learned a lesson."

RATES NOTRE DAME HIGHLY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 30.—(AP)—University of Southern California's special Notre Dame football investigator returned today with a report that Notre Dame has a "little stronger team" than in 1931. The two teams meet here Dec. 10.

"Notre Dame has plenty of individual brilliance," said Aubrey Devine, who scouts the South Bend aggregation year in and year out. "What the team seemed to lack until it hit Army was an enthusiastic spark, but that was touched off in the Cadet game.

Smarter Offense This Year.

"I would say Hunk Anderson's squad has a smarter offense than before." He thumbed through a fat notebook of diagrams and added: "The team has a great collection of plays. In almost every game I scouted the opposition used a different defense, but the ramblers seemed to have the right combination of formations to fit the situation.

"Koken and Lukats have helped the Ramblers forget Schwartz. The former lacks the power of Schwartz, but certainly has more speed. Lukats is some twenty pounds heavier than Koken, but also is fast.

Coach Howard Jones started his team out on defensive work against Notre Dame plays this afternoon.

INSTRUCT JURY TO FIND FOR HICKEY IN SUIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 30.—The jury in Circuit court hearing the $25,000 damage suit filed by Jim Murray, former minor league umpire, against President Thomas J. Hickey of the American association was instructed by Judge Otto H. Breidenbach late today to return a verdict in favor of Hickey. Murray charged Hickey prevented him from obtaining employment.

Judge Breidenbach's order followed a charge made by Murray that George Belden, former president of the Minneapolis club, tried to bribe him in 1927. Belden was alleged to have told Murray to give all decisions to the home club.

"I put him out of my room when he tried to bribe me," Murray said.

Murray testified that Hickey prevented him from officiating in games for three years. He said he was dismissed from the Three Eye league by President L. J. Wiley without explanation.

M'NAMARA AND DEMPSEY LEAD N. Y. BIKE RACE

New York, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—The six day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden swung past its half way mark tonight with twelve teams surviving of the original field of 15. At midnight, McNamara and Dempsey held the lead with one lap over the field.

Five spills, involving seven riders of the 24 still on the track, contributed to the night's excitement. Paul Croley, teamed with Charley Winter, twice crashed to the track flat, once in a clash of handlebars with Winter which stretched both flat on the boards. The accident occurred at 11:05, just as the race was resumed following an interruption of 35 minutes occasioned when Audy tumbled at 10:30.

Harry Horan was the first to go down and shortly after this Croley crashed. This was followed by a crack up in which McNamara, Dempsey, and Ewald Wissel, one of the German riders, were the victims.

U. S. G. A. Puts Up Herbert Jaques for Presidency

New York, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Herbert Jaques of Boston, former Harvard track star, has been nominated for the presidency of the United States Golf association for 1933, succeeding the late Robert M. Cutting of Chicago, who was previously nominated for the post.

Announcement of the choice of Mr. Jaques was made by H. H. Ramsay, present head of the U. S. G. A., today upon receipt of word from Melvin A. Traylor, chairman of the nominating committee.

The sudden death of Mr. Cutting shortly following his elevation to the loftiest position the game has to bestow made it necessary for the nominating committee to make a few other revisions in the original ticket, Prescott S. Bush, secretary of the association for several years, taking Mr. Jaques' place as one of the vice presidents.

The vacancy in the executive committee occasioned by Mr. Cutting's death has been filled by the appointment of Livingston Platt, present general counsel, as a member of that body.

NAVY OFFENSIVE SHOWS POWER AGAINST B TEAM

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Running and passing plays were executed smoothly and for substantial gains this afternoon while the Naval academy football team worked against squad B in the next to the last practice here in preparation for the game against Army at Franklin field, Philadelphia, Saturday.

All the regulars and principal substitutes took part in the drill. There was little indication that any of the backs were below par physically. Campbell, whose condition has been worrying the coaches, undoubtedly will start at full back and may be able to play most of the game.

No time has been given this week to surprise plays for the Army. Attention has been concentrated on perfecting the running and passing attack used during the year. There may be some variation, both as to details of plays and participants, when the team meets Army, however. It is hoped by coaches that the thorough drilling given reserves will make it possible to use adequate substitutes for every position when necessary.

While Chung-Hoon, left half, generally is regarded as the chief menace to the Army, the Navy has other running threats in Borries, right half, and Clark, who alternates with Chung-Hoon. Borries, on the varsity for his first season, is a deceptive runner and a dangerous handler of passes. Clark is not as fast as Chung-Hoon, but drives harder, and may be used as much as the Hawaiian. Clark also is the best punter on the squad and has improved upon past performances in practice this week.

ARMY DRILLS RIGOROUSLY

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 30.—[Special.]—Activity increased in the Army football camp today as the cadets continued preparations for the Navy game.

All three of the Army's gridirons were thronged with players who worked until darkness set in. Tonight at supper, a rally was held in the mess hall.

The varsity went through a quarter of an hour of defensive drill against Navy plays with a patched up lineup.

Vidal Is Only Cripple.

Fields, Kopcesak, Kilday, and Lincoln, who went to the hospital after the clash with Notre Dame, all are back. Vidal is now the only varsity cripple. Kopcsak and Lincoln reported off the hospital list today. Maj. Ralph Sasse, fearing to aggravate their injuries, used them only sparingly. Whether Vidal will be available for Saturday's game is problematical.

Trio Takes Light Workout.

Burlingame and Kenerick were also used on the flanks and Elliott relieved MacWilliams at quarter back after a brief time. Fields, Kopcsak, Kilday and Lincoln did only light work.

KIECKHEFER WINS TWO CUE MATCHES FROM THURNBLAD

Augie Kieckhefer, world's three cushion billiard champion, won both the afternoon and evening matches in his 400 point match with Arthur Thurnblad yesterday at Kieckhefer's recreation room, 20 East Randolph street.

Kieckhefer took the opening contest, 50 to 40, in a thirty-five inning game. He turned in a high run of 10 while the best Thurnblad could get was 6. In the evening game Kieckhefer barely nosed out Thurnblad, 50 to 47, in forty-eight innings. Both had a high run of eight.

Two blocks will be played today, one at 3 p. m. and the other at 8 p. m.

When Paul Thompson Meets Tiny, There's a Hockey War

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Paul Thompson, currently leading scorer of the Blackhawks, and one of the most energetic men in the Chicago outfit, is one of the veterans of big league hockey in the United States, though now only 26 years old. He turned pro to go into New York with the Rangers in the season of 1926-27, and is one of the few players to stick in the big show continuously without professional minor league seasoning.

Paul is a brother of Tiny Thompson, one of the greatest goalies in the business. Tiny came up to the National league two years after Paul and since his arrival the pair, only children of their Irish parents, have constantly ranked as stars.

Gets One Goal Past Tiny Every Year.

Though Paul and Tiny are partners in the wheat farming business up near their home city, Calgary, the challenge is on whenever they meet on a hockey rink. So far the upholstered brother, Tiny, seems to have accomplished more with his pads than Paul has with his stick. Ever since both have been playing in the National league Paul has made one goal and one only per season past his kin's shins. He may break up this unique consistency this year, however, for he whanged one past Tiny a week ago tonight and has five more games in which to lift the total.

Incidentally, last year's Thompson vs. Thompson goal, in the last game between the Hawks and Bruins, was the one which beat the Bruins.

Thompson is a student of the dramatic in hockey and is sold on the idea that a team can be keyed to play over its head if the right psychological aspects are called forth. He recites as the most exciting demonstration of inspired play the third game in the world championship series of 1927-28.

Rangers Get Their Biggest Thrill.

Because the circus was playing in Madison Square Garden, New York, that year, all the playoffs were staged in Montreal, where the crowds were none too friendly toward the invading Rangers from south of the international line.

"It was in the first period of the third game of the playoff that the way was paved for what all Rangers present still declare was their greatest thrill in hockey," said Paul in recalling the biggest wallop he ever got out of the game.

"The game scarcely had started when Chabot, then the Rangers' goalie, was injured and had to be carried from the rink. We had no substitute goalie, but Lester Patrick, then as now manager of the Rangers, saw Goalie Joe Miller in the stands and asked Montreal permission to play him in the emergency.

"Montreal refused permission, so Patrick, then 42 and long out of competition, put on the pads. Our gray headed boss did a pretty good job of goal tending, but he also saw his hirelings playing like crazy men in front of him.

"The outcome was just as the story books would have it. We won the game and carried on to the world championship, though Patrick wasn't obliged to play any more after that one big frenzied appearance."

Thompson came to Chicago in the deal which sent Art Somers and Vic Desjardin to the Rangers.

Mr. and Mrs. Moody Leave Paris for United States

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody and her husband left for New York today after a lengthy stay in Paris.

GIANT PASSES PERIL TO BEARS AND VICE VERSA

The Bears, with their influenza stricken players showing steady improvement, have hopes of being at full strength for the game at Wrigley field Sunday with the New York Giants.

The Bears won a decisive victory over the Giants in New York. Since then, however, the Giants have improved, and recently they handed the Green Bay Packers their only defeat of the season.

Pack Plenty of Beef.

The Giants, coached by Steve Owen, are a mature club, only three of the squad being fresh from college, and the average age is 27. Weight, too, is much in evidence, as only three players scale under 190 pounds. The average is 202 pounds.

Red Cagle is the chief ball carrier. The former West Point star is enjoying the best season of his pro career. Hap Moran and Tiny Feather are other backs who are dangerous.

However, the big worry of the Bears is the eastern passing attack. McBride to Flaherty is the chief combination, but if Flaherty is too closely covered McBride has Campbell and Badgro to throw to.

Depend on Doehring.

The Bears have Doehring, who in a month has taken a place as one of the greatest passers in the league, as their main threat, and Johnson and Hewitt are the equal of anybody the Giants can muster as receivers.

Women are taking the management up on the offer of free tickets, and it is estimated that at least 15,000 of them will be on hand at the kickoff at 2 o'clock.

SAVOLDI SIGNED FOR BOUT DEC. 12 WITH CLINKSTOCK

Joe Savoldi and Jim Clinkstock have been matched in the windup of a five bout wrestling show to be presented by Promoter Doc Krone the night of Dec. 12 at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue.

Savoldi, fromer Notre Dame football player, Tuesday scored a victory over John Katan.

Clinkstock is one of the toughest trial horses in the game and will have a weight advantage of more than 30 pounds over Savoldi.

NORTHCOTT AND OLIVER LEAD HOCKEY SCORES

Montreal Maroons Top Point Makers.

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—The Montreal Maroons continue to dominate the point making in the Canadian division of the National Hockey league, according to averages issued tonight by the offices of President Frank Calder.

Lawrence [Baldy] Northcott, left winger of the Maroons, leads the entire league in actual goals scored, with seven to his credit, but he is tied on a points compilation by the veteran, Harry Oliver of the Boston Bruins. Oliver has three goals and four assists.

Five of the first eight scorers in the Canadian division are Maroon players. Northcott leads, but Lionel Conacher, defense star, is second on the list with six points, via two goals and four assists. Dave Trottier, left winger, Glenn Brydson and Paul Haynes are in a tie-up of players who have amassed five points each.

Two defense players figure among the leading point makers, Brydge, the American rear guard, being close to Conacher.

The winning stride of the Boston Bruins in their own section is emphasized by the presence of Harry Oliver and Martin Barry in first and second places, with only a point between them. Art Somers, center ice player of the Rangers' second line, is tied with Barry.

Eddie Shore, robust Boston defense player, leads the entire league in penalties, having served 23 minutes. Scoring records including last Sunday's games:

Hollywood, Cal.—Joel McCrea, youthful talking picture star, whose performance in Radio Picture's feature, "Bird of Paradise," was a nation-wide sensation, attended an advance showing here today of the new Dodge Six car.

"Since this great car hasn't yet made its public appearance," said the popular young actor, "I suppose I can say I was among those present when the new Dodge Six was born.

"Let me say that it's a pretty husky baby. It's about the prettiest one you've ever seen. This big new Dodge Six is a new kind of car, with a new kind of smart, sporty good looks.

"It has a personality all its own. In beauty, in comfort, in performance, in luxury, and in features, it will blaze a new trail so dazzling that others will have a hard time following."

No official details concerning the new Dodge Six car have as yet been made by the Dodge organization. It is evident, however, that the new

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 30.—While foreign bonds were rallying with the improvement in sterling exchange, domestic issues for the most part dipped on unfavorable business news.

As sterling gained strength foreign bonds gradually reversed their recent downward trend. British obligations featured the rise, especially British 5½s, which rose about a point during the course of trading. Australians and Canadians also were prominent in the advance.

In the domestic list, prices broke badly in many instances, chiefly in speculative grades. The slight firmness evident yesterday melted quickly beneath the weight of fresh offering, and prices resumed the down trend which has continued during the greater part of November.

Speculative Utilities Hit.

Most important of the day's trade news was the report on electric power output, as a result of which some of the speculative utility bonds were under pressure. The downward trend of steel production is continuing, according to Iron Age. Moreover, there is some danger of year-end liquidation, though on a scale smaller than in previous years.

Heading the decline in the carrier list were such bonds as B. & O. first 4s, due 1948, and 4½s, due 1960; Rock Island 4½s, issues of Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Texas & Pacific 5s, Pennsylvania debenture 4½s, and others.

Others Give Ground.

High grade rail and utility bonds also gave ground beneath the wave of selling. United States government bonds were quiet and almost unchanged.

The lower trend in high grade utilities was prominent in such issues as American Telephone debenture 5s, Brooklyn Union Gas 5s, Consolidated Gas of New York 4½s, Detroit Edison 5s, and others.

With announcement of United States government financing expected to be made early next week, there was no change of opinion on the street as to the probability of issues due in less than five years.

BIG UTILITY IS TARGET OF SUIT IN BANKRUPTCY

Cent. Public Service Corp. Assailed.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed late yesterday in the federal district court against the Central Public Service corporation, utility holding company, which once controlled assets of approximately $360,000,000.

A. E. PEIRCE.

The action was brought on behalf of three debenture holders of the company who charge that they and other debenture holders were defrauded in connection with the reorganization of the company last August. Each of the petitioning creditors owns one of the company's $1,000 debentures.

In the reorganization control of the company shifted from the Central Public Service company to the Central Public Utility company, a newly organized Delaware corporation.

Properties Transferred.

Certain southern properties of Central Public Service corporation were transferred to another newly formed company, the Consolidated Electric and Gas corporation. The latter is also controlled by Central Public Utility corporation. In return for the southern properties which it gave up the company received stock and other considerations.

Central Public Service now controls only a fraction of the assets it formerly had. Its chief holdings are operating properties in the northwestern states.

The bankruptcy petition alleges that the conveyance of part of the company assets to other corporations was effected "with the intent to delay, hinder and defraud" the petitioning creditors and other debenture holders.

The specifice transactions which the bill alleges were acts of bankruptcy were the transfer of $20,000,000 of properties to the Consolidated Electric and Gas and the transfer of $1,116,000 of Ohio Valley Railway bonds to the Central Public Utility corporation.

Charges Company Insolvent.

The petition seeks the appointment of a receiver on the grounds that the company is insolvent. The petitioning creditors are L. J. Miller, R. T. Tucker and W. A. Swiggart, all of Chicago. The bill was drawn and filed by Attorneys Michael Gesas and Archie Schimberg.

Interest on debentures has not been defaulted and it was recently announced that 55 per cent of the security holders of the company had deposited their holdings under the reorganization plan. Officials of the company could not be reached last night. A. E. Peirce is president of the company. Mr. Peirce and W. H. Wildes, executive vice president, were both out of the city.

The reorganization plan became effective on Aug. 1. Announcement of the change, however, was not made until Aug. 22. The program was described by officials as a "voluntary adjustment." The program was designed to enable the company to meet maturities on its funded debt.

MIDDLE WEST RECEIVERS GET TIME EXTENSION

Federal Judge George A. Carpenter yesterday extended to Dec. 31 the time for filing by the receivers of the Middle West Utilities company of an answer to a petition for bankruptcy, brought in federal court last April. The receivers, Edward N. Hurley and Charles A. McCulloch, are still negotiating with the Reconstruction Finance corporation, it was learned, for a $21,000,000 loan with which to recapture collateral pledged with New York banks by the National Electric Power company, eastern holding company for Middle West. If the loan is granted, Middle West will be able to regain control of National Electric Power, in which Middle West had a $40,000,000 equity.

Freight Rates Held Barrier to Corn Export

BY SCRUTATOR.

What does it profit the Illinois farmer to raise a bumper corn crop if he is unable to sell the surplus? The question is raised by H. I. Baldwin, head of a Decatur grain elevator, in connection with reports that Germany and other European countries are preparing to buy many million bushels of corn either from the United States or Argentina.

But Mr. Baldwin asserts railroad freight rates are so high that American farmers cannot successfully compete with South Americans in the export trade and that water transportation, which offers lower rates, will not be available during the winter. On the other hand the railroad insist they cannot grant lower rates, pointing to their depleted earnings and financial troubles.

Freight More than Price.

Illinois corn growers point out corn is shipped to Atlantic ports for export in carload lots. The freight rate from Decatur to Baltimore is quoted at 32½ cents per 100 pounds.

"This means that if a farmer took 100 bushels of corn to an elevator he would receive about $12 for it at the present market," Mr. Baldwin says. "But if the corn were shipped to Baltimore at present freight rates for export the cost of transportation on the 100 bushels would be about $18. The freight in this case would be one and a half times as much as the farmer received for his grain at the elevator."

Rates South Also High.

Freight rates to southern ports also range upward to a point twice as high as the price the farmer receives for corn. Some corn is being exported from Illinois, but most of it is being shipped by water routes to gulf ports or by the great lakes to Atlantic ports. But these movements, while affording cheaper rates, are handicapped by larger handling charges and delays.

"We feel that if export rates soon were reduced to the level prevailing before the war," Mr. Baldwin says, "the surplus corn could be moved out of the country before the Argentina crop is ready for market. If five or ten million bushels of American corn could be exported it would result in a healthier demand for what remains in this country. We believe the grain grower is entitled to lower transportation costs, which would mean higher prices for his grain."

Lower Rates Refused.

About a fortnight ago the Grain and Feed Dealers' National association sought to obtain from the railroads a 50 per cent reduction in export rates to Atlantic ports. The railroad presidents declined to make such a reduction on the ground that it would mean actual loss, although Mr. Baldwin contends that many railroad men feel that grain export rates should be reduced.

"The present rate structure is the result of long years of effort on the part of the railroads to make rates proportional to the gulf and to the Atlantic," he comments. "In addition to being hampered by the interstate commerce commission regarding rates the railroad men have a fear that the whole structure of proportional rates might crumble as soon as a start toward reduction was made. Moreover the railroads also are hampered in taking action by the regulation of wages that they must pay."

DIVIDEND ACTION ON BURLINGTON SHARES DELAYED

Directors of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, after a meeting yesterday, announced that another session would be held later in the year at which action on the capital stock dividend would be held.

The stock, owned jointly by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads, has been paying $3 semi-annually.

Colorado and Southern railroad directors yesterday omitted the $4 annual dividend on the second preferred stock. The payment on the first preferred was passed some time ago, so that action on the junior stock was regarded as only a formality.

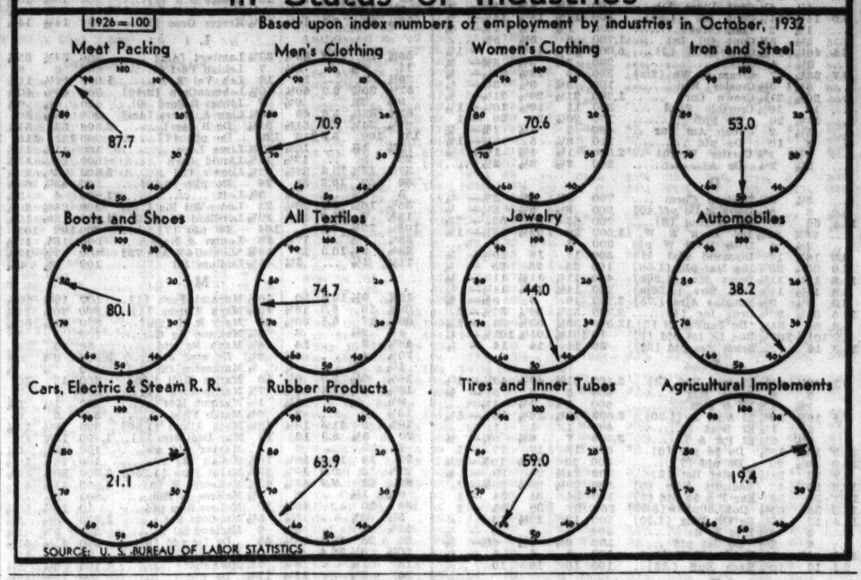
Government Report Reveals Wide Variation in Status of Industries



Sterling Gains 5 Cents; British Shorts Cover

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 30.—Short-covering in London before the opening of the New York market shot the pound sterling up about 5 cents today, resulting in an overnight gain of the same amount here which was maintained with little variation through the day.

The closing price of the pound in New York was $3.20½, a net gain of 4⅞ cents. The range for the day, from $3.20⅝ to $3.19¼ combined with the continued small volume of trading indicated that the local market was merely echoing the changes that had taken place abroad and that the bulk of the short covering had been done in London rather than here.

The improvement of the pound did little for the European gold standard currencies, which continued to languish in the neighborhood of their recent lows. The franc was unchanged at 3.90⅞ cents as were the guilder at 40.19 cents and the belga at 13.85 cents, while the Swiss franc rose ¼ point to 19.22¾ cents.

Scandinavian currencies rose 10 to 20 points with sterling, the Japanese yen gained ⅛ point, and the Canadian dollar improved to a discount of 14¾ per cent against 15⅞ per cent Tuesday. Marks were up a point to 23.77 cents and lire were still weak at 5.07¼, off ⅛ point.

Among the gold shipments reported today by the federal reserve bank of New York was an import of $1,140,000 from England which came in on the Empress of Britain consigned to the Guaranty Trust company. The metal, like other recent gold imports from England, was purchased in the London market out of supplies coming from India or South Africa.

PERSIAN MOVIES OPEN FREE IN CELEBRATION OF OIL CANCELLATION

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

TEHERAN, Persia, Nov. 30.—Motion picture houses were open free today in honor of the annulment of the Anglo-Persian company's concession as last night's festivities were spoiled by a snowstorm.

All is quiet at Abadan, the location of the company's refinery, and at the oil fields work is proceeding normally. The Persian government has taken no further action and the shah has arranged to go to Mazanderan to attend the Turcoman race meeting on Dec. 6.

There is a widely spread rumor here to the effect that the Persian government's action was inspired by the British government to open an easy path for making radical changes in the Anglo-Persian company's concession.

BROKERS REPORT SHARP DECLINE IN TAX SELLING

New York, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Leading brokerage wire houses reported today that tax selling so far this year has been relatively light.

Under the 1932 revenue act, losses on stocks purchased during the taxable year may be deducted in computing income taxes to an amount equivalent only to the extent of gains established in other security transactions. There have been comparatively few such gains, brokers state, so far this year.

Stocks which have been held for more than two years fall, however, in a different category. Under the law such holdings constitute "capital assets." These may be sold and a capital net loss deducted.

Inland Steel Co. Resumes Work with Four Furnaces

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Inland Steel company has resumed operation of four open hearth furnaces at its Indiana Harbor plant after a shut down of a week. The hearths will supply steel for the company's 40 inch and strip mills. The coke plant and two blast furnaces also have been put in operation. An order for 3,500 tons of rail is now being filled.

Copper Parley Near Deadlock on Output Curb

New York, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The outcome of the present agreement among copper producers to hold output of the metal at 20 per cent of production capacity appeared today to hang in balance as the international conference of producers held its second session.

Delegates said a temporary stalemate on a 1933 production agreement had been reached, which probably would not be broken before the expected arrival here next week of Arthur D. Storke, managing director of Roan Antelope company. Storke is now in London.

Two snags were encountered in the conference today. One centered about curtailment of output. The other was a suggestion that American copper men abandon the European market in favor of foreign producers. This suggestion was advanced on the theory that the new 4 cent American tariff had barred foreign producers from this market.

It was reported that the Roan Antelope management would refuse to participate in the deliberations unless other producers would increase its quota from the 1932 production limit of 23,379 short tons to 41,600 tons.

STOCKS IGNORE BULLISH NEWS; BREAK $1 TO $3

Volume Increases as Prices Drop.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 30.—Waving aside such bullish factors as a sharp rebound in sterling exchange and a fresh display of strength in wheat the stock market took a header today into new low ground for the decline which got under way after the election three weeks ago. Heavy selling came into most of the industrial favorites and prices were driven down 1 to more than 3 points.

A discouraging feature of the decline was the sharp increase in volume. Sales amounted to around 1,100,000 shares, or more than double the total of yesterday.

Though the market gave some evidence of scattered commission house liquidation a large proportion of the selling orders were ascribed to renewed activities of professional bear operators. The bears have been showing signs of increasing courage ever since the retrograde movement got under way and have been hammering at some of the more vulnerable trading mediums with growing emphasis for the last week or so.

Resistance Level Broken.

During the four sessions preceding today's the THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S index of fifty representative stocks had been hovering around 54, which represents approximately the half way level between the July lows and the peak prices attained by the late summer advance, but enough support has always appeared to hold the averages above the so-called "resistance" level.

A mass attack on the leaders was instrumental in breaking the line in the early dealings today, however, and thereafter prices gave way without much resistance. At times some of the more mobile selling targets were down as much as 4 and 5 points. The selling subsided in some measure toward the close, but final prices as a rule were only fractionally above the lows of the day.

Leaders Sell Off.

Among the heavier losers were: American Can, off 2½; Uniond Pacific, down 3¼; United States Steel, 1¼; American Tobacco B, 4⅝; International Business Machine, 5⅜; Safeway Stores, 3; Delaware and Hudson, 2⅞; Coca Cola, 2¼; Case, 2½; and New York and Harlem railway, 3¼ points.

The slump came as a surprise to most traders. Word of the early rebound in sterling was interpreted as an indication that Great Britain was preparing to meet her war debt obligations on Dec. 15 without further ado was popularly regarded as a real boost for the market, and constructive forces were anticipating something of a rally. Instead, heavy selling came pouring in at the very out-

Home Bank in Evanston Still Waits on U. S.

BY AL CHASE.

Despite the statement by Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the federal home loan bank board, published in yesterday's papers, that ten of the twelve home loan banks are now ready to make loans, the Evanston Home Loan bank [one of the ten mentioned as being ready] is still waiting for an official O. K. by Washington on forty building and loan associations which have subscribed to stock in the bank.

A. R. GARDNER. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

According to A. R. Gardner, manager of the Evanston institution, which will loan funds throughout Illinois and Wisconsin, about 200 institutions have subscribed for stock through the local branch. Of these, forty have been thoroughly investigated and their names sent to the federal home loan bank board at Washington, D. C., for approval.

A wait Washington O. K.

"These have been sent to Washington at the rate of from eight to ten daily," said Mr. Gardner. "We expect to begin receiving these back from Washington with an official O. K. within a few days and then we'll at once be in a position to make actual loans. The funds are now available."

Meanwhile letters continue to pour into the Evanston Home Loan bank at 2544 West Railroad avenue, Evanston, from thousands of people, asking for and about loans. Application blanks are forwarded to them to fill out. When these are received by the home loan bank the plan has been to at once refer the applicant to the nearest building and loan association which owns stock in the home loan bank, suggesting that he apply for funds through it.

No One to Refer To.

Unfortunately, however, the Evanston Home Loan bank has no such institutions to which to refer. It still is waiting for Washington to approve of the names of building and loan associations sent to the federal board.

All of the investigating has been done at Evanston, it is pointed out. The only thing Washington has to do is put a perfunctory O. K. on the papers, but as things move extremely slowly when tied up with red tape the Evanston bank still is waiting. And so are several thousands of applicants for funds.

Shell Oil Employes to Work 40 Hour Week on Same Pay

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Employes of all divisional sales offices of the Shell Petroleum corporation will work 40 hours a week instead of 44 under a "share the work" plan announced today at the company's general offices here. No pay reduction is contemplated. The plan, which affects 3,100 employes, is designed to prevent further unemployment.

R. F. C. MAKES FIVE LOANS TO INCREASE JOBS

Columbia, Ill., Loans for Waterworks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—Five self-liquidating construction projects in four states, including Illinois, today received loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation totaling more than two million dollars.

The corporation agreed to purchase $52,000 worth of five per cent bonds of the city of Columbia, Ill., to finance improvements in the city's water supply system. It was estimated that an average of ninety men will be employed on the project for three months, while nearly twice that many will find work indirectly, due to the demand for materials needed in the work.

The improvements, according to the corporation, consist of construction of a booster pumping station and the laying of about five miles of pipe line.

Loan for Bridge.

Largest of the five loans announced by the corporation today was one of $1,700,000 to the Richmond Bridge corporation, Richmond, Va., to aid in financing construction of a bridge across the James river at Richmond and in repairing three existing bridges across Shockoe creek near the Virginia capitol. The loan will be made through the corporation's purchase of 5½ per cent bonds of the company.

The three other loans granted today by the corporation were as follows: $305,000 to the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., for extensions in the city sewage system; $78,000 to the town of Valdese, N. C., for a new sewer system; and $10,000 to the town of Blackstone, Va., for extensions in the city's water works.

The day's total in the exact amount of $2,145,500, brought the amount thus far authorized by the corporation for self-liquidating projects to $139,395,000. Of this amount, $102,000,000 or 73 per cent was granted to two projects in California—the Los Angeles Boulder dam aqueduct and the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge.

Only Ten States Lack Loans.

Thus far only ten states have received neither self-liquidating project loans or relief advances from the federal loan agency, according to a checkup of the corporation's operations. Sixteen states, including Illinois, have received both self-liquidating and relief loans, while nineteen have secured relief advances but have not obtained funds for construction. Three states have been granted self-liquidating loans but no relief funds.

Illinois, the records showed, has been the heaviest borrower of relief money, having obtained a total of $25,238,228 in five separate loans. To date the corporation has advanced relief loans in aggregate amount of $76,777,306, of which 32.8 per cent has gone to Illinois.

CORN AND OATS DROP SHARPLY IN CHICAGO PITS

WHEAT PRICES IN GOLD

Wheat prices in gold, computed from rates of exchange prevailing at the time they closed, follow:

	Wednesday.	Tuesday.
Chicago, Dec.	42¼c	41⅞c
Winnipeg, Dec.	37¾c	37⅝c
Liverpool, Dec.	48⅞c	49¼c
Do, No. 2 Manitoba.	53¼c	52⅞c
Rotterdam, Jan.	45¼c	45c
Buenos Aires, Feb.	38⅜c	38¼c

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Belated liquidations came into the corn and oats pits in the last few minutes of trading yesterday and sent both grains down rapidly. December corn dropped 1⅝c from Tuesday's finish to 21⅝c, and all deliveries sold at a new low for the season. December oats touched 14¾c, off ⅝c from the close of the previous day, and sold at the lowest level ever known for any delivery on the local exchange.

At the last corn was the only major grain that had not established new all time record low prices in the last few weeks, and the December future of the former came within 1⅛c of the inside figure of 19½c, which was witnessed in 1896.

There was not the pressure on wheat so much in evidence of late and that grain averaged higher, although there was further liquidation by longs in the December delivery.

Corn Breaks Sharply.

The corn market showed an easy undertone from the start and longs in the December were persistent sellers. However, the offerings of the former were absorbed by cash interests who in turn sold the May. However, practically all brokers in the pit had orders to sell the December at a certain price or "at the close" and the execution of a large number of the latter was responsible for the drastic decline which occurred in the closing minutes of trading.

December corn closed at the bottom, with a net loss of 1½@1⅝c at 21⅜@21⅝c per bu. This figure suggested a price of around 6¾c for new No. 4 grades to the farmer in central Iowa, and somewhat above that figure in Illinois. At the last the December was 6¾c under the May, the widest discount in years. The distant futures finished ¼@⅜c lower, with May at 27⅝@27¾c, and July, 29⅜@29⅝c.

News Not A Factor.

There was nothing in the news to account for the decline in corn, but pit brokers claimed there were many speculators who had been long on the nearby future due to the relatively low price and sold out their holdings rather than pay for the liberal amount of cash grain which was expected to be delivered Thursday. Country offerings of cash corn to arrive were limited, and the shipping demand was slow. No export business was reported. In the last few days December corn declined almost 4c per bu, and the trade believed that liquidation had been practically completed.

More aggressive buying was in evidence in wheat than for some time past. There was steady liquidation by longs in the December cash, and milling interests were good buyers of that future and sold May, changing over hedges. At one time there was a bulge of around 1c from Tuesday's finish, but this was largely lost later on selling induced by weakness in stocks. Final trades were unchanged to ¼c higher, the latter on July. December finished at 42@42⅛c, May at 46⅝@46⅞c, and July 47⅝@47⅞c.

Affected by Sterling.

Strength in sterling exchange had some effect on sentiment and induced fair commission house buying of the deferred futures. While Liverpool prices in English money were ⅝@1⅛d per cental lower, the actual prices on a gold basis were unchanged to ⅛c per bu lower. This showed in a rather startling manner the handicap under which the world's trade is laboring in an effort to do business. Winnipeg wheat was ⅛@⅜c lower on the blackboard, but the December gained ⅜c on a gold basis. Buenos Aires was unchanged to ¼c higher.

Marked activity was in evidence in export circles, and it was estimated around 1,000,000 bu Manitobas had been sold for abroad during the day, with a little hard winter presumably sold to Greece. Heavy purchases of new Australian wheat were reported as having been made by English millers.

Winter Wheat Needs Moisture.

A decidedly bullish construction was placed upon the Santa Fé railway monthly report on the outlook for winter wheat in parts of Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, and Oklahoma. The crop is off to a poor start over a wide area, with moisture badly needed, while the acreage has been considerably reduced.

R. O. Cromwell, the Lamson Brothers & Co. expert, expressed the belief that, all things considered, the condition of the southwestern wheat crop was about 15 per cent under that of last year. He claimed Kansas had a prospective yield of 70,000,000 bu, with a fairly favorable spring. The 1932 harvest was 91,000,000 bu, while in 1931 the crop was 240,000,000 bu.

Liquidation developed in oats at the start and continued until the close, when the lowest levels of the season were established. Net losses were ⅛@⅜c, with December leading. The latter closed at 14¼@14⅝c, while May was 17@17⅛c. Rye was ⅝c lower to ⅞c higher, the latter on July. December was 28½c at the close, with May 32c and July 33⅜c. Barley closed unchanged with May at 32⅞c.
